RUSSIAN LEADER SUICIDE; STALIN JAILS HUNDREDS

Thousands Kicked Out of Red Party.

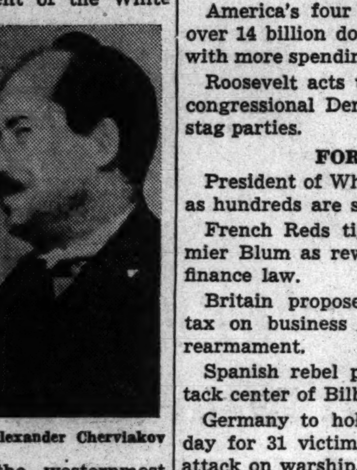
MOSCOW, June 16.—(AP)—The suicide of the president of the White Russian Soviet republic, hundreds of arrests, and the removal of hundreds of thousands from communist party rolls were announced by the government today as the greatest political purge in Soviet Russia's history went forward.



Alexander Cherviakov

The government said Alexander G. Cherviakov, 45 years old, the head of the westernmost of the soviet union's republics, killed himself for family reasons. But his death closely followed his denunciation as a plotter in a communist party meeting, the arrest of 45 of his colleagues for treason and the execution of the former commander of the White Russian garrison.

A Salem Witch Hunt.

The continued denunciation of thousands of men, including many who have stood near the very top of the state and party organization, gave the Soviet union the appearance of being engaged in a gigantic, nation wide "Salem witch hunt."

Foreign observers still were bewildered by the storm of charges and the scope and ruthlessness of the purge. Most of them, however, were agreed that the charges were evidence of chaotic dissension within the soviet régime and showed that many persons desired, if they were not actually plotting, the downfall of Dictator Josef Stalin.

Leaders Seized at Minsk.

At Minsk, capital of White Russia, N. M. Goloded, premier of the White Russian council of commissars, ten former commissars of the state and numerous members of the state central executive committee were arrested on charges of participating in the plot.

Goloded was removed from office recently, charged with guilty knowledge of a widespread conspiracy which the government said was "organized by Trotzkyist diversionists and wreckers."

At a meeting of the communist party at Minsk last week it was charged the collective farms in White Russia were hotbeds of Polish espionage.

Party leaders declared that "wreckers" in the commissariats of agriculture and education, with the connivance of M. I. Kalmanovitch, recently removed as all-union commissar for state farms, had brought about destruction of live stock and crops.

Claim Scientist Was Hired.

It was charged they even persuaded a scientist in the veterinary institute to inoculate blooded live stock with cholera germs.

Gen. I. P. Uborevitch, former commander of the Red army garrison in White Russia, was one of eight high army officers executed June 12 for a plot to "dismember" the soviet union. It was understood the eight were charged with plotting to sever White Russia and the Ukraine from the union and give them to Germany.

Cherviakov's was the second suicide of a high Russian official this month. Gen. Jan Gamarnik, former vice commissar of defense, killed himself June 1. The government said he acted after being exposed as a traitor to the nation.

Leaders in Revolution.

Cherviakov, a native of White Russia, took a leading part in the Russian revolution from the outset, joined the communist party in 1917 and led in establishment of the bolshevist régime in White Russia. He had been president there since 1924. He was also a member of the all-union central executive committee of the communist party, highest authority of the dominant element in the union.

The party itself is going through a

Johnstown's Mayor Pleads for Peace.

Johnstown, Pa., June 16.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was asked today to intercede with Labor Dictator John L. Lewis in an attempt to discourage him against "un-Americanisms" such as kidnaping and other violence attending the steel war here.

Mayor Daniel J. Shields of Johnstown appealed to the President to use his influence to "remove the murderous element that now infests the city."

The mayor's attempt to use Mr. Roosevelt as an intermediary in reaching the "strong man" was prompted by the addition of a kidnaping and a dynamite bombing to the numerous disorders that have occurred in the five day strike at the Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel company.

Further violence followed Mayor Shields' appeal when pickets attacked a workman on his way into the plant tonight. In the brawl, two pickets were stabbed. One, unidentified, was taken to a hospital so severely wounded that he could not talk. Twenty-four stitches were required to close a wound near his heart. The other man, John Babik, was less seriously wounded.

Text of Message.

"I earnestly appeal to John L. Lewis through you as our President," Shields telegraphed the chief executive, "to withdraw the murderous element that now infests my city.

"The situation has grown so bad that the strikers have resorted to the most dastardly crime in our nation today—that of kidnaping.

"Will you not please save our homes by discouraging Mr. John L. Lewis against such un-Americanisms?"

White House officials announced receipt of the telegram in Washington, D. C., and said it would be placed before the President.

An appeal for federal intervention in the seven state labor strife that has made 100,000 men idle also came from Phillip Murray, head of the C. I. O. steel union. He arranged to meet Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins tomorrow to discuss his proposal of an election on employé representation.

Appeals to Gov. Earle.

In addition to his request for presidential aid, Mayor Shields asked Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania for relief from "John L. Lewisism." He telegraphed the governor:

"Are our citizens to be the victims of political connivance in the part of John L. Lewis and other hidden interests?"

The kidnaping referred to by the mayor occurred this morning. A man giving the name of James M. Hess, who was identified by police as a worker in the steel mills, was the victim. He reported he was seized by six men, stripped of his clothing in their automobile and then thrown out of the car.

The mayor said a $5,000 reward will be offered for the arrest and conviction of the six men.

Residents Terrified.

Scores of terror stricken residents of the vicinity tumbled from their beds and poured into the streets.

More than 200 steel helmeted state police, some mounted, patroled entrances to the Bethlehem's seven mile long plant. The downtown and residential districts near the mills were guarded by some 700 officers. This force included special policemen and

Little TVA for Wisconsin Gets O.K. of Senate

Madison, Wis., June 16.—[Special.]—The highly controversial "little TVA" bill, probably the most radical proposal ever laid before a Wisconsin legislature, was passed by the senate today at the end of a six hour fight by the close vote of 17 to 15. Although an identical bill has been passed by the house, the assembly must concur on the senate bill, or vice versa, to complete enactment.

The bill, which opponents labeled "a dangerous beginning of state socialism," would set up a Wisconsin development authority to encourage and promote the creation of municipal power districts and rural electric coöperatives.

As indicated by the bitter three months' legislative battle that followed its introduction, the measure precipitated one of the most turbulent senate sessions in recent years when it was called for a vote.

Senators Flee Chamber.

During the battle ten opposition senators twice fled from the chamber in a last desperate effort to halt final action. They left first after a futile effort to have the proposal laid over for a week, and again when efforts to have action indefinitly postponed failed.

Both times the senators returned voluntarily. But their second reappearance did not come until the sergeant-at-arms force, armed with subpenas, ordered by an angry Progressive bloc, had searched the city and vicinity for several hours in an unsuccessful effort to round them up.

On the passage vote the solid Progressive group had the support of two senators outside their bloc but whom they had long counted on. They were Phil Nelson, Maple Republican, and Arthur L. Zimny, Milwaukee Democrat.

See Early Concurrence.

Early concurrence in one of the measures by both houses is regarded as certain. The identical bills were prepared in the office of Gov. Phil La Follette. One was transported to the house by Andrew J. Biemiller of Milwaukee and the other to the senate by Roland E. Kannenberg of Wausau.

Opponents had charged the proposal to establish such an authority in Wisconsin was La Follette's "payoff" to the Socialists for sacrificing their party identity and joining the Farmer-Labor Progressive federation.

The bills authorize the WDA to go into the power business by purchase or construction, to borrow money and issue certificates, and to acquire real estate and personal property. It would be financed by an annual appropriation of $60,000.

'LOST' CHILD NOT LOST, BUT PARENTS' SCARE HOLDS UP NORMANDIE

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—The mighty Normandie's departure for Europe was delayed seventeen minutes today by a girl in pigtails.

Little Guitta Drimer, 9, of Coney Island got lost in the liner's labyrinth of cabins and companionways during a seeing-off party and the vessel couldn't budge till she was found. When she got separated from her parents she simply walked down the gangplank and waited until the party joined her on the pier.

But meantime the Drimers were wringing their hands, ship's attendants were scurrying frantically from stateroom to stateroom and from deck to deck, and Guitta's name was being shouted over the public address system.

"She's often talked about stowaways," her father said, "and I thought she'd decided to stow away on the Normandie!"

d'Orsay Palmer Weds 2 Days After Divorce

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chester Warren, who announced on Tuesday the engagement of their daughter, Miss Pauline Winslow Warren, to Potter d'Orsay Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Honoré Palmer of this city and Chicago, this evening announced the marriage.

The ceremony was performed in St. John's Lutheran church at Mamaroneck, N. Y., by the pastor, the Rev. Theodore O. Posselt Jr., in the presence of the parents of the couple, other members of the families and a few friends.

Brother Is Best Man.

Honoré Palmer Jr. was best man for his brother. Princess Natadine de Lucinge, who just arrived from Europe, was matron of honor.

After the ceremony the wedding party returned to New York for a small dinner at River House, the Palmer home.

The bride attended the Fermat school and made her society debut in the winter of 1933-'34 at a dinner-dance given by her parents at the St. Regis hotel.

Grandson of Social Arbiter.

Mr. Palmer attended St. Mark's school and later lived in Paris. He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer Sr. of Chicago. He has been married twice before.

In 1928 he wed Miss Eleanor Goldsmith of Sarasota, Fla. They were divorced the following year. In July, 1930, in Paris, he married Miss Maria Martinez de Hoz, daughter of M. and Mme. Marcisco Martinez de Hoz of Argentina and Paris. This latter marriage was ended by divorce on Monday in Chicago, she receiving a settlement of $475,000 out of court.

Frackville, Pa., June 16.—[Special.]—Astonished householders of this little mining town went out with brooms and swept bullfrogs off their open porches after a thunderstorm today. The tiny frogs sounded like the thudding of hailstones as they dropped by hundreds on tin roofs.

Fields Must Pay Physician $12,000 Fee

Riverside, Cal., June 16.—(AP)—W. C. Fields, big nosed screen comedian, must pay Dr. Jesse Citron, small town physician, $12,000 for medical services, Superior Court Judge O. K. Morton ruled today.

Judge Morton held that Dr. Citron's fee of $12,000 for twenty-five days' treatment when Fields was critically ill in a Riverside hospital last year was reasonable. He also denied the actor's demand for $25,000 damages on the claim the physician administered a narcotic that impeded recovery.

"I never have felt that a doctor or lawyer in a small community is entitled to less compensation than one in a large city," Judge Morton said in his verdict.

Impressed by Results.

"I have always been impressed by results more than theory. Mr. Fields is alive and well, and the results here seem more important than the theories advanced concerning the treatment.

"Much personal enmity entered this case which was immaterial to the main issues. The picture here presented and not denied causes me to feel that Mr. Fields was surrounded by a group of very nervous people. The doctor has stated that it was necessary to ward them off and keep them out of the room. Dr. Citron appears to be a cool, methodical type of person. I feel it was well that he stayed constantly with Mr. Fields."

Fields Tells Income.

Fields, on the stand about ten minutes, denied he ever told Dr. Citron he had an accumulated surplus of $700,000 in banks and that he discussed money matters at all.

"What was your income in 1935?" his attorney asked.

"$57,678.31," Fields replied.

"And your net income for 1936?"

"$82,238.93."

Under cross-examination, Fields said he did not know how much he had in banks in June, 1936.

Offers to Tell Judge.

"Can I tell that to you alone?" Fields asked Judge Morton.

The court ruled Fields must answer publicly.

"Well, I don't know exactly," the comic drawled. "I would say, approximately, less than $200,000."

"Did you have any stocks and bonds?"

"Stocks. Did I have stocks? Yes, indeed, and they were terrible. They jumped up and down. You pay $100 for some of them and they jump down to $60. I didn't get any dividends. They were terrible."

"Can you estimate your total wealth?" Fields was asked.

"Naw, I don't know. The only guy that can tell is the income tax collector. I worry about gags for my pictures. I let other people worry about how much money I have."

DEMOCRATS RAP SPENDING AFTER NECESSITY ENDS

Sen. Bailey Lashes Hopkins' Rule..

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 16.—[Special.]—Four years ago today President Roosevelt approved the first relief appropriation under his administration, 3 billion 300 million dollars for public works. The senate was told today that the pending relief bill, carrying 1 billion 500 million in new money for the WPA, would bring the total of relief appropriations during those four years to 14 billion 268 million dollars.

The senate was further told that despite the progress of recovery and the great improvement in the finances of municipalities whose bonds are selling at a premium, the federal government is making available more than 2½ billion dollars for relief during the 1938 fiscal year.

Called "Vested Interest."

Senator Josiah W. Bailey [D., N. C.] told the senate that the appropriation of huge sums was becoming a "vested interest" with the cement, steel and asphalt men and manufacturers generally. He assailed WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins for introducing himself as "the man who spends the money" when he went on the radio to urge support of the President's court packing bill.

"His theory is not the relief of unemployment and he'll tell you so," said Senator Bailey. "His theory is to redistribute the wealth and he's redistributing it in a hurry."

Senator Bailey said there had been "a studied effort to magnify the problem of unemployment in America" and cited figures to show that there are only 31 million families to 43 million jobs, including 10 million on the public pay rolls, or 1⅓ jobs per family.

"We can't go on making these appropriations and hope to save this republic from the bankruptcy that is inevitable if we continue this spending policy," Senator Bailey declared.

"Where Are We Going?"

Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], who was advocating an amendment to require local sponsors of WPA projects to put up 40 per cent of the cost or else make what some senators called a "pauper's oath" that they were unable to do so, told the senate that these figures presented an appalling picture.

"Where are we going?" he wanted to know.

Senator Byrnes arrived at a figure of 2 billion 400 million dollars which is being made available by the federal government for relief purposes during the next fiscal year without taking into consideration the reappropriation of unexpended balances carried in the relief bill in addition to the 1 billion 500 million in new money. Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.], manager of the bill, estimated the reappropriation at 223 million, although Senator Byrnes said that "the director of the budget, after being requested on two occasions, did not furnish the committee information that would enable us to answer the question."

Unexpended Totals Unknown.

Senator Byrnes said it was impossible for any member of the appropriations committee to ascertain the amount of unexpended funds the WPA had on hand. Senator Adams, however, held up the treasury statement of June 14 and pointed out there is still "a total of 3 billion 96 million available for expenditure out of what are denominated as funds appropriated and allocated for recovery and relief expenditures."

And yet, Senator Byrnes continued, congress is making available for relief purposes during the 1938 fiscal year 1 billion 500 million in new money for the WPA; 350 million for the CCC, still to be appropriated; 214 million in the independent offices bill for social security benefits, such as old age assistance and aid for dependent children and the blind; 36 million to be contributed to the states for the administration of unemployment compensation, and 300 million for the Public Works administration, to be realized through the sale of securities to the RFC.

Holds Emergency Is Over.

The senator defended his own record in voting the previous huge blank check appropriations to the President on the ground that an emergency existed. "Now," he said, "we may as well be frank and say that recovery has taken place, the emergency which caused us to give a lump sum to the President without ever seeking to provide how it should be expended has passed.

"The condition of the United States government is one that certainly is entitled to some consideration at the hands of the congress. What is it?

"Look at the treasury statements upon your desks this morning and you find that by reason of the generosity of this great and generous government in helping states, counties and cities the government has an indebtedness of more than 35 billion dollars. That money has been borrowed from the people of the United States. More than 17 billion dollars of it, in bonds of the United States is held by the banks of the United States.

Sees Danger of Losses.

"The situation certainly is one that demands our attention, for it does not require any higher mathematics to see that a drop of five points in the bonds held by the banks of this country would cause a loss to the banks of approximately a billion dollars.

"Investors and banks still have confidence in government, but all confidence on the part of an investor in any debtor must be based upon the ability of that debtor to balance his budget. It does not matter whether it be government, corporation, or individual; if a man forever lives beyond his income and makes no provision for the retirement of his indebtedness, his credit will go.

"If in times such as now exist in this country we cannot reduce the indebtedness incurred during the emergency—if we cannot even live within our income and pay our debts for this year—I ask the members of the congress when and how we can hope to do it in the future."

GIRL FLYER PUTS DOWN A REVOLT WITH ONE BOMB

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, June 16.—Sabiha Gueksehen Hanoum, 22 years old and an adopted daughter of President Mustapha Kemal Ataturk, today was credited with ending a revolt in the Dirsim region where 30,000 Turkish troops and a fleet of airplanes fought 5,000 Kurdish rebels for three months. Five thousand men were killed in the fighting.

The insurrection was put down when Miss Hanoum, a volunteer pilot in the Turkish flying corps, dropped a bomb on the house of Seyyid Riza, one of the insurgent leaders, killing him and several of his lieutenants.

The aviatrix received a flying medal, set with brilliants, for distinguished service. This is the highest honor for an aviator in Turkey and rarely is awarded. Russell Boardman and John Polando received the medal when they flew from New York to Istanbul in 1931.

The continuance was asked by state officials to permit further investigation into what they termed a $250,000 racket.

CHILD ON FIRE BEFORE SHE DIED, DOCTOR SWEARS

Riverhead, N. Y., June 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Helen Tiernan, on trial for her life charged with killing her child to make room for a lover, today heard a physician testify that 7 year old Helen Tiernan was alive, though unconscious, when flames seared her body in the woods outside Brookhaven.

Mrs. Tiernan, 28 years old, stylishly dressed blonde, was unmoved as Dr. Reidar Trigstad of Central Islip, testified the burns were inflicted before death resulted from injuries to the child's head and neck.

L. Barron Hill, Suffolk county district attorney, offered a swift succession of witnesses to prove she plotted to kill her two children because "they were in the way." Among those witnesses were Mrs. Tiernan's lover, George Christodulus.

ROBBED OF $278 BY GUNMEN.

Harry Herzog, 5461 Drexel avenue, owner of a department store at 948 East 55th street, was robbed of $278 yesterday by two gunmen when he got out of his automobile in front of his mother's home at 5492 University avenue.

TOWNSHIPS TOLD OF RELIEF SAVING BY STATE SURVEY

Sixty Pct. of Load Lifted by IERC in One Place.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Township supervisors were urged yesterday to invite an impartial checkup of families on their relief rolls, following the disclosure that 60 per cent of the relief load was eliminated in one township after a survey by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission. John O. Rees, director of the Citizens' Committee on Public Expenditures, declared that such examinations should be made every few months in localities that do not have adequate supervisory forces.

"Since last July, when relief was transferred to local governments, an outside survey has been made in only one of the 1,400 townships in Illinois," Mr. Rees said. "The results of this survey, in Charleston township in Coles county, indicate the possibility of great savings if others follow suit."

Expenditures Limited.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars would be saved the taxpayers each month if findings in other townships were similar to those in Charleston. Under the relief laws enacted a year ago the townships must limit relief administrative expenses to 5 per cent of total expenditures. In most cases this means that the township supervisor cannot employ help.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission made the survey in Charleston township at the request of the supervisor and without cost to the township. Because of its limited duties under the law the IERC would not have done so without invitation.

William F. Propper, president of the Cook County Supervisors' association, who has charge of relief in Thornton township, expressed himself in favor of the proposal.

"If there's any chance of saving money by it, let the IERC come in and review our cases," Mr. Propper said. "It can't do any harm. We have nothing to hide. We have three investigators—we don't call them case workers—for 650 families.

Otto Ziebell, supervisor of Bremen township, with 395 relief families, said that he would like to have a closer check made than is possible with only one full time and one part time worker.

In Oak Park the supervisor, Harry L. Judd, said two case workers attempt to interview 157 families every month and that an IERC survey would be unnecessary. But he admitted his administrative expenses run up to about 13 per cent.

Objects to Checkup.

Dr. Edward F. Hay, supervisor of Bloom township, said emphatically that he did not want an outside check made. With six case workers employed to watch 645 families he said he knew his cases.

Claiming that he and his wife know their 120 relief families pretty well, Charles G. Schwartz, supervisor of Calumet township, said he would not request a free survey by the IERC.

Peter A. Mirkes, a grocer in Lemont, is supervisor of the township of the same name. He also expressed opposition to an outside survey.

ENDS LIFE IN PURGE

Moscow yesterday announced the suicide of the president of White Russia, westernmost of the soviet republics (indicated by arrow). Hundreds were arrested as traitors to Josef Stalin's dictatorship while hundreds of thousands were dropped from the rolls of the communist party in a new purge.

purge more drastic than any previous cleansing in its history.

In the city of Ordjonikidze in the Caucasus 5,362 members have been removed from the party rolls. Thousands have been dropped in the Ukraine, where the purge is particularly intense. The same is true at Rostov, where more than thirty party officials are under arrest.

More thousands have been expelled from the party in the far east, where already ninety-four persons have been executed for treason and "wrecking" in recent weeks and scores more arrested charged with being enemies of the people.

Famine Threatens Russia.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, June 16.—The internal complications of the Russian government steadily are growing more acute. The latest trouble is the delayed sowing of spring grain, sugar beets and other crops. This again has created the threat of famine.

The newspaper Izvestia, organ of the Russian central executive committee, and other papers today began a campaign against alleged Japanese and German "spy wreckers." They are accused of bringing German plant diseases into Russia to ruin the crops.

It was announced that an agent of a foreign power entered Russia by way of Leningrad under the auspices of Intourist, Russian official travel agency, and was discovered to have had in his possession a package of boll weevil. The worms were destined to destroy the cotton crop, it was alleged. What happened to the spy was not mentioned.

Judge Seized as Speeder Gets New Idea of Cops

Municipal Judge J. M. Braude was arrested yesterday by Berwyn police on a charge of speeding 60 miles an hour in the suburb. "If I ever sit in Trafic court again," protested Judge Braude, "this is going to make it very difficult for me to believe police officers in speeding cases. I'm going to be suspicious of their testimony." Judge Braude asserted he was driving only 40 or 45 miles an hour. "Why, I never even passed any cars," he explained. Lieut. Albert Marshall in charge of the Berwyn police, refused to comment on the judge's arrest.

Prepare for Drive Against Business Interests.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 16.—Premier Leon Blum's Popular Front government is more firmly in the grips of the communist party of France than ever.

That was the clear conclusion drawn by observers today following the night long debate which foreshadowed the most serious government crisis since the world war. It ended at dawn with the communists doing one of their customary about faces and finally saving Blum's cabinet by joining in the chamber of deputies' vote [346 to 247] of "full powers" to save France from bankruptcy.

The authority for Blum to handle the financial crisis by decree, however, still faces formidable opposition before Joseph Caillaux's conservative senate finance committee tomorrow, but it is believed Blum can expect a small majority.

Puts France Far Along Road.

The situation offers no banal cabinet crisis such as is common in France. It is bound to have far reaching consequences, the chief of which is to put France—already passably well socialized—well along the road toward collectivization. Only today, for instance, many parliamentarians were noticing how vague is the text of the law they voted and what uses Blum can make of it, especially when harassed by the communists.

The latter have played a diabolically astute game and again shown themselves the cleverest political manipulators in France.

By their action in finally supporting Blum they have so arranged things that no matter what is the turn of events they stand to win. For one thing, Blum is already committed to laying a heavy hand on the insurance companies, a measure which has been a communist hobby for years.

Blum's words about the government being the master of French property wherever it may be foreshadows drastic measures to punish timorous capitalists who have sent capital abroad, and thus the communists claim credit for forcing Blum to genuine "soak the rich" measures.

Seek Another Wage Boost.

Further, to palliate the bad impression of higher prices for ordinary necessities like postage, railway transportation, tobacco and gasoline, they have made Blum commit himself to forcing another wage boost on French industry.

If another compulsory wage increase produces havoc in French industry and leads to unemployment, the communists still will win, since they are ready to profit by any disorder, especially disorder they themselves create.

In any event France faces the prospect of becoming, shortly, the most expensive country in the world. Bread already costs more than 10 cents a pound and gasoline soon will cost about 70 cents in American money per gallon.

What puzzled observers today is what bargain Blum made with the communists regarding foreign affairs. In last night's debate they openly attacked Alexis Leger, permanent chief of the foreign office and real director of France's foreign policy.

May Secure Aid for Madrid.

Leger, it has been well known, has bent his efforts to keep France from becoming entangled in the Spanish civil war. It is possible that the communists demanded his head, or that Blum somehow promised them to change the policy regarding Spain, with France helping the Spanish loyalists openly.

It is more likely, however, that they inveigled Blum into some commitment regarding converting the Franco-Russian pact into a definite military alliance. If the French communists take orders from Moscow, as they are accused of doing, such a measure would be the most likely desire of Moscow, which is anxious to bolster its prestige.

The bridegroom, who is 28 years old and a graduate of the University of Illinois, is employed in the publicity office of American Airlines in Boston, Mass. His wife, a stewardess for the last three years, has flown 350,000 miles. She is 25 years old, and a graduate of the Cook County School for Nurses.

15 FASCIST FOES OF FRANCO GIVEN DEATH SENTENCES

ST. JEAN-DE-LUZ, France, June 16.—(AP)—Diplomatic dispatches from Spanish rebel territory tonight reported that Manuel Hedilla, former chief of the Fascist party, had been sentenced to death for conspiracy against Gen. Francisco Franco.

Eighty lesser chiefs of the party were tried by courtmartial at the same time, it was reported, and fourteen sentenced to death, twenty to life imprisonment at hard labor, and the remainder to be deported to Spanish Guinea. The Fascist chiefs of Salamanca, Burgos, Toledo, and the province of Vizcaya were among those condemned to death.

Hedilla took the leadership of the Fascist Falangistas after the founder of the Phalanx, José Antonio Primo de Rivera, was executed by a Spanish government firing squad Nov. 20. In April the Falangistas were merged with the Carlist and Bourbon monarchists into one party under the dictatorship of Franco.

BRITISH FACE NEW DRASTIC TAX TO PAY ARMS COSTS

5 Pct. Levy on Excess Profits Proposed.

LONDON, June 16.—(AP)—The government offered a maximum 5 per cent tax on excess profits today as a substitute for its national defense contribution program which would have taken up to 25 per cent of new profits in industry.

The national defense tax on profits, offered by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain when he was still chancellor of the exchequer, was withdrawn from the government's budget legislation after it had aroused a storm of opposition.

A government white paper outlined the substitute tax proposal, which would be imposed for a five year period retroactive to April 1.

Professions Exempted.

Business by British companies or individuals within or outside the United Kingdom would be affected. Public utilities and professions, including law and medicine, are exempted.

The rate would be 5 per cent for corporations and 4 per cent for individuals on profits exceeding $10,000 annually.

Unlike the old measure, which would have hit the "recovery" industries most heavily, the new tax will fall with equal severity upon all profits, whether they are rising or falling or remaining stationary from year to year. In this respect, it is immeasurably broader than the old and would seem to show that Chamberlain was only executing a strategic withdrawal when he abandoned his previous proposals in the face of nation-wide clamor.

Amounts to 30 Per Cent Tax.

The new tax will be superimposed upon the existing income tax of 25 per cent, and will be virtually equivalent to raising the tax rate to 30 per cent. Taxation at such a level has never been experienced by British business, except in the last year of the world war. In case of future emergency the government can raise the rate still higher.

Investment income will not be included except in cases of banks, insurance companies, and other "corporate bodies," whose business consists wholly or mainly in investment dealings or holdings.

HANGS HIMSELF AFTER QUARREL.

Despondent after a quarrel with his wife, Fred Brengenburger, 40 years old, a carpenter, hanged himself yesterday in his home at 2530 Elston avenue.

DOCTOR FINDS SNAKE VENOM RELIEVES PAIN AND AIDS DIGESTION

Boston, Mass., June 16.—(AP)—Dr. Roy Upham of New York City said today that "many thousands of women" suffering from mental disturbances as they approached middle age were being kept out of insane hospitals by the use of snake venom.

Pains from inoperable cancer, he continued, likewise were alleviated by the use of the same venom. Dr. Upham, attending the annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy, in an interview, discussed a paper on snake venom which he is to deliver.

The venom for mental disturbances, he said, was given hypodermically or by mouth. In the case of cancer, he said, the nerve endings of afflicted persons were paralyzed by the venom so they would not conduct pain.

In mental disturbances in women, he explained, the venom altered cellular activity in the body, restoring persons to normal mental condition. In men, he continued, the venom was used to cure disturbances of the digestive tract.

Colored Chicagoan Makes Grade to Enter Annapolis

Annapolis, Md., June 16.—(AP)—George J. Trivers of Chicago, colored, successfully passed the physical tests for admission to the naval academy and will be sworn in as a midshipman, it was learned today. Trivers, an appointee of Representative Arthur Mitchell [D., Ill.], is the second colored youth accepted as a midshipman in more than fifty years. None has ever been graduated. James Lee Johnson Jr., a colored youth of Washington, became a midshipman last summer, but resigned in February because of academic failures.

Frank A. Vanderlip Sr. Goes to New York Hospital

New York, June 16.—(AP)—Frank A. Vanderlip Sr., capitalist, entered the New York hospital today for what his son, Frank A. Vanderlip Jr., described as "observation following an illness in California eight months ago." Hospital authorities said his condition was "very good."

REBEL GUNS AND PLANES BATTER HEART OF BILBAO

Citizens in Flight Choke Road to Santander.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, June 16.—(AP)—A bitter aerial and artillery duel terrorized Bilbao today. Many persons were buried beneath shell wrecked homes. Thousands of panic stricken women and children fled westward along the road to Santander.

Dispatches reaching the border from Bilbao said whole houses were destroyed by twelve inch shells from rebel artillery. It was believed they were fired from German made guns. It was almost impossible to walk through the streets without hearing the screams of wounded inhabitants buried beneath the wreckage, said refugees reaching here.

Rebel warplanes droned over the city to drop bombs and warning leaflets to the frightened inhabitants. They said only "Death awaits you. [Signed] Franco."

Counterattack Beaten Back.

Basque artillery and planes launched a fierce counterattack, but this was beaten back, the rebel radio station at Durango reported. The government station at Santander announced that four of Gen. Francisco Franco's planes were shot down while they swooped over the besieged city.

French refugees reaching border points reported "all roads, paths, and trails are clogged with the thousands fleeing the invaders throughout the countryside."

Rebel air bombs cut the Santander road, forcing refugees to take detours.

Refugees asserted Basque President José Antonio Aguirre remained in the city, vowing to die there rather than surrender the capital to the rebels.

The French consul at Santander arrived at St. Jean de Luz, France, with his staf. He reported there was street fighting in Santander when he left that city. The British consul also arrived from Santander.

All available buildings in Santander were converted into shelters and turned over to refugees who fled Bilbao. Four large merchantmen and a fleet of small fishing trawlers flying the Red Cross flag took many refugees to Santander.

2,000 Escape Franco's Firing Squads by Dash to Gibraltar

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, June 16.—Two young Spaniards who are hiding here described to me today their dash in a rowboat across the bay from rebel held Algeciras last night to escape death before a Fascist firing squad.

More than 2,000 are estimated to have saved themselves in that way during the eleven months of the Spanish civil war. Many swam the five miles across the bay.

"We were warned to join the Falange [Fascist organization] within a week or die," said Juan Jimenez, a laborer, 20 years old. "We saw too many die. They were handcuffed together in front of a cemetery wall. We took a boat—fourteen of us. When we reached the sea wall here the police came. My pal and I hid."

British Avoid Friction.

British authorities try to keep the "evadidos," as the deserters are known, from talking for fear of friction with the Spanish rebels. Usually they are held incommunicado until there is a chance to ship them to Valencia, seat of the loyalist government in Spain.

The stories of the two Spaniards are typical. The population of La Linea [north of Gibraltar] and Algeciras are predominantly proloyalist at heart—90 per cent, said Jimenez.

Some 8,000 or 9,000 refugees of all sorts passed through Gibraltar, it was said, since the beginning of the war. About 2,000, it is estimated, have been young potential soldiers like these. The population is kept in hand by Falangistas and soldiers, but most of the soldiers who are not Fascists are there because they cannot get away, they say. Those who can pay bribes do not go to the front.

Reap Rewards from War.

Trafic through the strait is much heavier than in peacetime, and it is ordinary for ten or a dozen merchantmen to enter Gibraltar in a day. Many could have been sold only for junk a year ago. Now they command charters in some cases as high as $750 a day. The crews get double wages between Spanish ports such as Bilbao and Valencia. On top of that some seamen double their high wages by buying up soap and cigarets at Gibraltar and peddling them in Spanish ports.

The international control scheme is a joke, merchant seamen declare, and officers say that violations are extensive on both sides. They point out that it is virtually impossible for an observer to examine a ship thoroughly. Ships sail from French ports, for example, clearing for Mexico, Brazil, or the Red sea and then go to Spain. If it is found that they have made a false clearance the penalty is easily covered by the profits.

REBEL COLUMNS CLOSE IN

BY PEMBROKE STEPHENS.
[Special Correspondent of the London Telegraph and the Chicago Tribune.]
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DERIO, Northeast of Bilbao, June 16.—The Spanish rebel columns are closing in on Bilbao from the north and northeast, while the central columns are trying to get command of the last hills and ridges protecting the suburb of Archanda.

Operating in the northern coastal sector a mixed brigade of Italians and Spaniards pressed down from Plencia and occupied the towns of Algorta and Las Arenas, seven miles north of Bilbao on the east bank of the Nervion river. Ships now are subject to cannon, rifle and machine gun fire if they attempt to proceed to Bilbao.

The attack down the estuary leading to the Bilbao docks continues. Rebel artillery shelled the ridges before Las Arenas. The bridge over the estuary between Las Arenas and Portugalete—a gigantic affair costing $2,500,000 to build—was blown up by retreating Asturian miners when the last soldier had gotten across. The buildings of Las Arenas were burning when the rebels entered.

Resist in Central Sector.

The fiercest resistance of the Basques was being offered in the center of the Archanda sector, where they were contesting the ground inch by inch—in the numerous pine woods tree by tree.

The hill and pine wood defending Santo Domingo, near Archanda, could be taken only after the fiercest hand to hand fighting. In adjacent sectors a number of Russian tanks held up the rebel advance.

The Basques appear to be defending Bilbao very much better at the moment by rear guard actions in the pine woods, where there are no defenses but where artillery and aviation have difficulty to locate them.

It is fairly certain the Basques are not prepared seriously to defend the old town of Bilbao, on the east bank of the Nervion, but only the new town on the west bank. It was fortified with a view to the withdrawal to Santander in case of defeat.

Pour Through Broken Keystone.

WITH THE SPANISH REBELS IN GALDACANO, Southeastern Suburb of Bilbao, June 16.—(AP)—Fast cleanup squads of rebel soldiers were pouring through this key to the broken "iron ring" of Bilbao's outer defenses today and heading toward the waterworks that lie just south of the tottering capital.

Galdacano lies battered in the bright sun. Every window in the town is a gaping hole, broken by constant bombardment before the government's defending infantrymen fled, leaving just eighty-two townspeople hiding in the cellars.

This is the heart of the Basque iron belt of defense works, but its defenders could do nothing to defend it. The hills are a maze of trenches and dugouts and walls that are made of eight inches of cement, reinforced with iron rods.

Guns Point Wrong Direction.

It was wondrous to behold, this defense system, but it did not work because the rebels broke through the weaker part, miles away, and cut back in this direction. So the government men found their forts were pointing in the wrong direction. Then, when the Basques decided to move out, they moved so fast that they forgot to dynamite the bridge behind them.

So the rebel columns, moving out in every direction and right up to the doorstep of Bilbao, had no trouble in crossing the river to the far side of the Nervion valley and making their way up the west side of Bilbao.

The rebels now are busy moving into the heights on the west of Bilbao so they can dominate the city from that side, just like they now dominate it from the east. They are taking hundreds of prisoners.

GERMANY AND ITALY REJOIN NEUTRALS' SHIP PATROL AROUND SPAIN

LONDON, June 16.—(AP)—Germany and Italy today announced their return to the four-power naval patrol of Spanish waters from which they withdrew after Spanish government planes bombed warships of the two Fascist powers.

A joint communique issued by the German and Italian ambassadors said the two nations were rejoining the neutrality patrol "as a result of the agreement on Saturday, June 12, between the four powers responsible for the naval patrol."

Great Britain, in notes to the two warring elements in Spain, has asked that safety zones be established to protect foreign warships participating in the nonintervention cordon. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, told the house of commons he would continue to press for an agreement permitting the withdrawal of all foreign volunteers from Spain.

SHEET AND TUBE WILL DEFY C. I. O. AND OPEN MILLS

Yields to Pleas of 9,000 Loyal Workers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Youngstown, O., June 16.—[Special.] —The Youngstown Sheet and Tube company mills in this area will reopen in spite of the strike and pickets within a few days. This was announced here today by Frank Purnell, president of the company, in a telegram dispatched to Gov. Martin L. Davey at Columbus.

The message was sent late this afternoon. Earlier in the day Purnell received a delegation of loyal employés, who said that more than 9,000 of the company's former workers were anxious to get back to their jobs immediately and asked that operation of the mills be resumed as soon as possible.

In his telegram Purnell respectfully informed Gov. Davey that he could not accept the governor's invitation to confer personally Thursday on steel peace.

Gov. Davey received a similar message yesterday from Tom Girdler, chairman of the board of the Republic Steel corporation, who said the company would be represented by Joseph A. Voss, its director of industrial relations.

Purnell's message to the governor, which was made public shortly after it had been sent, virtually is an ultimatum that no force either political or economic can compel his company to capitulate to demands of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee and its parent group, John L. Lewis' radical Committee for Industrial Organization.

It is considered particularly significant since it follows so closely upon the heels of the statement by President Roosevelt that it is his opinion the steel producers should sign S. W. O. C. contracts. The issue of the signed contract is the only question at stake in the present strike since the companies have agreed to every other demand.

Gauntlet Thrown to C. I. O.

This message also is an open challenge to C. I. O. leaders here who have repeatedly stated that they are prepared for all eventualities and plan to halt any effort to break their strike. It is the first time that Purnell has entered actively into the fight in which the independent steel producers are locked with Lewis labor union committees.

Tonight Purnell and his general counsel, J. C. Argetsinger, refused to discuss their plans for reopening.

"We've got to be sure we can operate and that means that we've got to be assured of protection for our men and our property," Argetsinger said. "Undoubtedly, as Mr. Purnell has said, we'll reopen just as soon as we are assured of this protection."

All the law enforcing agencies in Youngstown tonight reported that they are ready now to give protection to the loyal Youngstown workers. Sherif Ralph Elser promised that workers would not be molested by pickets if the mills reopened.

Mayor Lionel Evans and his chief of police, Carl Olson, pointed out that the police force, normally consisting of about 300 men, now has been increased to 425, and new tear gas guns, gas masks, and other riot weapons have been distributed.

Assured of Ample Help.

Assurance that enough men are eager to return to work immediately to enable the Sheet and Tube company to operate its two Youngstown mills on a twenty-four hour basis was given early today in a meeting of company officers with a committee of about twenty mill workers.

Attorney Ray L. Thomas was spokesman for the group of men, some of whom wore heavy blue work shirts and brogans. Others obviously were clad in their best clothes.

"Anticipating that you would need this information," Thomas told Purnell and Argetsinger, "we have prepared signed petitions which show the names, the original signatures, the check numbers and the departments in which the men who are represented here formerly worked—more than nine thousand names."

Ask to Work Through Vacations.

Attorney Thomas said the men had two requests—that they be exempt on returning to work from the physical examinations given new employés and that they be permitted to work through their compulsory vacations, receiving both vacation pay and regular wages. Thomas pointed out that they already had lost three weeks' income.

Purnell assured them they retained their status as Sheet and Tube employés [hence exempt from examinations] and said the vacation request would receive due consideration. He told the men the June premiums on their group insurance had been paid.

LEWIS IN CHICAGO TODAY TO ROUSE C. I. O. FOLLOWERS

Strikers Will Parade from Mills to Stadium.

John L. Lewis will address his Committee for Industrial Organization followers in the Chicago Stadium tonight in an effort to revive their interest in the steel strike.

The union chief will try at the same time to counteract the back to work movement, which has gained momentum as strike activities have dwindled in the Chicago region to listless picketing.

Lewis is scheduled to speak at 8 p. m. after a motor parade of the strikers from the plants in South Chicago and Indiana Harbor to the Stadium.

Free Access to Files Refused.

Thomas J. Courtney, state's attorney, refused yesterday to give free access to the files of his incomplete investigation to representatives of the La Follette senate civil liberties committee, here to inquire into the Memorial day mob violence at the Republic steel corporation plant in South Chicago.

The files he withheld were the statements taken from the rioters and the police who were on guard when the rioters attacked. Courtney indicated, however, that he would supply the information when his own investigation is finished.

The coöperation of the police in the inquiry was praised yesterday by John J. Abt and Robert Wohlforth, heads of the senate committee investigators. They said Police Commissioner Allman had promised them copies of all orders involving the strike.

Visit Riot Scene.

In addition the investigators said, they were escorted to the place where the mob attacked the police by Captains James L. Mooney and Thomas Kilroy, who commanded the police guards, and who described the riot to them.

Charges that a noisy minority is keeping the majority of workers from working were made against C. I. O. leaders by the independent union that has been formed in opposition to the Lewis forces at the Inland Steel company plant. The union, headed by D. R. McDevitt, threatened to bring suit against the C. I. O. union leaders and members for the pay its members are losing. The independent union at the Youngstown plant meanwhile called upon municipal authorities to protect its members if they return to work.

PEORIAN SENTENCED IN OMAHA.

Omaha, Neb., June 16.—[Special.]—Chester Winslow, 25, of Peoria, Ill., apparently proud of his record of serving time in at least fifty jails and two state penitentiaries, was given five to seven years in state prison when he pleaded guilty to stealing two automobiles here.

ASKS ROOSEVELT TO CURB LEWIS IN STEEL DISORDERS

Johnstown Mayor Pleads for End of Violence.

vigilantes recruited by a citizens' committee.

The home guard officers were referred to by Clinton S. Golden, subregional director of the Steel Workers Organizing committee, affiliated with the C. I. O., as "Mayor Shields' tin horn army."

Golden placed responsibility for violence on the volunteer guards, asserting: "The only murderous element I know of is the citizens' army."

Offer Force of 25,000.

The citizens' committee has declared it could raise an army of 25,000 armed men if necessary to preserve order.

In a full page advertisment published today in Johnstown newspapers the committee said that peaceful picketing, law and order and no intimidation had been promised at the start of the strike, but the promise had not been kept.

"Lives of mothers, sisters, wives and children of men who want to work have been imperiled," the advertisment asserted. "These acts, these threats, these coercive measures are unlawful. Individual rights have been thrown aside."

Election Proposed.

Meantime, smoke rolling from mill stacks and the rumble of heavy machinery indicated operations still were going on in the steel plants. But union leaders declared confidently that the "Cambria plant never has been down as completely as it is today."

It was announced at S. W. O. C. headquarters in Pittsburgh that a proposal had been made to Bethlehem officials that an election be held at the big Cambria works to determine whether the union will represent the employés in collective bargaining.

The union said in a telegram sent to Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem, that if the C. I. O. group wins the election, the company should agree to a written contract "embodying terms mutually agreed upon in joint conference."

Nick Strada (left) and Norton Morris, arrested when police fought rioters breaking hotel windows in Kansas City strike.

Kansas City, Mo., June 16.—[Special.]—Smashed plate glass windows and effects of other damage caused during a riotous demonstration of some 2,000 hotel strikers and sympathizers were cleared away today as efforts to settle the 17 day old labor dispute were resumed.

Police said they discharged tear gas when some of the strikers appeared preparing to charge them. The clouds of gas quickly dispersed the demonstrators. Police maintained a blockade of the area after they had left.

About forty windows of the Hotels Muehlbach, Pickwick, and Baltimore were broken. The strike—involving 1,200 men and women—was called by American Federation of Labor unions to enforce demands for a closed shop in eight hotels and a club.

Reject Employers' Terms.

San Francisco, Cal., June 16.—[Special.]—The rejection by hotel strikers of the best terms employers could offer put San Francisco's long hotel workers' dispute right back where it was 46 days ago when it started.

A bruised and exhausted canary bird was found yesterday on the sidewalk of the Children's Memorial hospital, 735 Fullerton avenue. It was taken into the hospital in an exhausted condition, but the hundreds of patients there were assured that the bird will soon become strong and well. They are hoping it will turn out to be a fine singer.

TWO GEN. MOTORS STRIKES END AND 25,000 GO TO WORK

Detroit, Mich., June 16.—[Special.]—Settlement of two General Motors strikes paved the way today for the return to work of 25,000 employés, but a third settlement was complicated by strikers' refusal to terminate a sitdown and another plant was forced to shut down.

The Chevrolet grey iron foundry at Saginaw, Mich., where 5,500 had been idle since last Thursday, planned to have its night shift go back to work. Cessation of its operations threw 21,200 men out of work in related plants.

The other settlement was at Baltimore, Md., where 2,200 will return to work tomorrow in the Fisher Body and Chevrolet assembly plants.

Seven hundred strikers refused to evacuate the Fisher Body plant at Buffalo, N. Y., despite the management's announcement that a brief strike affecting 1,500 men in the Fisher and Chevrolet assembly plants had been settled.

The closing of the Ionia, Mich., branch of the Grand Rapids stamping division because of material shortages threw about 250 men out of work.

SENATOR ASKS KNAGGS TO TALK; UNION PROTESTS

Lansing, Mich., June 16.—[Special.]—A proposed visit to the state senate tomorrow by Mayor Daniel A. Knaggs of Monroe stirred threats today of a possible labor demonstration at this capitol.

Senator Elmer Porter [R., Blissfield] said he had invited Knaggs, a central figure in the organized effort which dispersed C. I. O. pickets at the Newton Steel company plant last week, to be his guest during the session and at dinner.

Porter indicated Knaggs would be asked to address the senate, a privilege accorded to distinguished visitors, if there are no objections from members. Senators Tom Burke and James Burns, Detroit Democrats, at first indicated there might be objections, but later promised they would make no protest "if Knaggs agrees not to say anything inflammatory."

COMBATS C. I. O. AS A BACK DOOR TO COMMUNISM

West Coast Labor Chief Charges Plot.

Seattle, Wash., June 16.—[Special.]—This strike torn seaport where labor disturbance has been chronic for years is now a battleground between two rival radical labor groups. Dave Beck, political labor boss of Seattle, and president of the Joint Council of Teamsters, is directing a violent attack on the C. I. O. which he charges is opening the back door for the entry of communism into the American labor movement.

Harry Bridges, who is at the head of the west coast division of the International Longshoremen's association, and who is the chief target of Beck's attacks, is striking back with charges that some of his longshoremen's locals in Seattle and Portland have been ousted by central labor councils at the direction of labor dictators.

Racketeering Election Issue.

In Seattle labor is so strongly entrenched that strikes in recent months have been jurisdictional wars between rival unions. Racketeering methods in the milk, produce, laundry, and other industries were made an issue last fall by the Law and Order league. Political control of the city is vested in a left wing, pro-labor government under Mayor John F. Dore, a Harvard graduate who is sometimes called Beck's Bad Boy.

The strongest of the labor groups is the one led by Dave Beck, power behind the throne. He is a vice president of the International Teamsters' union. Last fall in the strike which closed the Hearst owned Post-Intelligencer for 15 weeks, Beck was called the radical leader of the strikers—his teamsters joined in the picketing.

Bridges has headed the shipping strikes of recent years on the west coast and the general strike in San Francisco.

Both Beck's teamsters' unions and Bridges' longshoremen's union are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. A fortnight ago in Washington, however, Bridges, after a talk with John L. Lewis, said 20,000 members of his organization probably will shift to the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Meanwhile, with rival labor groups in jurisdictional struggle, plant owners are uncertain which to recognize. They know only that they may be picketed and branded as unfair by the other. Several years ago during a brewery strike Beck's teamsters' union was restrained by a Superior court judge, who called the situation nothing short of anarchy. During the maritime strike the methods of Bridges' followers were also criticized as disruptive.

"My objection to the C. I. O.," says Beck in his latest comment, "is to the people it has permitted to come in through the back door clothed in the respectability of the labor movement, but speaking the voice of communism. We do not subscribe to communism or to the principle that Russia is our goal.

"I do not claim that Lewis himself is a communist, but to build himself up he has taken advantage of a condition that has left the door open for communists to become part of the organization. As to sitdown strikes, how much closer do you want to come to revolution?"

Truce Without a Peace.

A jurisdictional dispute between Beck's teamsters and Bridges' longshoremen over inland warehousemen, is in the background of the struggle, which has become intense. A truce last week opened the way for the reopening of five strike bound concerns which have been closed for six weeks by this dispute. But the war goes on.

Beck announced tonight that the union would not handle any beer in his territory which is shipped from non-teamster union breweries after midnight June 15.

The ban, Beck said, is effective in British Columbia and 11 western states under his jurisdiction.

Beck said the order means all California and eastern beer will be banned in the Pacific northwest.

Four American Federation of Labor conventions have awarded jurisdiction over brewer drivers to the teamsters' union against claims of the United Brewery Workers' union, Back said.

ORGANIZES WIVES

SAMUEL INSULL CREDITORS WIN 4C ON DOLLAR

Distribution of $500,000 and stock worth $250,000 to fifteen creditors of Samuel Insull was approved yesterday by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in Circuit court. The payment approximates 4 cents on the dollar on total claims of $19,089,000.

Insull set up a trust of his assets for the benefit of his creditors in 1932. Judge Harrington recently appointed William C. Freeman and Peter B. Carey as successor-trustees.

Among the creditors are the National City bank of New York, the Continental-Illinois National Bank and Trust company, the General Electric company, and the Utility Finance Liquidation trust. The stocks to be distributed consist of 21,735 shares of Ashland Oil and Refining company.

C. I. O. PUTS 3,400 OUT OF WORK IN BELOIT FACTORY

Beloit, Wis., June 16.—[Special.]—Labor trouble threw 3,400 employés of Beloit's largest plant, Fairbanks, Morse & Co., out of work today—the first plant closure here in more than 30 years on account of a union dispute. C. I. O. members who sat down at their machines at 9 a. m. left peacefully at 4 p. m. after idling all day.

A. E. Ashcraft, vice president and plant manager, announced the plant will open as usual tomorrow for those who wish to work.

Blame Bomb for Mystery Blast at Radio Factory

Camden, N. J., June 17 [Thursday].—[Special.]—An explosion heard over a large area of Camden early this morning blew out a ten foot section of the Radio Condenser company's building here, where a strike, in progress for a month, had been settled a few hours earlier. Police found steel fragments which they believed may have been a part of a bomb.

Find Boy, 11, Guilty of Slaying Schoolmate, 12

New Castle, Pa., June 16.—(AP)—Anthony Naples, 11 years old, was convicted tonight of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of a schoolmate, Robert Harris, 12 years old. The state had asked for a first degree murder verdict with life imprisonment.

MONROE QUIET; MAYOR'S PACT LIMITS PICKETS

Monroe, Mich., June 16.—[Special.]—Monroe still was tense but quiet tonight after days of turbulence at the strike besieged Newton Steel company. Mayor Daniel A. Knaggs said he had reconciled employés who returned to work to the resumption of peaceful picketing by striking steel unionists.

The mayor said he believed an agreement restoring the picket line would avert further violence.

Knaggs recruited a volunteer citizen brigade, organized on a permanent basis, to replace paid special police who have been guarding the city against strike violence. Fifty special officers will be retained until the citizen brigade is fully organized.

SARDINES (TWO CANS) GO BY MAIL INTO STRIKE ZONE

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—Fifty-fifty success was registered today in the New York to Ohio experiment to determine whether the post-office department would deliver four cans of sardines in steel strike areas. Two of the cans have reached their addressee.

Dwight J. Scovel of Hopewell, N. J., sales representative for the Trans Lux Movie Ticker corporation, who sent the sardines to two nonstriking employés of the Republic Steel corporation in Cleveland and Niles last week, reported that he had received a return receipt for the sardines sent to the Cleveland plant, but no return receipt has come back yet from Niles.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE BOUNDARIES OF A WOMAN'S MIND

By CALEB

A MAN named Burton Kingsland once wrote the following: "A woman lacking true culture is said to betray by her conversation a mind of narrow compass, bounded on the north by her servants, on the east by her children, on the south by her ailments, and on the west by her clothes."

There are unquestionably women of this kind in the world. But most of the women with whom we come into contact in our business are very different. We believe they come here because they are different. Some of our generous friends say they are different, a little at least, because they come here.

For instance, in the course of a brief period, a woman here attends a fashion show, beholding almost within a matter of hours of the Paris openings, the things which will influence fashion most profoundly for the season. She witnesses a showing of trousseau and bridal things.

On our second floor she stands with an ever-changing but ever-attentive group, watching one of the world's skilled glass-cutters at work, and she has a tale to tell forevermore of this interesting process demonstrated by a master of his art. She may see how certain textiles or carpets are woven. She may see how inlaid linoleum floor work is handled, or she may view Oriental rugs in process of repair.

If she is interested in sports, she may watch leading exponents of several sports demonstrate their skills. She may attend art exhibits and in our book section hear prominent authors tell how they "got that way." If she loves dogs, she may see champions of various types here. She may listen to experts on home economics subjects expounding practical helps which may be valuable to her.

We know women who frequent our store whose conversation is of such compass their minds may be said to be bounded on the north by the Aurora Borealis, on the east by the rising sun, on the south by the Antarctic, and on the west by the Himalayan Mountains.

REVEAL N. U. BID FOR PURCHASE OF LAKE SHORE CLUB

But Deal Is Temporarily Halted, Says Lawyer.

BY AL CHASE.

Negotiations have been under way for months for the purchase of the Lake Shore Athletic club building at Lake Shore drive and Chestnut street by Northwestern university, it was learned yesterday.

Although it was reported that the negotiations collapsed—temporarily, at least—during the day at a meeting of the representatives of the club management, the trustee, and the bondholders, some of those who attended said they believed the transaction might be revived later. W. W. Miller of Tenney, Hardin, Sherman & Rogers, attorneys for the club, was authority for the statement that the meeting ended in failure.

Dormitory Plan Told.

The property, which has been valued at $7,000,000, will be used if acquired by the university as a dormitory and athletic and social center for students taking courses on the McKinlock campus.

The building, which is 18 stories high with a six story wing, has 410 living rooms, a swimming pool, and other luxuries and necessities of a modern athletic club. It is now in federal court receivership.

Last January Harry L. Wells, business manager of Northwestern university, said that a dormitory for McKinlock campus was needed and that three other properties had been considered and rejected. The Lake Shore Athletic club, he asserted, would be satisfactory at the right price. Negotiations, however, were dropped at that time.

Tells Revival of Deal.

Yesterday Wells said that the deal had again been under consideration.

"We have indicated our willingness to buy the property if the federal court consents to the transaction," he said. "Northwestern university trustees might be willing to make a definite offer if the property could be delivered clear—that is, all back taxes and liens paid."

Attorney Laurens Hastings of Taylor, Miller, Busch & Boyden, representing the bondholders, said a reorganization plan under 77B of the bankruptcy law, is now under consideration by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward.

The club was financed through a $3,000,000 first mortgage bond issue which has been paid down to $2,806,200. A second mortgage bond issue has been reduced to $1,524,700.

Marshall Keig, trustee for the federal court, in charge of the property, said there are now 1,500 club members. When the club was opened in 1927 there were 4,000 members.

The club site extends 161 feet on Lake Shore drive and 207 feet on Chestnut street.

Mrs. Dorothy Berger, sentenced from one to five years in prison yesterday for election fraud.

WOMAN AND FOUR MEN SENTENCED FOR VOTE FRAUDS

Terms Run from One to Five Years Each.

Four men and one woman were sentenced from one to five years in prison yesterday by Judge Rudolph Desort of the Criminal court for conspiracy to make fraudulent election returns from the 4th precinct of the 20th ward in the 1936 April primaries.

Four other women convicted on misdemeanor counts growing out of the same indictments were fined $200 each. The nine defendants were allowed liberty on bonds of $10,000 pending hearing on an appeal motion.

The woman sentenced to prison is Mrs. Dorothy Berger, 38 years old, 1214 South Homan avenue, a Democratic judge. The four men are Clement Amore, 34, of 1043 South Winchester avenue; Barney Seigel, 37, of 1260 South Spaulding avenue; John Zitello, 27, of 1911 Taylor street, and Sanders Caravello, 29, of 1132 South Winchester avenue, all party watchers in the precinct.

Those fined were Mrs. Kate Paldo, 25, of 1913 Taylor street, Republican clerk; Mrs. Nancy DelMonaco, 27, of 1038 South Winchester avenue, Democratic clerk; Mrs. Rose Amore, 29, Republican judge and wife of Clement, and Mrs. Edna Sulli, 34, of 1219 South Damen avenue, Democratic judge.

Defense Attorney Benedict J. Short pleaded for leniency on Mrs. Berger's behalf, but Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle said he could not make such a recommendation. Mrs. Berger wept when sentenced.

The nine persons were tried in Judge Desort's court last month.

DRAFT $150,000,000 PLAN TO ENLARGE PANAMA CANAL

Washington, D. C., June 16.—(AP)—Panama canal officials tonight disclosed that preliminary plans are being drafted to enlarge the "big ditch" at an estimated cost of 150 million dollars. A bigger canal, they said, will be necessary to take care of an expected increase in trafic.

It was emphasized that work on the plans probably would take ten years. Another ten years would be devoted to construction and the proposed new locks would not be in operation before 1960.

Col. C. S. Ridley, governor of the Canal Zone, emphasized the need of starting preliminary work quickly when he appeared recently before the house appropriations committee considering funds for the canal's operation.

Seize 33 Slot Machines in North, West Suburbs

County highway police seized 33 slot machines last night in another series of raids in northern and western suburbs. Lieut. Henry J. Andel of the Morton Grove station led raiders into 16 taverns and roadhouses in Niles Center, Morton Grove, and Lincolnwood, where 16 machines were confiscated. Willow Springs police, headed by Lieut. George Legrue, made nine raids along Ogden avenue in Lyons and in the territory east and west of La Grange. They seized 17 machines, wrecking three of them because they were fastened to the floor.

Gunman and Blonde Take Auto in Downtown Holdup

A gunman with a blonde young woman companion held up Henry Redmann, 25 years old, 2109 South Spaulding avenue, early today as he waited in his automobile for a trafic light in Madison street at Michigan avenue. They forced Redmann out of the car and drove away, telling him he would find the machine at Clark street and Diversey parkway.

RECOVER MAIL ON PLANE LOST LAST DECEMBER

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 16.—(AP)—Part of the cabin of a Western Air Express plane that crashed on a mountain peak east of here Dec. 15 was dug from a snowbank today, but no trace was found of the seven persons it carried.

In the rear baggage compartment searchers recovered 284 pounds of mail, including 16 pounds of registered parcels and nine pieces of baggage, all that was carried on the plane.

Orange Olsen, forest ranger, noticed the fuselage jutting from melting snow. A searching crew uncovered the long cabin, battered but apparently intact, with the butt of the left wing twisted around it. The right wing and cockpit were missing.

It is believed the bodies were thrown out of the craft, striking a lofty ridge top, and hurtled down the cliff. A windlass was being placed at the top of a cliff.

GANG AND GIRLS CAPTURED AFTER NIGHT OF CRIME

Kidnap Policeman; Wreck Stolen Car.

After a wild night of lawless violence, during which they disarmed a policeman, threatened his life, attempted at least one robbery, and wrecked a stolen automobile, a gang of three men, led by a paroled convict, and four women were in jail last night at the North Damen avenue station.

Two of the women were recently paroled from the Illinois Training School for Girls at Geneva. They had served two years as delinquents.

Roy Lester, 34 years old, was labeled by Capt. Daniel Lynch as leader of the gang. He was paroled March 11 from Joliet prison after four years of a one to twenty year sentence for burglary.

Police Records Galore.

The others held are: Rudolph Kacic, 29, an ex-convict, formerly on parole; Joseph Neri, 26, who has a police record; their wives, Adeline Neri and Katherine Kacic, both 26 years old, and Emma Patzer, alias Connie Fantner, alias Lee, and Helen Jasinski Lester. The two girls last named, both 20 years old, are the former Geneva school inmates.

As pieced together by Capt. Lynch, the Patzer girl joined Lester and the two men in a tavern at North and California avenues early yesterday.

The Patzer girl, a reddish blonde with freckles, wearing a black evening dress, declared she accompanied the men when Lester suggested they visit another night club. Instead they stopped near a filling station at 3645 North Western avenue, and doused the automobile lights, planning to rob the attendant.

Policeman Julius Gebhardt noticed the darkened car and approached, engaging Neri and Kacic in conversation. Lester stepped from the rear door, walked around the car, and shoved a revolver against Gebhardt.

"Stretch [put up your hands], copper, this is a stickup," said Lester.

When Gebhardt hesitated a moment, Lester dug the gun in his back, warning: "I told you to stretch. This is a stickup."

Gebhardt then obeyed and Lester disarmed him. Then as his companions drove away, he marched the policeman to Waveland and Western avenues, intending to leave his prisoner there and take a cab.

Rescued by Squad Car.

But a roving police squad saw them. One of the squad men, John Kennedy, jumped out, knocked Lester down, and freed Gebhardt. Then they went in search of his companions.

At Ashland, Lincoln, and Belmont avenues, they found the stolen car, smashed into a department store window. The Patzer woman, who was standing dazedly near the wreckage, was seized. Neri was found half a block away.

From information obtained later, the policemen raided a room in the Bel-Park hotel, 3244 North Cicero avenue, and arrested the wives of Neri and Kacic. Kacic, who had been married only a month, was arrested in another hotel, a block away.

Meanwhile Agent O. G. Connorton of the parole office, who had been seeking Lester as a parole violator, was waiting in his room in the Julian hotel, 924 Belmont avenue. In walked Lester's bride of ten days, and she was seized.

Paroled from Geneva School.

Emma Patzer was paroled from the Geneva school March 18 as a domestic in a foster home at 4639 Jackson boulevard. Lester's wife was paroled Feb. 20 in care of her parents. Neither girl is required to report to the parole office, but Connorton explained that a careful check is made on the home two or three times a month.

"I don't give a damn," boasted the Patzer woman, who lives at 1727 North Mozart street. "I hate all coppers. Don't you other girls tell them nothing."

"But say," she added, giggling as a policeman showed her a newspaper picture of herself, "that kinda makes me look good. Can I keep it?"

Before entering Joliet prison Aug. 29, 1933, Lester served three years for assault and robbery in a Philadelphia prison and one year in the Bridewell for larceny in 1931. Kacic was paroled from Pontiac reformatory in 1926 after a two year term for larceny. He entered Joliet prison Dec. 7, 1928, for burglary, was paroled Sept. 1, 1933, and discharged from parole last fall. Neri was indicted for staging a $30 tavern robbery, but won a nolle prosse Jan. 16, 1936.

Lester's parole sponsor was Dr. Emory S. Lyon of the Central Howard association, 608 South Dearborn street, which specializes in aiding ex-convicts. Many convicts have been paroled to Dr. Lyon.

Capt. Lynch announced that Lester had been identified in the robbery of the Lincoln Park Arms hotel on June 5 and 13, the Buena Park hotel on the latter date and four other robberies.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SPECIAL CHURCH COLLECTIONS ARE BANNED BY NAZIS

New Blow Is Struck at 'Rebel' Pastors.

BERLIN, June 16.—(AP)—The Nazi régime struck a new blow today against the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] synod, long an opponent of Nazi domination of Protestant church affairs, by prohibiting special church collections without government permission.

The decree, if strictly enforced, deprives the synod of means by which it has been possible to maintain theological seminaries in defiance of state appointed church authorities and to carry on the work of the synod.

Under the order issued by Wilhelm Frick, minister of the interior, and Hans Kerrl, head of the Nazi created department of church affairs, individual churches are prohibited from taking any collections except those approved in a general plan for the year's work of each church.

Must Get Nazi Approval.

The ruling provides that even when special services outside of the regular annual program are called for any purpose whatsoever no collection may be taken unless first approved by the government.

Often in the past special services have been held for arrested pastors and collections turned over to their families.

The Rev. Gerhard Jacobi, pastor of the fashionable Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial church; the Rev. Mr. Niesel, and the Rev. von Arnim-Luetzlow have been held for trial in People's court. They are charged with having violated Frick's decree forbidding reading from the pulpit the names of members who have left the church.

These three, together with six out of town members of the council of the Brethren of the Confessional synod, resolved to disregard Frick's order.

Fate of Six Is Unknown.

Three council members—the Rev. Martin Niemoeller, militant leader of the Confessional synod and U-boat commander in the world war, and two other pastors named Mueller and Sieler—were absent when that decision was made and they were questioned but not arrested. The fate of six provincial members of the council was not known in Berlin.

Confessional circles said they had learned that on Friday so-called church committees not made up of representatives of various factions of the Protestant church will all be dissolved, and thereby administration of a coming church elcetion will revert to Kerrl and Nazi authorities.

Uphold Faith, Pope Urges.

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, June 16.—(AP)—Pope Pius told a group of graduate priests today to go back to Nazi Germany and uphold their faith "where a blind battle rages against God and the church of Christ." He deplored what he termed the "persecution" of Catholics in Germany.

The pope gave to the priests of the German-Hungarian College of Rome a "special great blessing" for their forthcoming work in Germany where "only the Catholic church is the bearer of the redemption and the preserver of this glorious treasure of truth."

MARY COWEN.

Police were searching yesterday for three gunmen who early in the day held up the Century Dancing school, a taxi dancing establishment on the second floor at 315 South Wabash avenue, and obtained $600 after menacing thirty-five couples with their pistols.

Capt. George O'Connor of the First district said the robbers apparently were well acquainted with the place, and the holdup was carefully planned. One gunman went to the cashier's cage at the entrance, another went into the checkroom and brought out Miss Ruth Taylor, 24 years old, 4100 Sheridan road, the attendant, and the third man stood on the dance floor holding the dancers at bay.

Miss Mary Cowen, 25 years old, 3612 Janssen avenue, the cashier, collapsed when confronted with a revolver and spilled some of the money on the floor. The robber didn't wait to pick it up but grabbed what was handiest and fled with the others.

GERMANY TO BURY WARSHIP VICTIMS IN STATE TODAY

31 Dead Returned from Spanish Waters.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 16.—The German pocket battleship Deutschland anchored at Wilhelmshaven at dusk and with imposing ceremony thirty-one coffins bearing the sailors killed and fatally wounded on May 29, when the Deutschland was bombed by Spanish planes at Ibiza, Balearic Islands, were conveyed ashore.

Capt. Fanger, commander of the Deutschland, spoke a word of farewell. Through torch lighted streets, between houses with flags at half staf and draped in much crêpe, the cortége slowly moved to the cemetery while the entire population silently saluted. It is expected Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler will attend the state funeral tomorrow.

Reviews Italian Youths.

Hitler today reviewed 1,300 Italian youths and leaders of the Fascist Balilla organization and told them "youth is another link between us." The review took place in a square facing the chancellery in Berlin.

Colonel General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of air; Baldur von Schirach, German youth leader, and Renato Ricci, Italian youth leader, were among those present.

"Italy can be proud of her youth, just as we in Germany are proud of ours," Hitler said. "It is another link between us—youth which has ideals, which is ready to live for them and if necessary die for them."

Chief of Staf Visits Paris.

The first visit paid to France by a German chief of staf in 70 years began today when Gen. Ludwig Beck went to Paris. Beck actually is Germany's first post-war chief of the general staf, as the general staf was abolished under the Versailles treaty, and was officially resuscitated only in March, 1935, when conscription was introduced in Germany.

An official communique said Gen. Beck was in Paris on a private visit to see the world exposition, but added that he will visit Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the French general staf.

DANZIG PROCLAIMED A GERMAN CITY BY HIGH NAZI LEADERS

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, June 16.—(AP)—The oldest and highest leaders of German Nazidom and the Danzig Nazi chieftain proclaimed to each other today that Danzig is a German city.

Albert Forster, local leader of the Nazi party, addressed 500 members of Adolf Hitler's old guard Nazis in this city, which once was German but now is independent under a league of nations constitution. He said: "You will see for yourself that there is no bigger lie than the contention that Danzig is not a German city."

Robert Ley, labor front leader, responded for the Nazi old guard, and declared: "We traveled east to show our countrymen here that the whole reich always and forever thinks of them—that wherever Germans live there is Germany."

NAZIS AND FRENCH JOIN TO EXPLOIT OCEAN AIR LINES

PARIS, June 16.—(AP)—The dominant aviation companies of France and Germany concluded an accord today for coöperation in the exploitation of their air lines in the North and South Atlantic and in the Orient. The agreement is between Air France and the Deutsch Lufthansa. It was submitted to their governments for approval.

Officials said the agreement provided for joint use of air bases.

France, which is lagging in the international race to establish the first regular North Atlantic line, gained access to the German catapult ships which Lufthansa uses to propel planes into the air.

Dakar, French Senegal, was designated as the common base for South Atlantic flights. Hanoi, French Indo-China, was made the center for far east aerial travel.

WASHER DEATH HELD ACCIDENT.

A coroner's jury yesterday found a verdict of accident in connection with the death of Marion Leka, 4 years old, 2548 East 106th street, who died Monday in the Jackson Park hospital from injuries received when her arm was caught in a washing machine in the home.

CHRYSLER ROYAL CONVERTIBLE SEDAN, $1120* DELIVERED IN DETROIT

DELIGHTS SO MANY THOUSANDS . . . IT'S SURE TO PLEASE YOU!

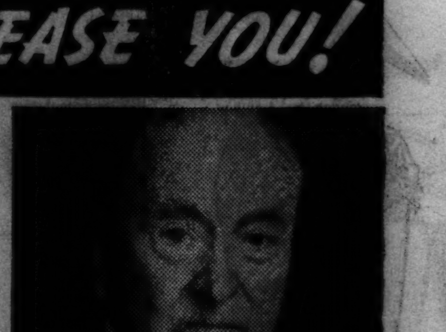
"After twenty years of driving experience, I am convinced that my new Royal Coupe tops any car ever built. With all of its power and size, the car is surprisingly economical. On several long trips, I have found that I get 20½ miles per gallon."
MRS. MARY B. MOHRMAN, Cleveland, Ohio.

"There is more room in my new Royal than in much more expensive cars I've owned. Big as it is, it steers and parks with the greatest ease. I get 18 miles to the gallon in ordinary city driving, and average considerably better than that on long trips."
H. L. CLEELAND, D. C., Aspinwall, Pa.

"My new Chrysler is delightful to drive . . . quickly responsive . . . easy to steer and park. The riding qualities are superb . . . jolts and jars just seem to dissolve beneath the car. The chair-high seats and the adjustment feature are especially attractive."
MISS NANCY BLAGDEN, New York, N. Y.

"As an insurance executive, I have to make frequent calls, and the easy handling qualities as well as the economy of the Royal stand ace-high with me. In all my driving experience, I've never seen any brakes that equal Chrysler's hydraulics."
J. C. McCHESNEY, Chicago, Ill.



"Two things stand out in my mind about my new Chrysler Royal. First, its great driving comfort . . . both in room and easy handling. Second, its great reliability . . . which incidentally has been a characteristic of every Chrysler car I've owned."
JOSEPH CAUNT, Pasadena, Calif.

TAX INQUISITION STAGE SET FOR OPENING TODAY

Procedure Mapped Out at White House Parley.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 16.—[Special.]—With the Roosevelt administration accusing more than 50 millionaires of tax evasion or avoidance and with the opposition preparing to demand the tax returns of the President and his family the congressional tax inquisition will begin tomorrow.

The investigation procedure was mapped out at a White House conference today, the participants being Mr. Roosevelt, Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.] and Representative Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], who head the joint committee, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Undersecretary Roswell Magill.

Morgenthau States Case.

Mr. Morgenthau will state the administration case against the tax evaders and avoiders at the opening session of the investigation and then will submit to cross-examination by the Republican members. Whether he will name the persons accused during this session is uncertain but it was stated that the secretary is prepared to submit the list to the committee whenever required.

There then will follow a parade of such accused persons before the committee as are moved to submit a defense. Those who do appear will be pilloried by the Democratic members of the committee. As a result of the exposure the President expects to obtain sufficient additional tax revenue to balance the budget next year when, he estimated, receipts would fail to equal expenditures by 418 million dollars. Treasury figures indicate that the aggregate amount of tax evasion and avoidance will not exceed a small fraction of the deficit.

Fish Raises Question.

The demand for the tax returns of the Roosevelt family is expected to crop out during the progress of the investigation. The Washington atmosphere is electric with rumors of the manner in which members of the White House family have availed themselves of technicalities of the tax law to hold down their income tax assessments.

The first public utterance of the suspicions that the distinguished accuser of tax dodging is living in a glass house himself came from Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] in whose district is the President's country place at Hyde Park. Mr. Fish told the house he was reliably informed that Mr. Roosevelt had deducted from his income the expense of his country estate under the guise of the expense of operating a farm. It is not a farm, said Fish, but a palatial country home.

RELIEF RECIPIENTS TO COLLECT GARBAGE, MAYOR GILLIS SAYS

Newburyport, Mass., June 16.—(AP)—Mayor Andrew J. [Bossy] Gillis today ordered ten new refuse buckets and steel drums, insisting that welfare recipients begin tomorrow the collection of garbage.

Bossy Gillis.

Besieged by calls from more than 100 housewives that his refusal to appropriate money for further collections by a private contractor had created a nuisance, Gillis struck upon the idea of having the recipients of welfare make the collections.

"The city pays enough for welfare," the explosive Bossy said. "It's about time they did something for their money."

Three out of town youths were in custody of police yesterday after they had been arrested by a police squad early in the day while driving in a stolen taxicab with the driver bound and gagged in the rear seat.

The youths gave their names as Joseph Bruce of Inman, S. C.; George Mercer of Birmingham, Ala., and George Crossman of Gary, Ind., all 19 years old. They were captured when they drove through a stop light at 76th and State streets.

In the cab police found the driver, George Pamper of 1514 North Maplewood avenue, securely tied. He had been robbed of $4.80. When Bruce pulled a revolver from his pocket police knocked it from his hand and fired two shots into the ground to frighten his companions.

STEEL CONCERN EMPLOYE DIES.

Chester Dalewski, 59 years old, employed as a carpenter at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company, died yesterday in his home at 8033 South Shore drive.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO MAKE PEACE WITH CONGRESS

Democrats Are Invited to Stag Parties.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 16.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will seek to smoke the pipe of peace with rebellious Democrats in a three day "love feast" on Jefferson Island in Chesapeake bay the week-end of June 25.

The powwow was suggested, according to reports, by senate Majority Leader Robinson as an ideal way to settle the differences between congressmen and the White House which threaten to upset the administration's congressional program. President Roosevelt heartily approved the plan and announced the good will meeting after a huddle with party leaders.

Meeting Held Year Ago.

For three days the 406 Democratic senators and representatives will ferry in a steady stream from Annapolis to Jefferson Island to meet with the "great white father." Mr. Roosevelt will make his headquarters at the Democratic Fish and Gun club of which Robinson is president.

Mr. Roosevelt met with party leaders on the porch of the club a year ago to spur a legislative program through congress. That meeting was limited almost entirely to the handful of sporting senators who founded the club several years ago.

This year the President will have with him every member of the cabinet except Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins—the powwow is to consist of three days of stag parties. Many other important administration figures such as WPA Administrator Hopkins and RFC Chairman Jones will aid the President in his efforts to restore good will. The three White House secretaries, Stephen Early, Marvin McIntyre, and James Roosevelt, will sift through the visitors.

If each congressman is to get his share of the President's time, Mr. Roosevelt will have but two minutes to give each legislator. In that short time the full force of his charm will be exerted to turn all Democrats into ardent White House supporters.

Make Trip by Boat.

The congressmen are to leave Annapolis by boat at 9 o'clock the mornings of June 25, 26, and 27. Each contingent will arrive at the island about 10:30 a. m. the days of their visit and leave about 5 p. m. With time out for a buffet luncheon the President will have about 16½ hours in which to see 406 senators and representatives.

Mr. Roosevelt will get on the ground the night before, June 24, to prepare to receive the delegations. For the next week his staf will plan a campaign of flattery, cajolery, and intimidation which the White House hopes will heal the breach between the President and congress.

In the prolonged fight on the court bill and the battle over relief the lack of harmony between the White House and congress became more apparent. It came out so openly as to give rise to reports that the President was splitting the Democratic party beyond repair.

White House Secretary Early mentioned these rumors in announcing the island conferences. The very fact that the President is meeting with members of congress, Early said, should spike rumors that he is holding aloof from members of his own party.

Garner Will Be Missing.

One notable figure of the administration will be missing at the gathering. Vice President Garner is taking a vacation in Texas.

The vacation has been the source of much speculation in Washington. According to reports the vice president left the capital after a stormy scene with the President in which he protested vigorously with the presidential lack of faith in his leadership on Capitol Hill and over confidence in youthful brain trusters.

Garner is reported to have told the President that he was tired of learning administration plans from reporters. The Vice President complained that he never knew anything about various programs until they were dumped into his lap, it was said.

PRICE OF MILK IN PINT BOTTLES TO BE RAISED TO EIGHT CENTS TODAY

The price of pint bottles of milk will be increased from 7 cents to 8 cents in Chicago and surrounding suburbs beginning with this morning's deliveries, according to a new price schedule of the larger distributors that reached the office of the Associated Milk Dealers, Inc., yesterday. The price of milk in quart bottles remains at 12 cents.

Paul Potter, secretary of the dealers' association, said the advance in price was due to an increase in commissions for union milk wagon drivers from one-third to two-thirds of a cent on a pint bottle. Drivers will receive their first pay on the new scale next Thursday.

Mr. Potter explained that the increase would apply only to about seven per cent of the total supply delivered, and would affect chiefly consumers in offices and factories.

SHAW, OF REVIEW OF REVIEWS, BUYS LITERARY DIGEST

New York, June 16.—(AP)—The Literary Digest, weekly news magazine, was sold outright today to the Review of Reviews corporation, headed by the veteran magazine editor, Albert Shaw.

The sale brings two of the oldest magazines in America under the same ownership. The Review of Reviews was founded in 1891 and the Digest in 1896.

Practically the entire ownership of the Digest had been in the hands of R. J. Cuddihy, the publisher, and Wilfred J. Funk, who had been editor in chief of the weekly. They will have no further connection with the magazine. It was understood that only a nominal sum was paid by the Review of Reviews corporation.

The founder of the magazine was Funk's father, the late Dr. Isaac K. Funk, who also was an original owner of the dictionary and book publishing firm of Funk & Wagnalls. Wilfred Funk will continue as president of Funk & Wagnalls.

ZION ARSON TRIAL SET FOR MONDAY.

Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Lake County Circuit court in Waukegan yesterday ordered Thomas Griffith, 19 years old, to trial next Monday on charges of setting fire to the Shiloh Tabernacle in Zion, historic religious house of worship, which was destroyed by fire on April 2.

A REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Minneapolis has elected a Republican mayor. Brig. Gen. George E. Leach rolled up almost 90,000 votes against 71,000 for his opponent, Kenneth Haycraft, who was hailed as a disciple of the late Farmer-Labor governor, Floyd Olson.

This election may have marked the turning point. The expected reaction against a political leadership which has preached unrest, disorder, and disregard for rights to life and property seems to have set in. The election provides substantial evidence that the people in the northwest have come to resent the violence associated with Farmer-Labor rule. The bloody strikes in Minneapolis, the official murders of crusading editors who exposed the alliance of the politicians with criminals and racketeers, have finally aroused the people to the danger which confronts them.

The Republicans were defeated in Minnesota last autumn because the Democratic candidates for the principal offices were withdrawn in favor of the Farmer-Labor candidates. In the mayoralty election this realignment of parties was continued. It was in the end a straight-out struggle between Republicans and all the other elements in coalition, and the Republicans won.

When it is remembered that the northwest originated much of the contemporary political and social ferment and that in Minnesota the extremist elements control most of the public offices and all the federal and state patronage the victory in Minneapolis acquires added significance. It suggests strongly that the people are alarmed and are insisting upon the supremacy of law and protection of life and property. In this connection it is important to observe that almost all the radical Republicans from the northwestern states who for years have refused to coöperate with their Republican colleagues in Washington are today voting with them on important issues. It seems fair to conclude that astute politicians had discerned a turn in the tide even before the Minneapolis election confirmed it.

A BILL TO PROMOTE MONOPOLY.

A bill has passed the house at Springfield which would forbid any one in Illinois to engage in painting and decorating as a regular business unless he had a license from the state. These licenses would have to be renewed annually. The bill applies alike to contractors, journeymen, and even apprentices. The licenses would be issued after examination by a board of seven, which would also be in charge of enforcement. The state director of labor would be required to appoint three of the examiners from a list submitted by the painting contractors' association and three from a list submitted by the painters' union. The seventh would be the director's own nominee, but he is required to select a man familiar with the building industry.

The danger inherent in this measure is clear. It legalizes a monopoly organization of an important industry. The consumer is, as usual, the forgotten man. The combination of contractors and workmen will be placed in a position to harass any contractor or workman who dares to offer his services at less than an agreed rate, however exorbitant it may be. Even if the courts should protect such an independent from the loss of his license, the expense of defending himself and the risk of losing his license would be sufficient to keep all but the hardiest in line.

That would be the effect of the bill if it is passed. It is instructive to compare this expectable consequence with the justifications for the proposed law which are contained in the bill. It is intended, or so the bill asserts, to "promote the public welfare." It is to "raise the standards of trade practices." It is to eliminate "unfair dealing and fraudulent practices in the use of inferior materials and workmanship." It is to "protect the public health" and prevent "the spreading of harmful and contagious diseases." These are the excuses, the façade behind which racketeering is invited.

All the important objectives of the bill are covered in existing law. The substitution of inferior materials is punishable by law. So is the use of materials dangerous to health. So are fraudulent practices. If the contractors' association and the union know that an abuse exists, they do not need a license law to prevent and punish the guilty. They should take their facts to the state's attorney and the grand jury, and the men so accused should have the benefit of a trial by jury rather than by a board composed of persons who may be financially interested in the outcome.

THE POSTMAN'S FEAT.

In a recent address before the United States Chamber of Commerce President Juan T. Trippe of the Pan American Airways sketched the growth of air passenger travel in a very interesting manner. The first international air lines crossed the English channel, but the service was neither comfortable nor dependable principally because there were too many rival companies in the field. Then each nation adopted a policy of nominating and supporting a single air line for international service, which brought into being the Imperial Air Lines of Great Britain, the Lufthansa of Germany, the Air France of France, the Ala Littoria of Italy, the K. L. M. of the Netherlands. America had a single entry—the Pan American—operating a 90 mile international route between Key West and Havana.

Then Lindbergh flew from New York to Paris. The United States became air conscious overnight. A postman had become the father of air commerce. The effect would have been neither as far-reaching nor as intense if a soldier or a sailor had performed the feat. The army and navy are things apart, fully expected to deal with the unconventional that has war value. At the other extreme, the letter carrier was one of the plain people.

Now the trans-Atlantic airways surveyed and recommended by Lindbergh are being steadily developed. Service to Bermuda will become effective during June, and to Botwood, Newfoundland, in July or August. The longer legs beyond these points—to the Azores and Ireland—are assured within a year.

HOW ABOUT THE PANAMA TOLL DODGERS?

The senate and the house have agreed to create a joint congressional committee on tax evasion and avoidance. That is one thing. Neither body has made any progress whatever with the tax evading provisions of the Panama canal act. That is another. When read together the two announcements cannot fail to expose insincerity. Through a loophole in the Panama canal act the owners of foreign steamships are dodging millions in tolls, but congress prefers to procrastinate for fear of hurting somebody in the much pampered merchant marine. THE TRIBUNE has frequently told the story, but it will bear repeating—how the law provides a maximum toll of $1.25 per ton based on net registered tonnage when the latter figure is only 55 to 75 per cent of the actual space used for the stowage of goods.

The gross registered tonnage of a vessel is the number of cubic feet within the shell of the hull divided by 100—not much chance for evasion here. The net registered tonnage is the residue after deductions have been made for nonrevenue compartments such as engine rooms, crew's quarters, and the like, as well as other space that is exposed to the weather and thus unfit for the carriage of cargo. It is the last mentioned provision that causes the mischief because it has fathered the "shelter deck" in naval architecture.

Because shelter decks are free of tolls, maritime architects so design modern ships that nearly half of the cargo space is in the shelter deck. Then they build dummy hatchways without weather doors so that shelter deck space is technically exposed to the elements. Such "tonnage openings," however, can be "temporarily" boarded up to make the shelter deck as dry and safe for the carriage of cargo as any part of the ship. The governors of the Panama canal are entitled to tolls at the rate of $1.20 for every 100 cubic feet of space that is used for cargo, but the owners of the ships laugh at them. Under the Panama canal act their net registered tonnage excludes tolls on shelter deck space irrespective of the fact that it may be stuffed with valuable merchandise.

Here is a piece of legislation that is fathering a racket, fostering the construction of bad ships, keeping the Panama canal in the red, and discriminating against midwest manufacturers who cannot use the canal. Congress must plug this leak before it will convince any great number of thinking citizens that honesty is the motivating force behind the drive against tax evasion.

TO CONQUER THE SYPHILIS PLAGUE.

An appeal to the people of Chicago to enlist in the crusade against the syphilis plague has been made by a conference on that problem. The gathering was called by Dr. Bundesen, president of the board of health, and was attended by representatives of the federal health service and of civic organizations concerned with social hygiene problems. The conference was of opinion that coöperation of the public should be sought as soon as possible and suggests that some form of referendum be tried to ascertain the extent of public interest and willingness to coöperate in practical measures. Something in the nature of a secret questionnaire was proposed, though its form and methods of presentation are still to be worked out.

The experiment is worth trying. Even if it does not bring the results hoped for, we think it would assist in advertising the gravity of the conditions created by this disease and the urgent need of combating it. "We want the coöperation of every resident of Chicago. We want them to understand syphilis is not a badge of disgrace or immorality. It is often a misfortune that can be prevented and brought under control."

But the prevalence of the disease is not realized and must be impressed upon the public. When this understanding is more general the coöperation necessary to deal effectively with it as a major menace to life and happiness can be achieved.

Syphilis takes a terrible toll in America only because the facts are not known by the public. Scandinavian countries have reduced it to negligible proportions and it can be conquered in America. The first step is education, and that has begun. It must be carried forward by all the agencies of publicity. Appropriate measures will follow. Treatment is known. The machinery of administration must be organized and provided with necessary funds. No expenditure of energy and money could be more profitable than for the elimination of this disease in America.

WHAT IS A SLUM?

[Illinois State Journal.]

Cleveland's experiment in replacing faulty tenements with new buildings is not proving to be what was expected. One of the newspapers of that city says few of the tenants in the old houses will move into the new residences. It adds:

"It simply is going to be too expensive for them. Rents will probably run around $6 a room; the typical family living in that section before the clearance program began could not possibly pay more than $4 a room. So, while the old slums are being destroyed, new ones are about to spring up. Fine new housing is available—but not to the people who most need it."

Cleveland's experience is not unusual. Construction of new buildings as a means of correcting slum conditions has been a failure. Chicago has miles of stone fronts which but poorly hide the most miserable slum conditions within their walls. This is true in other large centers of population. The situation is accentuated in every city which built beyond its requirements in the boom period prior to the depression.

Clearing a district of unsightly dwellings is frequently justified in a city's improvement program. It is hypocritical, however, to assert that clearing out one slum district, or a dozen of them, materially affects the social status of slum dwellers.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

THE NEWEST REMEDY for hay fever is the coating of the inside of the nose with copper. There are no limits to which some folks won't go to keep from cutting their weeds.

SINCE the slow trains still breeze through the Line, may I recall a trip I had on the Misery and Short Life in these parts years ago? After giving my wee order on the diner, I started a little reading. After a time the waiter told me I was reading yesterday's paper. And I, the snappy smart cracker, came right back with: "It was today's when I sat down here." Big Ed, the Old Soak.

Please discontinue my horse advertisement for General Foch. I have always believed it pays well to advertise. I believe now that one can overdo anything, even advertising. So please discontinue my ad, and if that does not slow business down, we'll have to throw your linotype into reverse some way.

CHICAGO wants the fed. govt. to put up fifty million for that subway which is perpetually in the hot air conditioned stage. The worst pun we can think up just now is that this is an attempt to put the G further in the hole.

SILVER WILLOWS.

IV.—The Yucca Blooms.

The yucca, common soapweed, rears a spike
Of bloom, defying foe and death alike;
With probing root it digs till waters bless,
With bayoneted leaves it fends in stress;
All purposeful it cherishes its heart
Against the drouth—the storms that sting and smart—
And rising high above the desert sands
With scented waxen bells, the yucca stands.

So I would brave the life scorched, arid days,
And fainting not beneath their burning rays
Protect and nourish some frail dream that might Attain fruition in a silver night.
I would a lonely hour with courage grace

They Sometimes Seem Cannibalistic to Us.

Sir: Our lady guest from Hometown had her first look at the Board of Trade while the wheat pit was writhing in its usual daily convulsion. We asked her what she thought of it and she said she couldn't make anything out of it. "Reminds me of nothing so much as a bunch of nuts trying to eat each other up," she added. A ravening picture; yet it would seem not wholly an illusion, since the W. G. N. of Saturday last directed attention to a commodity exchange act "requiring registration of dealers and other provisions."

GOOD NIGHT OF A BANK KNIGHT.

I rejoice that bank nights are no more. It was a sad experience that broke the spirit of hope that once burned within me. Nine hundred bucks, the poster said. That would be prosperity again and I was dreaming when I met the manager in the lobby. "Three thousand seats," he murmured, "and they'll all be full tonight." . . . He asked if I would be a judge—neighborhood figure of character, pillar of the community, etc. . . . As 3,000 pagan souls prayed in this cathedral of chance I drew and read the winning number, handed the check to a gentleman with flabbergasting tendencies. Then, as I stepped down into the aile, two creditors who hadn't been able to find me for a year greeted me. I had to move again on May 1.

FANFARE FOR FIGHT FANS.

Our post-impressionistic preview of the Louis-Braddock bout, as gathered from the writings of the experts in two soi-disant training camps, is: Louis will be accompanied by a delegation of seconds carrying ratchets, cap pistols, cymbals, and New Year's Eve horns, all to be used in keeping him awake as he treads the resin. Braddock will creep in on his crutches, backed up by stretcher bearers and a few rodeo performers with lariats, whose duty it is to rope and drag him backwards if it looks like he is getting too close to Joe, and so in danger of being tapped on the chin should the Brown Snoozer dream he is at dinner and reach a left hook for a piece of catfish. And instead of ropes around the ring there will be a daisy chain held by graduates of Vassar (or is it Wellesley?).

FISH takes exception to ad of a certain company recommending "the world's quietest outboard motor." He has one made by another concern, he insists, that he can't force to give a single cough.

HEART DAMAGE IN CHILDREN.

YEARS ago when eastern newspapers referred to Kansas it was with a facetious caption, "The state of sunflowers and cyclones." Perhaps these destructive storms were more common in the west at one time, but we now know that they are no respecters of states or localities. Neither is rheumatism when it comes to the inhabitants of the temperate zone.

Our interest in this disease at the moment lies in the fact that it is the chief cause of heart disorders. Infections seem to have a predilection for this special type of tissue, and few of us realize fully the ravages of bacteria living within the engine of the body.

Children are quite likely to develop abscesses in or near the tonsils which may drain directly into the lymph channels or into the blood. Then follow symptoms of ill health with a marked loss of appetite and weight, increasing pallor, and pains that come and go in the muscles or the joints. Occasionally there is a slight afternoon temperature. At the outset the heart is not affected, but if the absorption of germs is permitted to continue, obvious warnings will appear such as a low grade fever and unmistakable symptoms of heart involvement.

No childhood disease demands more careful hygienic management. In the first place, youngsters should be taught to care for their throats and mouths by means of gargles and washes which are mildly antiseptic. Certainly infected tonsils should be removed, but never during the course of an acute illness or when the structures themselves are inflamed. This may require weeks and weeks of preparation, as a surgical procedure—opening lymph and capillary channels—may incite an explosion followed by a high temperature, chills, and inflammatory reactions in the lining of the heart.

If rheumatic fever or a rheumatic tendency has been recognized, rest in bed is essential. There may be times during the day when the young patient will wish to play, but if this is permitted the result may be unfavorable because the temperature may rise to higher levels with possible extension of the process.

At this stage most physicians will use salicylates and alkalis in as large amounts as can be borne without upsetting digestion. If ringing in the ears and dullness of vision are evident, the daily dose may be reduced or withdrawn entirely for 24 hours or longer. Diet should be largely liquid and include milk, soups, orange juice, lemonade, jellies, soft toast, etc.

As convalescence proceeds, some parents will be inclined to grant too much freedom, allowing the child to get out of bed long before the safe period arrives. We must recall that the illness may last for weeks, even months, and that the program of resistance building should be one of slow but steady progress. In fact, even after the temperature has disappeared, exercise must be permitted with the greatest caution. First comes the sitting-up process. The length of time may be but 15 minutes at first; later, an hour or more.

Massage is the lightest and best form of activity. Stroking the limbs from the extremities toward the body, kneading the muscles, and finally some movements which impose a minimum of effort on the part of the patient are advised. During this interval the diet may be increased to the limit of tolerance, care being taken that sufficient vitamins are supplied. An iron tonic is frequently of considerable value. After a while, if the weather is mild, the child may sit out of doors exposed to the sunlight for a brief period. Only after the disease has expired, with a final flick of its tail, should the child attempt to walk.

Then comes an evaluation of the harm that has been done. The cyclone has passed, but what about the aftermath? Despite excellent care, some youngsters will be left with impaired heart valves or a weakened heart muscle. But these factors can be compensated for and most organs will adjust themselves if not forced to take on too quickly or too rapidly a load that is overpowering.

YAWNS AND TEARS.

Mrs. H. B. writes: Every time I yawn my eyes water. Is there any remedy for this? I've been troubled about three years.

REPLY.

Everybody weeps a little in yawning. If the eye-watering is excessive you may have something wrong with your tear ducts. An eye specialist can relieve you.

LEAFLET ON HAIR DISORDERS.

M. B. writes: I am troubled with falling hair and dandruff. Can these conditions be remedied?

REPLY.

Many cases can. We have some suggestions on the hygiene of the hair and scalp, which you can get by sending a stamped, addressed envelope.

If simple home remedies are not effective, it may be necessary to consult a skilled skin specialist.

POWER OF ATTORNEY.

Chicago, June 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Some time ago a friend was very sick and could not attend to some property business, so a friend took charge of it and had her sign a paper giving him "power of attorney." When the business was completed she asked for the "power of attorney" paper. He said he had destroyed it. She is not sure that he has.

1. Could this ever be used against her property, [2] particularly after her death?
3. Could she go to an attorney and swear that at present the "paper" is null and void?
4. What other course might be taken?

C. G. S.

1. This is conceivable. One way to guard against it is to record a revocation against the power of attorney.
2. In general, a power of attorney not given as security nor "coupled with an interest" is revoked by the death of the grantor of the power.
3. This would not be enough.
4. See 2.

KAGAWA'S DIVORCE.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 11.—A TRIBUNE dispatch of June 10 says the wife of the Rev. Dr. Toyohika Kagawa has filed suit for divorce. She alleges he is "too faithful a servant of God." This is the classical complaint of the wives of such men as Socrates, the Rev. Dr. John Wesley, Count Leo Tolstoy, jealous of the husband's devotion to something more important than a wife. Such men regard a wife as a mere housekeeper, nurse, secretary, assistant, physiological cooperator, and expect her to be as completely wrapped up in the husband's mission as he is. Some women, like Bronson Alcott's wife, Jonathan Edwards' wife, many missionaries' wives, can lose themselves in their husbands' work, but many women prefer to be a ditch digger's wife and boss their husband and family. That type should not marry the idealistic, reformer, ascetic, self-sacrificing type of man, or the resulting friction will make both husband and wife unhappy.

When Toyohika Kagawa was in the United States in March, 1936, he worked so hard for his various church sponsors, he making several public addresses each day, that doctors had to place a limit on his activities. Newspaper accounts reported concerning him: "A portly little man in shoddy clothes, because he did not care. Fifty popular books—all of them best sellers, many of them in several lands—bring him in a big income, but he takes out $40 a month for his family of five and gives the rest away."

It must be remembered that "he was disinherited when he accepted Christ, and mercilessly beaten because he opposed the Russian-Japanese war," for, of course, he is a pacifist. He went to live in the slums of Kobe, and "was beaten for his preaching and opposition to commercialized vice. By sharing his house he contracted disease leaving him only part of his eyesight. He could live a life of ease with a government salary or from the income from his books, but he put nineteen-twentieths of his income into the work of God."

He does not believe in luxury for himself, his wife, nor anybody else. He believes in being both an ascetic and a hard worker. The dispatch says he wants her to continue as a nurse and slum worker for the poor, apparently as he has been. But she wants to live off his brains and income that he is giving away. Tolstoy compromised for years, then left home, rebelled. What will Kagawa do? No woman is necessary to a man of that type. St. Paul would tell him to let her go.

THEATRICAL FARE.

Chicago, June 4.—Why do some folks take their lunch to theaters? Before talkies scrunching potato chips, popcorn, peanuts, etc., only offended, but now noises actually prevent one from hearing the screen conversations.

Two and a half or three hours is a long time for a child to go without eating, but surely adults can control their hunger for that long or else indulge in less noisy food than potato chips or other scrunchy tidbits.

HELEN DAVIS.

WHILE LOOKING FOR ROSES.

Chicago, June 12.—I took the considerable walk to Jackson park and through Wooded Island in the expectation of seeing a garden of roses beginning to bloom. But there was no sign of a rose crop. Only a large crop of men handling tools but primarily engaged in a lively social hour, the while loudly bandying vulgarities that fell offensively, and more or less threateningly, on the ears of the woman passer-by.

PARK VISITOR.

THE MAKING OF SLUMS.

Chicago, June 11.—In the very engaging article by James O'Donnell Bennett on the ninety year life of THE TRIBUNE there is an implication which is deserving of emphasis, and that is that but for the inconsiderate employer there would be no slums. The article says that "there are no dreary camps" with their "lumber jacks" in the Canadian woods of THE TRIBUNE where the timber for pulp is grown. The three principal forest towns "are provided with good water and sanitation, electric light, central heating, primary schools, hospitals, and general stores, which THE TRIBUNE maintains, and with churches which it liberally aids." He says that employés are always regarded and spoken of as members of "THE TRIBUNE family."

It is lack of just consideration for those who contribute jointly with the owner of the enterprise to what is produced or brought about that has made the American slums the worst disgrace we bear. The man of affairs should learn to take the outlook of the statesman—to consider always the probable effect of his course upon his country—and not leave that field of welfare to office holding quacks promising bigger pay, easier days, and pensions, and unwittingly threatening the life of the republic.

THOMAS JAMES NORTON.

HOW BROAD ARE AMERICAN MINDS?

Chicago, June 13.—The strong undercurrent of disapproval in the letter of E. L. S. answering my contribution to the international romance symposium would, it is apparent, tend to establish my point. Evidently E. L. S. does not believe in elevating to the presidency any gentleman who even permits his children to obtain divorces. Indeed, this argument against the reëlection of Roosevelt was heard not infrequently during the last campaign and may perhaps have helped to account for the sixteen to seventeen million who voted against him. Except for a quite exceptional personal popularity and very precarious times it might have proved a really serious handicap. Can it be possible that we have been going on the assumption that Americans are more broad minded than they really are? It is one thing to tolerate a practice in private and quite another to give it official indorsement.

EVELYN MARIE STUART.

WE DON'T WEAR ONE, EITHER.

Chicago, June 11.—The editor of the Voice of the People and the policeman who stopped "Tax Payer" at Sheridan road and Grace street should read the Revised Chicago Code of 1931, section 3956, on the back of all dog license receipts.

It very distinctly states a dog on a leash does not have to be muzzled. And if I was "Tax Payer" I certainly would cross Sheridan road without a muzzle if my dog was on a leash.

J. A. F.

WHY SHOULD THEY?

Chicago, June 9.—I would like to know just why Mr. Comiskey does not reveal what the paid attendance is at each ball game. Most major league teams, including the Cubs, give the public this information. Why can't the Sox?

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY QUENTIN POPE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand.—It seems the behavior of Laborites when they reach power is the same the whole world over. In New Zealand before the Labor government gained its victory there was a great deal of talk about class struggle. Today as the nattily clad cabinet members of the Labor party dash about the country in sleek automobiles that note never is heard.

There could be no better example of the change which has taken place than the attitude toward Government house. This institution is the minor court of the dominions. Failure to attend its fêtes and parties is a sign of not being rated among the so-called social élite. To be invited to the wooden palace of the governor general, burly Lord Galway, in one of the various cities—for he maintains three of them—is a social victory which is appreciated at its proper worth.

Three years ago one wouldn't have found a Labor member worth his party rank anywhere near the place. The king's personal representative was regarded by Laborites as a visible sign of a class distinction which they must fight.

Today a Government house party is spattered with names of gentlemen who formerly refrained from having anything to do with them. But today, of course, those Labor stalwarts are no longer the plain citizens they used to be. They are "honorables." They have lost aggressiveness, but have gained in poise.

As a matter of fact, the Labor leaders have changed. They no longer are driven to assert noisily that their day will come and to pour out energy in an effort to persuade people that they count. Their day is at hand.

While the Labor government is willing to spend large sums of money on pet projects, there still exists a feeling money should not be squandered "recklessly."

When the duke of Gloucester, third son of the late King George V., visited New Zealand two years ago there were Labor resolutions against voting large sums for his entertainment while hungry unemployed men roamed the streets. But when the duke's elder brother, George VI., mounted the throne Prime Minister Michael J. Savage was on hand in black satin breeches and gold laced coat to watch the coronation. So was High Commissioner William J. Jordan, who used to be a member of the London police force, and Finance Minister Walter Nash.

And by a singular coincidence Secretary of Labor H. T. Armstrong arrived in London just at that moment on his way to the international labor conference at Geneva.

It was an event which was presaged a few months ago when the New Zealand government, along with the other dominions, lined up behind Britain in opposition to the match of Edward VIII. and Wallis Warfield. Such action would have been judged impossible a few years ago. The cry of their adversaries then would have been that the Laborites were disloyal. Today there seems little doubt that, radical as the Labor leaders may be [and no one knows just how far they are prepared to go], any imitation of President Eamon de Valera's tactics in the Irish Free State is not to be considered. Labor in office is empire-minded today.

REVISE JOBLESS INSURANCE BILL; EXPECT PASSAGE

Employers and Workers Agree on Changes.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—[Special.]—Representatives of labor and the Illinois Manufacturers' association agreed late today upon a revised unemployment insurance bill which was explained to the house of representatives and seems assured of passage.

David R. Clarke, attorney for the employers, and Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the State Federation of Labor, told the house they had conferred and had drawn amendments to the pending jobless insurance bill mutually satisfactory to those for whom they speak. The changes they approve will be drafted overnight and presented for adoption tomorrow.

Two Important Changes.

As explained by Olander and Clarke, the amendments would substitute for the present employers' reserve plan, embodied in the bill passed by the senate, the so-called "state pool" system, modified by a merit of rating for employers who have "a good employment experience"—in other words, those whose businesses require few layoffs.

The second important point in the agreement would extend from 13 to 16 weeks the length of time during which an unemployed person would receive compensation. The rate of pay would not be changed, remaining a scale based upon salary and ranging from $5 to $15 weekly.

Both Sides Satisfied.

Labor is satisfied because it wants the "pool" plan; the manufacturers are content because their payments into the pool will be decreased as their contributions to it mount over the unemployment benefits paid from it.

As it passed the senate the bill provided that five-sixths of the amount the employer would pay in would be set aside in a reserve fund under his name, while the remaining one-sixth went into a general pool. Unemployment compensation would be paid to those he laid off, first from the reserve fund and, should that be exhausted, then from the pool.

Labor wanted all funds pooled into one big jackpot, from which benefits would be paid to all as needed.

Sets Up Merit System.

The new plan, while calling for a general pool, would establish a merit system for employers, with the following provisions:

Employers are required to pay 2.7 per cent of their annual payroll for unemployment insurance and the pool would accumulate from July 1 for two years, after which benefits would be payable.

Accounts would be kept for each employer and his subsequent annual payments would be based upon the condition of the account. If the account showed an excess of contributions, over paid benefits, amounting to 7½ per cent, the annual rate would be cut from 2 7-10 to 1 8-10 per cent.

Payless Periods Possible.

If the excess of contributions over benefits totaled 10 per cent, the payments would be reduced further to 9-10 of 1 per cent, and if the excess were 12 per cent, the employer would pay nothing at all until his account fell below 12½ per cent.

The manufacturers regard the proposed amendments as approximating the essence of the employers' reserve plan.

Benjamin S. Adamowski [D., Chicago], the majority floor leader, is expected to handle the amendments tomorrow. Should they be adopted and the bill pass, it would have to be sent back to the senate for concurrence in the changes.

WILLEFORD MURDER TRIAL IS SPEEDED UP; JURY GETS CASE TODAY

The trial of Samuel Willeford, 30 years old, 2724 West 38th street, for slaying his wife's lover, Charles Truchan, 21 years old, was speeded toward a conclusion last night in Judge John Prystalski's Criminal court. The jury was selected and the hearing of evidence almost completed yesterday, the first day of the trial. It will be finished today.

Samuel Willeford.

Willeford took the witness stand and told the jurors that he became so angered of April 25 when Truchan refused to give up his wife that he shot and killed him. Judge Prystalski ruled that although the defense was not a legal one he could relate the events leading up to the shooting inasmuch as the jury fixes the punishment in a murder case.

Willeford's wife, Floris, and his three children, who are in the care of the Juvenile court, attended the trial yesterday.

$11.20 PAY SET FOR WOMEN IN LAUNDRY WORK

Under the authority of the state minimum fair wage law authority, State Director of Labor Martin P. Durkin yesterday issued an order, effective Aug. 2, fixing minimum wages for women and minors employed in the laundry industry. The base pay is divided into three state districts. For district No. 1, comprising Cook, Will, Lake, Du Page, and Kane counties, Durkin orders 28 cents an hour, or $11.20 a week for a full forty hour week. District No. 2 sets a minimum of $10 and district No. 3 $9.20.

ILLINOIS HOUSE VOTES TO RAISE MEMBERS' PAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—[Special.]—By a vote of 96 to 24 the Illinois house of representatives tonight passed the Frible-Benson bill increasing the salaries for all members of the general assembly from $3,500 to $5,000 for the biennium. The senate passed the same bill on May 19.

Ald. Coughlin.

The pay boost now is ready for consideration by Gov. Henry Horner. Some house members said privately they had received word he would sign the bill, although it means an increase of $306,000 in the biennial appropriations.

Incumbents will not receive any benefit during their present terms, but most of them hope for reëlection and, since most of the governor's own appropriations still are pending, it was felt he would hesitate a long time before vetoing this measure.

Pensions for Aldermen.

Pensions of $2,500 annually for veteran Chicago aldermen could be made possible if a senate bill, amended quietly in the house by Representative Charles J. Jenkins [R., Chicago] is passed, the house was surprised to learn today.

Jenkins raised from three to five the number of beneficiaries who would profit from a bill passed in the senate. As introduced by Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago] the measure would have permitted the Chicago city council to vote a pension only for former Ald. John A. Richert, now and for many years the budget expert on the finance committee staf.

By an amendment the measure then was worded so it also would apply to Ald. James B. Bowler, whose long term was interrupted by a period as vehicle commissioner, and to James A. Kearns, another veteran who was clerk of the Municipal court for some years.

In that form the measure passed the senate and was sent to the house. There Rep. Jenkins amended it, without fanfare, so it would apply to any person who had served in an elective city job for 20 years and had reached the age of 65. This extension would bring in Ald. John J. [Bath House John] Coughlin [1st] and Ald. Robert R. Jackson [3d], both of whom meet the qualifications.

BOY'S EYE HURT BY AN EXPLOSION OF FIRECRACKER

While playing with firecrackers in his yard at 14118 Chicago road, Dolton, Reid Wilson, 14 years old, received a serious eye injury yesterday. He was taken to Roseland Community hospital.

The boy had lighted a firecracker and placed a pop bottle cap over it. When it failed to go off at once he bent over to examine the fuse. Then the firecracker exploded, blowing the metal cap against his right eye.

The accident caused authorities again to stress the need of a sane and safe Fourth of July by prohibiting the sale of fireworks in the county. Chicago and a number of suburbs, including Dolton, now forbid their sale.

REDISTRICTING OF STATE DEFEATED BY DOWNSTATERS

28 Senators Vote Against Constitutional Proviso.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—[Special.]—Without a break in their ranks downstaters in the Illinois senate today defeated once more the demand that the state legislative districts be reapportioned in conformity with the constitution.

A bill by Senator Harold G. Ward [D. Chicago] was beaten, 18 to 28. On each side there was one absentee, and those present divided precisely on the line between Cook county and downstate.

The state has not been redistricted since 1900. The constitution requires it after every decennial census. The censuses of 1910, 1020, and 1930 passed without action. In every session since 1930, this being the fourth Ward has fought for the bill. It would give Cook county the number of districts to which the constitution entitles it—twenty-six out of the total of fifty-one.

The Vote Against.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Burgess | Karraker | Sieberns |
| Clifford | Lohmann | Stuttle |
| Fribley | Madden | Thomas |
| Harper | Menges | Woodard |
| Heckenkamp | Monroe | |

REPUBLICANS—14.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Baker | Dixon | Laughlin |
| Barr | Downing | Paddock |
| Beckman | Ewing | Searcy |
| Benson | Gunning | Tuttle |
| Crisenberry | Lantz | |

The downstater absent was Wilber H. Hickman [D., Paris]. The Chicago absentee was Prof. T. V. Smith. There are three vacancies, so the total number of senators now is 48.

Ward called up his bill with a simple statement of the constitutional requirement and said that it would give Cook county the 26 districts it would have if the constitution were complied with.

George M. Maypole, president pro tem., reminded the senators that the constitution "required" every member of the senate to vote "aye."

Opponents Treat It Lightly.

Richard J. Barr [R., Joliet] was the only member who opposed the bill in a serious tone. He contended that no county should have a majority in the legislature. Others who opposed the bill spoke of it facetiously. They include T. M. Downing [R., Macomb], James O. Monroe [D., Collinsville], and D. T. Woodard [D., Grayville].

The first real life in the voting machine bill was shown when the senate passed it by a vote of 32 to 5 and sent it to the house for consideration. The measure would authorize election authorities to purchase voting machines and provides for a compulsory referendum in a local government upon petition of 2 per cent of the voters.

Gets Fourth Divorce

Mrs. Elizabeth Martin and daughter, Nancy.

Judge Joseph B. David yesterday granted Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, 35 years old, 3072 5th avenue, a divorce from her fourth husband, Bruce, 52 years old. The court commented, however, that the alleged cruelty during the two days they lived together after their marriage last Aug. 4 was not fully substantiated. When he learned they spent their honeymoon in Kentucky, Judge David wanted to know if they were related to the Martins of the famous ballad about the mountain feud between the Martins and the Coys. Mrs. Martin's daughter, Nancy, by a former marriage, was in court.

NEW SALEM PARK OPENS RUTLEDGE TAVERN TODAY

New Salem State Park, Ill., June 16.—(AP)—A chapter out of the life of Abraham Lincoln will be reënacted here tomorrow when Illinois dedicates the Rutledge tavern, which is the newest addition to New Salem State park, the reconstructed frontier village from which Lincoln launched his career. Prominent on the program will be Ann Rutledge, a high school graduate from Ottumwa, Ia., and great-grandniece of the Ann Rutledge whose death followed her promise to marry Lincoln. Gov. Horner and other state officials, planning to continue the historical restoration of the village, will dedicate a reproduction of the tavern of James Rutledge, father of Lincoln's affianced.

EXTRA GIRL SEES CHICAGO'S ROSS: 'THAT'S THE MAN'

Tells Mama He Attacked Her at Party.

The encounter occurred in the anteroom to the grand jury where Miss Douglas had testified concerning the asserted assault. Ross was waiting in the witness room for his turn on the witness stand when Miss Douglas passed through.

Tells Mother He's the One.

Gazing levelly at him, the girl did not speak. After a second she turned and fled from the room to her mother, who was waiting outside. Sobbing on her shoulder, the girl said:

"That's the man. That's him, all right."

Before the plump 20 year old blonde took the witness stand Ross had secluded himself in a nearby office, issuing no statement except to deny the accusation.

Charges Fake Call.

In an affidavit made in the presence of her attorneys, William J. F. Brown and Helen King, Miss Douglas has charged that she was induced to attend the party on a motion picture company ranch near Hollywood believing that she was to take part in a film.

When she arrived at the scene with 120 other extras, the girl said, she found they were expected to entertain a large group of visiting sales executives for a motion picture company. Upon attempting to leave, Miss Douglas averred, Ross followed her and beat and attacked her.

DRIVERS' LICENSE STILL HELD UP BY PATRONAGE ROW

Senate Refuses to Budge on Jobs Amendment.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—[Special.]—There were some parliamentary gestures over the drivers' license bill this afternoon, but the status of the legislation was not changed. The enactment remained stymied by the Democratic factional squabble for patronage.

Yesterday Gov. Henry Horner's forces blocked progress. Today the followers of P. A. Nash, chairman of the Cook county Democratic central committee, barred the way. That's as it has been for weeks.

This afternoon the senate received notice from the house that the representatives last night refused to concur in the senate amendments to the governor's drivers' license bill.

Senate Stands Pat, 34 to 9.

The one amendment of concern to the politicians—and of little concern to motorists—would shift the administration of the act from the governor's highway department to the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, a protégé of Mr. Nash.

The senators, with Nash constituents in control, voted 34 to 9 not to recede from their amendments.

The bill was sent back to the house with a message that the senate had refused to recede. The representatives adopted a motion for the speaker to appoint five members to meet with five members of the senate as a conference committee. This is routine procedure in such instances. Many legislators believe the procedure will be futile in this instance, since this session of the assembly will end a week from next Wednesday.

May Act on Rival Bill.

Tomorrow the representatives may act on the Menges-Benson driver bill, which has passed the senate and is on second reading in the house. Its main provisions are: Registration of all drivers without fee; revocation by courts only; no examination.

Without the examination requirements and with the license permanent rather than for three years, administration costs would be at a minimum. Safety experts dispute the value of testing applicants, anyway. The costs of administration would be covered by the regular budget of the secretary of state, still pending in the assembly. The money would come from the ever-growing revenue from license plates.

Mrs. Helen Maloney Butler Dies at Home in New York

Mrs. Helen Maloney Butler, formerly of Chicago, died yesterday at her home in New York. Mrs. Butler was the daughter of Peter J. Maloney, former member of the Chicago Board of Trade and widely known in the financial district here. He is now a governor of the New York Stock exchange. The family has lived in New York for twenty years. Mrs. Butler's husband, William M. Butler, is a son of the late James Butler, noted New York hotel builder and sportsman.

BOY STEALS RIDE ON MILK TRUCK; FALLS OFF; KILLED

Matthew Brophy Jr., 15 years old, 8126 Ellis avenue, was crushed to death yesterday when he fell from a milk truck on which he and three boy companions were stealing a ride. The other boys fled after the accident, which occurred in front of 4837 Cottage Grove avenue. Max Brown, 42 years old, 3005 West 19th street, the driver, told police he did not know the boys had hopped on the truck.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 485 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. During the same period, 375 of the number were killed and 9,537 injured in Chicago.

JEAN HARLOW'S ENTIRE ESTATE IS LEFT TO MOTHER

Hollywood, Cal., June 16.—[Special.]—The entire estate of the late Jean Harlow, film actress, will go to the star's mother, Mrs. Jean Harlow Bello, according to a petition for probate filed in Superior court today. Miss Harlow, whose death June 7 stunned Hollywood, named Mrs. Bello sole beneficiary in a three page document signed on Sept. 5, 1935.

The petition for probate states only that the estate will exceed $10,000 in value, but that it has no probable annual income. Miss Harlow reputedly left property and cash valued at more than $100,000, but in what form was not disclosed in the petition.

Contingent beneficiaries named in the will are Miss Harlow's grandparents, S. D. and Ella Williams Harlow of Kansas City, and her cousin, Donald Williams Roberson of Los Angeles.

WOMAN GETS 90 DAYS FOR FLIGHT IN DEATH CRASH

Receives Longest Term in Safety Court.

(Pictures on back page.)

Mrs. Marie Taylor, 28 years old, 626 West 46th place, was sentenced by Judge George B. Weiss in Safety court yesterday to serve 90 days in the House of Correction for leaving the scene of an accident. It was the severest penalty ever imposed on a woman here for a trafic violation.

Arrested in Tavern.

Mrs. Taylor fled from the scene on April 19 after her car fatally injured Pasquale Dattisca, 1659 West Ohio stret, near 543 North Ashland avenue. She was arrested in a tavern at 3120 North Clark stret, where she was formerly a waitress. Later she was freed by a coroner's jury of a manslaughter charge.

Mrs. Velma Harriss Sachs, 29 years old, 925 Montrose avenue, was sentenced to ten days in County jail for driving while intoxicated. She was arrested May 13 when she drove into a parked car, across the sidewalk, and into a grocery window at 4527 Sheridan road. She is the sister of Lloyd and George Harriss, owners of the Harriss Pie company.

For Drunk Driving.

Louis Culewicz, 45 years old, 3350 South Wood street, and Edward Burns, 33 years old, 1464 Carmen avenue, were sentenced to ten days for driving while intoxicated.

Thomas Fitzgerald, 23 years old, 7348 Woodlawn avenue, was sentenced to five days for reckless driving after an accident May 23 at West 127th and Halsted streets.

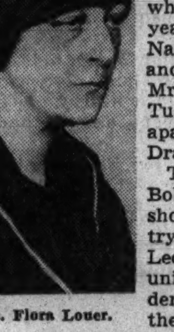
MRS. FLORA LOUER, 60, MOTHER OF THE SLAIN BOBBY FRANKS, IS DEAD

Funeral services will be held in the Rosehill chapel at 2:30 p. m. today for Mrs. Flora Franks Louer, 60 years old, mother of Bobby Franks who was slain 13 years ago by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb. Mrs. Louer died Tuesday in her apartment at the Drake hotel.



Mrs. Flora Louer.

The slaying of Bobby Franks shocked the country. Loeb and Leopold, brilliant university students, confessed they killed the boy in their plan to commit the perfect crime for a thrill. Both pleaded guilty and were sentenced to life and 99 years in prison. A year ago Loeb was stabbed to death in prison by a fellow convict.

After the death of her husband in 1928, Mrs. Franks married Albert S. Louer, an attorney. Besides her husband Mrs. Louer is survived by her mother, Mrs. Bertha Gresham; a sister, Mrs. Blanche Giddens of New York; a brother, Edwin Gresham, and two children, Mrs. Josephine Glaser of Highland Park, and Jack M. ## GIRL WRECKER OF CAB HAS BUSY DAY IN COURTS

Miss Kathryn Fitzgibbons, 25 years old, who drove away in a taxicab June 2 and wrecked it, had a long day in court yesterday. Miss Fitzgibbons, who gave addresses of 730 Ridge avenue, Evanston, and 803 Roslyn lane, Highland Park, was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge early yesterday following a disturbance in her room at the Maryland hotel, 900 Rush street.

In the Women's court of Judge Joseph B. Hermes she said she had screamed to ward off a man who had forced entrance to her room. On Judge Hermes' advice she obtained a warant accusing Norman Miller, proprietor of the 885 club, 885 Rush street, of disorderly conduct. Judge Hermes then continued the hearing until next Tuesday.

Later, Miss Fitzgibbons appeared before Judge Francis Borelli on a charge of driving an automobile without the owner's consent, which grew out of the taxicab incident. Judge Borelli ordered an examination by the Criminal court behavior clinic, and continued the case to July 1 to await the report of Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, head of the clinic.

RICHARD STEARNS $600,000 ESTATE IS LEFT TO WIDOW

Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday admitted to probate the will of Richard I. Stearns, former owner of the Stearns Stone and Lime company, disposing of a $600,000 estate. Mr. Stearns, a brother-in-law of the late Carter Harrison Sr., left his estate in trust for his widow, Susanne, 219 Lake Shore drive. He died May 3 at the age of 90.

The will of Mrs. Jennie Campbell, widow of Daniel A. Campbell, who served as Chicago postmaster from 1907 until 1917, was admitted to probate. Mrs. Campbell died April 22 at the age of 76. She left the bulk of her $200,000 estate to four nieces and nephews, Genevieve Campbell James, William Cyrus Kubyml, Margaret Campbell, and Anna Bruce Frehler.

The will of John T. Connery, president of the Edgewater Beach Hotel corporation, disposing of a $110,000 estate, was also admitted to probate. Mr. Connery, who died June 5, left the bulk of his estate to four children, Lillian Connery Martin, John T. Jr., Mary Bidwill Nelson, and John T. II., the latter two adopted children.

CHICAGOANS GIVE DORMITORY FUND TO U. OF MICHIGAN

Will Finance Half Cost of $200,000 Structure.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 16.—[Special.]—Good news from Chicago enlivened this third day of the University of Michigan's celebration of its one-hundredth anniversary.

The University of Michigan Club of Chicago informed President Alexander G. Ruthven that it will finance half the cost of a $200,000 dormitory which is to house a hundred students and construction of which has started. The new building, so it is said on the campus today, will probably be named "Chicago house" in recognition of the loyalty and liberality of Michigan's 5,000 alumni living in Chicago and vicinity.

In contrast to this gift from nearby comes news of one from far away.

Cherry Trees Presented.

It is made by Hanji Soma, a Japanese industrialist who took the degree of master of science here thirty-four years ago and who appeared on the campus today with a thanks offering of 10,000 yen [nearly $3,000] in remembrance of what the university did for him. The money is to be used in chemical research.

In the name of other Japanese alumni, Mr. Soma presented 200 Japanese cherry trees, like those which are a nationally famous adornment of Washington. They are to be planted on that part of the campus called Sleepy Hollow, near the university's hospital buildings.

Everybody was eager this morning to hear what Alumnus Frank Murphy, class of 1914, governor of Michigan and former governor general of the Philippine Islands, might say on the tense industrial situation in Michigan.

Greeted by 1,000 Alumni.

The young governor, vigorous, optimistic, and fluent, was cordially greeted by a thousand alumni assembled in Hill auditorium and in opening a conference on the mission of universities in a business, he said:

"We, in quite a strict sense, are on an unknown sea. There is no charted path. We must think straight and direct. We must exercise judgment more profound than that of those who preceded us.

"In a generation American life has been transformed. We have created these great industrial establishments where thousands of men are under the control of one head. The creative craftsmanship of the old days has disappeared. We have created the machine which, with all its blessings, has brought industrial strife.

Stresses Fundamentals.

"Rather than pay too much attention to wrong and wilful acts on one side or the other, we should give our attention to fundamentals, broad and significant, which underlie our problem. The machine has made work easier, but it has made the job less secure."

The most widely known business magnate who spoke at the conference on the mission of universities in the world of business was Cornelius F. Kelley of New York, who was graduated from the University of Michigan thirty-nine years ago. He is now president of the Anaconda Copper Mining company and president and director of many other mining corporations from Montana to Chile.

To the question he put, "Does a College Education Pay?" his answer was an emphatic "yes," and he added that it pays as big returns in the active business pursuits as it does in the professions.

Emphasizes Advantages.

"Higher education," he said, "has been chiefly responsible for the vast developments in the economic structure of modern life.

"The broad fields of science that formerly were tilled chiefly in theoretic quest have become indispensable adjuncts to successful business endeavor.

"And the trained and educated mind possesses an undeniable advantage—in business life as elsewhere—over the mind less disciplined.

"The 31,000 persons listed in the 1935 edition of 'Who's Who in America,' include most of the leaders in American business. Seventy-five out of every one hundred of those 31,000 graduated from college and eighty-six out of every one hundred attended college.

"The answer is so decisive as to render superfluous any plea for the higher education of men and women who intend to make a career of business."

Mrs. Grace Kramer, 25 years old, 3109 South California avenue, yesterday described her husband, Peter, a former street car conductor, as a kleptomaniac and dipsomaniac. Once he stole a street car on a wild drunken ride, she testified. Judge Joseph B. David gave Mrs. Kramer a divorce, $10 a week and custody of the baby.

DARKNESS HALTS STRANGE DIGGING IN PARSONS CASE

Stony Brook, N. Y., June 16.—(AP)—Lack of lighting facilities in a dense thicket near the home of the missing Mrs. Alice Parsons kept secret tonight the purport of digging activities which caused a flurry in the investigation into her disappearance.

Told by a minor officer in the investigation who declined to be quoted that what appeared to be a newly made grave was being investigated, observers were able to see shortly before dark that at least two white clad figures were digging at a spot a short distance back into the thicket. Before it could be approached, however, darkness prevented finding of the spot in the jungle-like undergrowth. The digging apparently had ceased. Federal bureau of investigation agents ignored the grave report and did not seek the spot.

The report drew many cars to the Parsons home. William H. Parsons, husband of the missing woman, came out, inquired the cause of the excitement, and refused to discuss its portent.

KNOX GRADUATES HEAR WARNING ON PERIL TO LIBERTY

Dr. Cowling Is Speaker at 100th Commencement.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Galesburg, Ill., June 16.—[Special.]—Freedom of opinion, "the most precious of life," in which American democracy and the sovereignty of the individual is rooted is menaced today by a new political and social philosophy and its continuance is not guaranteed Dr. Donald J. Cowling, president of Carleton college in Minnesota, declared today in an unusually frank commencement address at Knox college.

Dr. Cowling was the speaker at the inauguration of Dr. Carter Davidson as eleventh president of Knox in a ceremony which climaxed the five day centenary celebration of Knox and Galesburg.

The American democracy and the small liberal arts college are in the same boat, on the same tempestuous sea as far as the future is concerned Dr. Cowling said. He added that support in greater measure should be given the colleges because there freedom is nurtured and leaders are developed.

Cites State Influences.

"The college," Dr. Cowling declared, "is freer than any state university. Look at Minnesota. Its state university has an outstanding president, but if any one thinks he has the freedom I have he is not informed.

"Three years ago the party in power desired to publish text books. They talked of costs and other things, but what they were really interested in was editing the text books. One senator got hold of copy that had been prepared for the text books. He sent out a letter about it, showing that in instruction in English classical quotations were mingled with references to the Farmer-Labor party and praise for the governor.

Individualism Stressed.

In his inaugural address President Davidson carried out this note, summing up his philosophy of education and life in this phrase:

"Not regimentation, but individualization, is the essence of democratic society."

The individualism of the pioneers was interpreted today by Dr. Davidson as an education in taste and discrimination. It involves knowledge of natural laws operating in man and nature, the scientific approach to every problem, a development of expression and humor, he declared.

Dr. Davidson is 32 years old, the youngest president of a major American institution of learning. He was appointed last year from Carleton college, where he was professor of English and assistant to the president.

WALTER E. SCOTT OF 'DEATH VALLEY' AND WIFE IN SETTLEMENT

Long Beach, Cal., June 16.—(AP)—Settlement of the $2,500 a montn separate maintenance suit brought against Walter E. [Death Valley] Scott, famous desert rat, by his wife, Ella Josephine, was announced today.

Counsel for Mrs. Scott and the mysterious Scotty declined to disclose terms, however, although it was reported that Scotty and his codefendant in the suit, Albert M. Johnson, will pay her certain monthly instalments.

Mrs. Scott sued her husband for $2,500 a month, $50,000 attorney's fees, and division of community property.

HOLD FATHER OF HIKING BABY ON WIFE'S CHARGE

John F. Willey, 23 years old, of Des Moines, Ia., was locked up at the Chicago detective bureau last night after he had fooled police into believing a story that he had hitchhiked here from Denver, Colo., with his 1 year old motherless son in his arms. Willey told the story to a trafic policeman at Randolph and State streets. Sympathetic bystanders promptly collected $15 for the young father. Police took the baby to St. Vincent's hospital. Several hours later Des Moines police read a news dispatch on the incident and they sent word to Chicago that Willey was wanted there for deserting his wife, Lillian, mother of the baby. Willey then admitted he had left his home on Monday, and, on reaching Chicago, had concocted the hitchhiking tale. He agreed to return to Des Moines.

Knee Breeches Are Out for Arthur Treacher.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 16.—[Special.]—Knee breeches had been decreed for Arthur Treacher, as well as for all the other actors playing in Shirley Temple's Tyrolean idyll "Heidi." Treacher, whose physique is almost pure beanpole, couldn't get anybody to listen to his complaints about the pants, so he sped home and unearthed a snapshot of himself, taken when 13.

It was the first and only public appearance of Arthur's shanks. He laid the photo on the desk of Director Allan Dwan, with this simple announcement: "My knees, Mr. Dwan. If you are not thinking of me, think of the production." Dwan took a look and ordered long trousers for Treacher's costume.

Henry M. Stanley, American newspaper man-explorer, quietly greeted David Livingstone, missing British missionary, in Nov. 1871, at the native village of Ujiji, after a hazardous ten months trek through the jungles of British East Africa. When the meeting is dramatized on the screen the main emphasis is to be on Stanley.

First steps were taken for the picture, titled "Stanley and Livingstone," this week with the dispatching to Africa of a Twentieth Century-Fox camera crew under supervision of Osa Johnson and Director Otto Brower. Mrs. Johnson is the widow of the big game hunter and motion picture explorer, Martin Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson, barely recovered from the airplane accident in which her husband was killed, will lead the camera crew and a party of native hunters and porters over much of the route followed by Stanley.

In the dozen years the Johnsons spent in Africa, Mrs. Johnson, has been over a great deal of the jungle country through which Stanley sought the missionary.

The expedition is scheduled to get under way about July 1 from Nairobi in Kenya colony, British East Africa. Brower, Mrs. Johnson, and their technical crew will pick up a large party of natives and supplies for which Mrs. Johnson has made arrangements.

Their thousand mile trek will then strike southwesterly through the dangerous Tanganyika country to Ujiji, on the shores of Lake Tanganyika.

The studio estimates three months will be consumed on the trek if everything goes well, but is allotting a time leeway for unexpected difficulties. In fact, studio executives believe the picture may not be released for more than a year.

The inspiration behind the expedition is Darryl Zanuck, producer in charge at Twentieth Century. The African scene will constitute about one-seventh of the actual picture, with the remainder to be photographed on the studio's Westwood lot here. Zanuck, to whom Stanley always seemed a personal hero, insisted that the stamp of authenticity be placed on the dramatization by filming jungle sequences in Africa rather than faking them in Florida or Mexico.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE LIGHT DOUBLE AFTER A NO TRUMP BID.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The greatest opportunities for paying doubles occur when partner has made an opening bid of one no trump and an opponent is so foolish as to overcall. The no trump bid gives so much information that the responder can gauge the defensive possibilities of the combined hands with precision never known before the new Culbertson no trump bid was introduced.

Consider the following case:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | 1 no trump | 2 clubs | |

East holds: ♠ K 4 2 ♥ 10 7 5 3 ♦ K J ♣ 10 6 5 4. He knows that West has at least four honor tricks and at least three clubs. Therefore East-West have between them five honor tricks to North's three, and seven clubs to North's six. A big penalty is almost sure, whereas with only five honor tricks and no long suit a no trump game for East and West would be unlikely.

The no trump bidder does not take out a penalty double of this type, for he already has given exact information on his hand and must assume that the doubler knows what he is doing.

TODAY'S HAND.

The bidding:

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 heart | Pass | 1 no trump | 3 clubs |
| Pass | 3 no trump | Pass | Pass |
| Pass | | | |

North's three club bid was far from good, but it must be admitted that it turned out well.

West decided to make a surprise attack and, instead of opening partner's suit, led the deuce of diamonds. Dummy played the jack and East's king held the trick. East then made a fatal error. On the hope that partner had led from a five card diamond suit and would duck a return lead, thus leaving a diamond communication card in East's hand, East returned the nine of diamonds. Unfortunately for the defenders, this play clinched the contract since it established a diamond trick in dummy for the ninth trick.

If East had done a little counting of tricks he would have seen that there was no reason to conjecture about the length of West's diamond suit. Seven club tricks were staring East in the face. The heart king was marked in declarer's hand, as was the spade ace! It was this latter factor with which East should have reckoned. Had West held the spade ace in addition to the diamond ace already shown, he either would have taken more action over the original heart bid or would have doubled the final contract. Thus, since to establish either a heart or a diamond trick for declarer was a case of presenting him with nine tricks. East easily should have seen that the one hope was to establish spade tricks before declarer could set up either a heart or diamond. The lead of the spade king, of course, would have produced this result.

It is a physical impossibility for any one to defend properly unless he counts the declarer's visible and marked tricks.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: The bidding has been:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 diamond | Double | Redouble | ? |

What should East do, holding:
♠ 8 7 3 ♥ 10 8 5 4 ♦ 9 2 ♣ Q 8 7 4?

Answer: East should bid one heart.

Marriage Not Barred to the Middle Aged

Spinsters Have Excellent Chances Today.

BY DORIS BLAKE.
[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The plight of the middle aged woman suddenly awake to the isolated state into which she has let herself drift appears in letter form today.

Says Middle Aged: "True, my case is a difficult one to handle. I do not even know if there is any solution for us women who have let the best years go by. Many of us, like myself, devoted those best years to helping young relatives and often their parents into better living and schooling conditions. Perhaps, as in my case, there are many duplicates of the single woman aunt, earning a fair salary, who takes over the job of an irresponsible parent whose vice is drink and sees his family through their most trying financial periods.

"Understand, I am not saying I would not do it over again did circumstances so prescribe. Nor would I say I did not get a great deal of pleasure out of doing things for my young nieces and nephews.

"Yes, I know I should have married. I should have said yes to that one particular suitor of mine who could not at the time understand my sense of responsibility toward a beloved sister, married to a profligate mate, and her young brood.

"Marriage looks helpless to me now, although I have kept myself up exceptionally well, I believe. But that companionship that we all crave eats away at my soul as a never ending yerning. Is there a chance for it? Or must I fill in my life with good deeds to engage my time? What do you think?"

We do think that the chance for the yerned-for companionship lies not in merely yerning but getting into such activities and interests as will induce acquaintance making. The lift that has been given mature women of recent days through the accomplished romance of that much mentioned woman for whom a throne was abandoned should prove a goad to the spirit. It's more than a little disheartening to look back upon those years given over to others, but refusing to let them warp the disposition, recognizing the handicaps of the "fifth wheel" woman, and determining that if other older women have jumped the hurdle you can do it, too, is about the only equipment with which the companionship seeker can arm herself hopefully. It's proved excellent equipment, however, time and again.

Being Dressed Gently Adds to Infant's Cheer

He Resents Tossing and Tackling Technique.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Dressing the baby isn't as simple as it sounds. Nor is it just a matter of getting his clothes on him, by hook or by crook. It is quite the expected thing for him to wiggle, wave, and squirm. He sees no need for clothes. He wants to be entirely unhampered in all his movements. It annoys him or actually enrages him to be kept from moving freely. Just take hold of a waving little hand or a wriggling pink foot and try to keep it still if you don't believe me. The chances are he will cry a little or howl or turn red with anger.

The point is that babies resist being dressed [undressing isn't quite so bad] because they resent being restrained, so it behooves an inexperienced mother to try to make a good job of this part of her baby's routine. There are several reasons why she should.

First, if she does it well she can really enjoy it, and since most of a mother's associations with her small baby are tied up with physical care, she might as well make it pleasant for both of them.

Second, her baby won't fuss then and cry and be miserable, which are bad for him.

And, third, a smooth, deft performance "conditions" her baby in a desirable way, that is, it paves the way for later coöperation and self-help on his part because it gives him pleasant associations with dressing.

Here, then, are some practical points:

Have everything possible ready and at hand before you start the dressing process.

Have garments that are easy to put on, which means large openings, simple fastenings, and some open-down-the-back slips and dresses.

Dress your baby on a table or bed if possible. They are safer than your lap.

Hold him firmly when you have to, but also gently and smoothly. Babies hate roughness and jerkiness.

Where you can, put feet into a garment first. Babies abhor having their heads covered or clothes pulled laboriously over them. Where an arm has to be pulled through a sleeve enclose the outspread, supple fingers in your hand so they don't catch and get turned back.

And don't become nervous and impatient because you are in a hurry.

Crisply Styled for Summer

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

You can't help but appear fresh, crisp, and immaculate no matter what the temperature reading for the day if you wear this cool dress. There are no "fuss or feathers" details to make you uncomfortable and warm. And yet, although this dress is plain as can be, it is not severe. It is a grand model for all kinds of daytime activity, and whether you are maid or matron you will like it for the varied occasions of a busy day.

The neckline is square and may be bound with either bias binding or rickrack braid. A button does duty at the left shoulder and another on the slim belt. Both sleeves and belt are bound with the same trimming selected for the neckline and the bottom of the attractive shoulder yoke. Paneling lends distinctive lines to this model and shirring, briefly introduced beneath the yoke, gives just the correct amount of fullness.

There is simply no material which will not make up beautifully in this model. You may select sheers or heavier cottons and silks. Both pastels and dark shades are ideal, and either plain colors or prints. Older women, especially, will like this model in a dark shade.

Style No. 2783 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with 5¼ yards of binding.

Average Harvard Grad of 1927 Is Making $5,200 a Year Now

Cambridge, Mass., June 16.—(AP)—The average Harvard student of 10 years ago has an income of $5,200 a year, is satisfied with his career, believes his college education was worth while, and "drinks" for relaxation, according to the annual report of the class of 1927 issued today.

In answer to a questionnaire, a majority of the class, which holds its annual reunion next week, said they were married, had children, lived in rented apartments in fairly large cities, and were in business, practicing law or medicine or teaching, saved little and "never speculated in the stock market."

Modern Nest—
Panhandlers—
Correction—
Pro or Con.

UP to date nature note. A catbird has built a nest almost entirely of cellophane—cigar wrappers and such—in a lilac bush near Burlington, Wis. There are two beautiful blue eggs in it, according to Bulletineer Marion Dwyer.

MILD weather has brought in a new type of panhandler. These specialists have their own sales methods and operate in North Michigan avenue, La Salle street, and other thoroughfares trod by the prosperous. Victims are selected largely by their apparel. Your chance of being solicited is excellent if you wear a light colored suit, according to Charles Grant, who has worked out a kind of chart on the subject.

This is based on the theory that light colored clothes are a luxury and that the wearer therefore has means. The combination of a light weight overcoat and a straw hat means you are bound to be accosted—and more than once. This outfit stamps the wearer as a millionaire in the panhandler reckoning.

A well dressed man accompanied by a woman is considered a fine target, the panhandler estimating that the man will be ashamed to turn down his request for alms in the presence of a lady. "The only defense in this case," adds Mr. Grant, "is a straight lead to the jaw. The cadger expects it because he knows he is hitting below the belt himself."

Lake Forest Horse Show Opens Today

Exhibitors, Guests Arrive for Annual Event.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT was raining yesterday afternoon in Lake Forest when the unencouraging weather man's report came through. Even the prospect of a rainy morning for the opening day of the long heralded Lake Forest horse show at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Onwentsia club did not dampen the spirits of Donald B. Douglas, president of the show, and the members his large committee, who have worked so intensely to make the show a success, financially, for the Hospital Association of Lake Forest.

Exhibitors, horses, and visitors have poured into Lake Forest during the last two days. The boxes all are under cover, so the spectators will keep dry—if it does rain—once they have reached their seats.

Adrian Van Sinderen, new president of the Horse Show Association of America, and Ms. Van Sinderen are arriving today from Glenholme Farm, N. Y., to be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blake Dick in Lake Forest for the show. The Dicks are giving a buffet luncheon at home today before going on to the Onwentsia club grounds, where they will watch their own horses as well as the Van Sinderens' in competition.

Canadian Officers Guests at Party.

The four Canadian officers from the governor general's horse guards who will ride in team competition with Fort Sheridan and Fort Leavenworth Kas., have arrived and are at the Deerpath Inn. They are Col. A. E. Nash, Col. Arthur Everett, Capt. Alfred Bunting, and Capt. John Cleland. With Mrs. John T. Willey, wife of Capt. Willey of the Fort Leavenworth team, they shared honors as especial guests at a cocktail party given yesterday by Capt. and Mrs. Edwin C. Greiner at Fort Sheridan. Capt. Greiner will ride on Fort Sheridan's team with Col. Paul Davison and Maj. Paul Morris.

Miss Mary Fisher of Lexington, Ky.; the Lewis Bredins of Grosse Pointe, Mich., who have many friends in Lake Forest; Miss Frances Dodge of Rochester, Minn.; the A. A. Schlesingers of Milwaukee, and Miss Jane Johnson of St. Louis, Mo., are a few of the other out of town exhibitors who will take part in the whirl of parties that will accompany the show.

Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, the John B. McIlvaines and Mrs. Kimball Salisbury will give a luncheon at the Onwentsia tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. James B. Douglas Jr., the Farwell Winstons, and Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson will give luncheon parties at their homes on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Connors will entertain at luncheon on Sunday, and Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews King will give a tea Sunday after the show.

The social highlight of the four day event will be the horse show ball Saturday night at the Onwentsia. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Douglas will give a cocktail party that evening. There will be night classes tonight and tomorrow night. Mornings will be devoted to elimination trials for the afternoon sessions which will begin at 2 o'clock each day.

Reveal Engagement of Susan Follansbee.

Romantic news of interest is being revealed this morning with the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Davis Follansbee of the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to Robert Cameron-Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith of Wilmette.

It is the second engagement to be announced recently in the Follansbee family, for their younger son, Rogers, is engaged to Miss Nancy Avery, daughter of the Sewell Averys.

Miss Follansbee attended the Girls' Latin school and Miss Wheeler's in Providence, R. I. After a year at Bryn Mawr she transferred to the National College of Education in Evanston, from which she was graduated in 1935. She has been teaching

Good Morning!

Over English and Irish teacups in the 1880s:

"Bzz-zz-zz! Charles Parnell and Kitty O'Shea . . .! Bzz-zz-zzz!"

Two names that made history—romantic, scandalous, and tragic—names belonging to a pulse quickening pair whose romance somewhat paralleled that of Wallis Simpson and David Windsor. . . .

This picture is based on the clandestine love affair of their owners, Charles Stewart Parnell, brilliant Irish exponent for Irish independence in the critical fight for the same in 1880, and the glamorous Mrs. Kitty O'Shea, wife of one of his party members.

Parnell could hold a house of commons spellbound. His was an electric personality that dominated all conferences in committee room 15. He was worshiped, laughed with, leaned on, followed until—his eyes looked deep into those of Kitty O'Shea. That gaze spelled beginning and end of all—for both of them. . . .

This photoplay opens at the period when Parnell and his adherents are starting the constructionist tactics that were a thorn in the flesh of Prime Minister Gladstone but which, for the first time in the history of the Emerald Isle, gained power for the minority. . . .

To help her husband, Willie—from whom she is separated but who refuses to divorce her, he hoping to share in an estate she expects to inherit some day—she invites Parnell to dinner. Realizing almost as soon as does Parnell, how things are between the two, Kitty endeavors to stem the tide of love—but to no avail. . . .

At last Parnell's enemies learn the truth and use it against him in the house. And when Willie brings suit for divorce, naming the statesman as co-respondent, his own adherents turn from him, while the prime minister who had promised to introduce the home rule bill, declares he will do no such thing until the party has another leader.

There are some who will think Mr. Gable's portrayal lacks fire. To me, the very quietness of his portrayal was impressive. He suggests latent power, enormous self-restraint, and a deep and thoughtful understanding of his fellow men, which must be an attribute of any great statesman. And, when not under stress, he relaxes, as any driven public servant must relax if he is to carry on. He may not depict a stormy-tongued orator in the house but he does depict a man you'd listen to and respect. I liked him.

Liked Myrna Loy, too, though I do think I have seen her more happily cast.

Edna May Oliver and other splendid players make notable appearances and the production is beautifully staged and costumed.

It is, all in all, a worthy—but not a particularly noteworthy photoplay. The director, I suspect, "worrited" too much.

See you soon.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A creamy, smooth lipstick—elegant as to texture—makes its bow in a new deep shade of red that is perfect for the tanned complexion or for naturally olive skin.

One of the grandest lip sticks ever made—creamy and moist and smooth as satin—has just made its debut in a new shade that is a knockout for the lightly tanned summer complexion, or for the woman with naturally olive skin. It's a rich, deep, true red, slightly on the dark side, but having neither the purplish nor the orange undertones that so very few women can wear successfully.

This is really a luscious shade, and it stays the same for hours on end—for as long as it lasts, to be exact. In spite of its creaminess, it is remarkably adherent, and for lips that are inclined to be dry the consistency is just about perfect.

These lip sticks have been favorites of ours for years. For one thing, their consistency seems to give that moist, glamorous look to the lips that is "just like Hollywood." And without giving the lips a pasty, coated look, either.

Moreover, they're really generous, so that they last, and last, and last—unless you're a chronic lip stick loser, in which case you'll be devastated if you lose one of these. Down to the last trace of carmine they're the pet possession of more women than we can count.

This new summer shade is only the most recent of a long line of devastating red tones—so if you're neither tanned nor naturally dark you can surely find a shade especially suited to your own particular coloring. You'll like the trim copper colored case. It's smart and distinctive, but unobtrusively so. And you'll like the fact that the price is moderate.

You'll find these lip sticks in several of the shops, and we think they're quite the tops. M. S.

Hundred Police Rule Throng at Movie Nuptials

Miss MacDonald Bride of Gene Raymond.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 16.—[Special.]—Surrounded by the glamor of a Hollywood première, Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, motion picture stars, were married here tonight as more than 5,000 spectators milled about the church to catch a glimpse of them.

The star of many musical films and the blond Gene Raymond marched to the altar of the Wilshire Methodist Episcopal church, where the Rev. Willsie Martin read the ceremony.

For three hours prior to the original time set for the ceremony throngs of motion picture fans began to fill the area surrounding the church. So dense became the crowd some of the bridesmaids and others were unable to reach the inside of the church and the ceremony was delayed more than an hour.

Mrs. Anna MacDonald, the singer's mother, gave her in marriage, while Mrs. Warren Rock, her sister, was matron of honor. Bridal attendants were Mrs. John Monk Saunders [Fay Wray], Mrs. Richard Hargreaves [Helen Ferguson], Ginger Rogers, and Mrs. John Mack Brown.

Richard Marlowe, Raymond's brother, was best man, while ushers were Harold Lloyd, Allan Jones, John Mack Brown, Basil Rathbone, Richard Hargreaves, Warren Rock, William Seiter, Charles Feldman, William Bakewell, and Phillip Ormsby.

Rose covered decorations lighted by the soft glow of hundreds of giant candles made the interior of the church a lovely setting for the ceremony, attended by a thousand invited guests, who were weary by the time a hundred policemen had aided them in entering the church.

Three giant candelabras each with seven candles lighted the decorated chancel, where the ceremony took place, and the bride made a stunning picture of pink in her flesh pink mousseline de soie gown, which she wore over flesh pink taffeta. It had a redingote top with long full sleeves, high neck, and lace collar. A tiny bouquet of roses set off the gown. The skirt was full to the extreme with a long, full train and the entire costume was edged with two rows of hand tucks and loops of mousseline.

Her veil was of long pink tulle and hung from a shell shaped lace cap. She carried a gold embroidered prayer book covered with pink satin and which was used in the ceremony.

The bridesmaids wore soft pink frost crêpe in Grecian style and over them long coats of matching mouseeline de soie, featuring broad shoulders and long sleeves which covered their hands. Small caps were perched on the backs of their heads.

Soon after Mrs. MacDonald, the bride's mother, was seated Nelson Eddy, who has co-starred with the bride in several musical films, opened the services with "I Love You Truly," and closed the wedding ceremony with "Perfect Love."

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom, with about 250 guests, went to the MacDonald home, where a reception was held. Later the couple departed on a short honeymoon, the destination of which they kept secret.

On June 26 they will leave on the S. S. Lurline for a month's vacation in Honolulu.

Style Experts Put Swank in White Shoes

BY RHEA SEEGER.

White footgear shoppers have been perturbed about the rather blinding array of brilliantly colored sandals around the shops. If they have mistakenly decided that all is color, and that distince white stuff has been banished, they can breathe freely again.

We've found all kinds of clever white stuff. Sandals with the toes covered; sandals with just a bit of the toes showing; white linen trimmed with white dull kid; white kidskin, slim and smart, with low walking heels, with medium heels, and the more dress parade sandal numbers with high heels.

Good old opera style pumps, classic as ever, without a bit of anything to mar their patrician lines, come in linen and kidskin, in dead white linen, and in knockout natural toned linen to contrast pale beige accessories or dull black outfits.

White patent lether, in neat little slippers with decorative patches and stitching all in white, are other finds. Other models include tie oxfords, tricky monk sandals smoothed high over the instep, brown and white sports shoes, either in low heeled regulation sports models or the brown heeled walking pump style with arrow shape cut brown tips at the toes.

What you will like in white, navy brown, or colors are the high heeled linen street pumps, trimmed with soutache braid. The most interesting finds of the summer. Strings of narrow white braid are laced around the toe cut-out section and then tied in dinky little bows. The toes are round and short. The heels are high and slender, and are covered in white, a shoe trick that is guaranteed to shorten the largest or longest foot.

Girls, Sun Tan Must Be Gained in Small Doses

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The world is filled with sun lovers, judging from the tremendous exodus to beaches as soon as the weather permits the week-end jaunts. In our regular daily life we like best the days when the sun shines brightly. It's cheering and we like those things which make us feel bright and cheerful. We like the sun because it provides the ever essential vitamin D.

But let us be on our guard against taking our sun in too large doses when we first begin to enjoy its rays in the hope of acquiring a tan. We're proud of a tan because it so effectively indicates that we're in favor of life in the open and spend as much time as possible outdoors. Often, in our anxiety to acquire a tan we lose sight of the fact that prolonged exposure to the sun's rays may do serious harm to the skin. So, let's be sensible and go about acquiring tan gradually.

The woman with thin, delicate, sensitive skin needs to use extreme care. Her tan must be acquired very, very slowly. Her first contact with the sun should be for a very short space of time, and she should greet that sun with a skin that has been well oiled, otherwise she will burn terribly. Her skin may even blister. Where there are blisters there always is danger of infection.

There are oils on the market now which, if applied to the skin before exposure, lessen the danger of severe burning and, at the same time, hasten the tanning process.

Girls whose skins are not particularly delicate should not be careless about their first exposure, remaining in the sun for hours at first. They may feel no burn. The skin may be red, or there may be no noticeable change in the color, yet because of prolonged exposure there has been sufficient radiation for a painful burn to develop later in the evening or the following day.

It's not possible to give any set time for a first exposure, because much depends upon the type of skin. You know your own skin, and know what punishment it can take. In your enthusiasm and enjoyment of those first hours spent in the open, don't be unmindful of the pain and inconvenience that carelessness or thoughtlessness can cause.

Morning Star.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Morning Star" is one of the quaint old pieced quilts, and was one of the popular pieced patterns which originated in North Carolina. There are several patterns of the same name, but none similar to this simple yet effective design. When it was used for everyday quilts the blocks were a combination of printed and plain materials. When it was used as a "good" spread it was made of solid colors and white, and set together with three inch bands of white material separating the blocks. Being a large block, measuring 16¼ inches, only 20 pieced blocks were required for an entire coverlet.

"I Devise and Bequeath"

By Louise Bargelt and Fielding James

SYNOPSIS.

Michael Eden, heir to millions, is met on his return from abroad by his fiancée, Katharine McCann, and his foster father, John Millis. Terry Newton, young nephew of Amos Newton, dean of the law school, snaps pictures of the affectionate reunion.

INSTALMENT IV.

OBLIGATIONS.

"Do you like me, Terry?" Katharine demanded.

"I do—so help me God."

"Then tell me a lot in a few minutes, please. What do you know about these people whom Michael so sweetly and so loyally gives the lovely name of father and mother? Do you know anything that I don't know?"

"What do you know?"

"Just what all the world knows. I know that Michael's real father was killed a few days after the baby was born. That Mrs. Eden took her tiny baby and went south. For some reason she went to Alabama, to Montgomery, I believe. There she met, rather accidentally, these Millises. Mrs. Millis seems to have adored the puny little baby, and so, when Mrs. Eden died two years later, she gave her baby to the Millises. Michael feels under the deepest obligations to them, apparently."

"But you surely know the Millises?"

"If you mean that I have met them, yes. But I do not know them at all. Michael and I grew up together, but it was in our backyard that the neighborhood gang met, not on the smooth lawns of the Millis mansion. In the early days I think that they may have felt a little worried about the social connections that Michael was making. But they were easy going, and Mike so loved to play with us that they did not interfere."

"Humph!" Terry said expressively, and drew a warm grateful glance from Katharine.

"Later," she said, with a faint smile, "when I went out to the university—"

"And danced and sang your way into all hearts, and made Phi Beta Kappa, and were a university aid," Terry supplied.

"Make it as strong as you like," she said encouragingly, with another of her grateful smiles, which made Terry prickle all over. "At any rate, in recent years, the Millises have seemed friendly and rather pleased at the fact that Michael could never see any other girl. But for some reason there has never been the slightest intimacy. I don't know whose fault it is. Mine, maybe."

"Has Mike never talked to you about them?"

"Never."

"Isn't that, in itself, a little significant?" Terry suggested.

"O, do you think so?"

"Well, it never takes me long to trot a girl whom I like over to see Amos," he laughed. "Take my word for it, he is either ashamed of you or of them."

"O, dear!" Katharine was near to tears.

"I was just after a little excitement," Terry said repentantly. But listen now, and I'll tell you the few scraps I know that you don't know."

"Please."

"The Millis mansion, as you call it, is really the old Eden house. It belonged to Mike's father, who was a good deal of a swell, of course. The house was turned over to the Millises for the use of the young heir by the trust company which handles the estate. The Millises have been given all these years a most liberal allowance for the expenses of the establishment. Now the house is Mike's, the Eden fortune is Mike's. So far as anybody knows the Millises have nothing."

"John Millis is a lawyer, isn't he, with a big practice?"

"A big office, my dear. John doesn't like to work. He is an awfully smart fellow, but indolent. He's an entertaining man with a host of friends. They flatter him good-naturedly and let him spend money on them. He knows it, but he doesn't mind. He likes his little court."

"Do you suppose they have saved money?"

"Mrs. Millis may have. I doubt it. She adores her handsome husband. She lets him have his way."

"How very difficult it is going to be for them all," Katharine said soberly.

"Why, Kit? There is certainly plenty of money for you all."

"O, of course," Katharine said impatiently. "But I am spoiling the pattern of their lives. That house has become to everybody, the Millis house. That's what they want it to be, their own comfortable home, which they run to suit themselves."

"Well, won't you let them have it? Can't you and Mike afford a modest little apartment in some suburb which you can run to suit yourselves? Even if you have to have stove heat."

"You must know, Terry, that that is not what they want. The play of Hamlet without Hamlet! What they want is. . . ."

"To keep house to suit themselves and have Mike foot the bills and make believe all the time that he is under everlasting obligations to them for sacrificing their whole life to his needs. I think he's done that about long enough."

"I suppose Michael will have to be the judge of that," Katharine said soberly. "He does seem to be very grateful. And the Millises have a side. I can see it. I just wish they could see ours."

"What's their side?"

"Well, Michael is young to marry. He is only twenty-one. Of course, he seems to me very mature in many ways. He is much wiser than I am, and a girl of twenty-one is usually much older than a man of that age. But the world would say that he could afford to wait five or ten years, or even fifteen."

"Yes, but there are wise guys like Eliot of Harvard, who would marry him to a fine woman like you quick as scat, and congratulate the parents."

"Of course. I like them unspoiled myself. You have no idea how hard I try to keep nice and sweet and good so that I will be good enough for Michael. But I don't know whether I could keep it up for five or ten years," she laughed. "I do think, leaving myself out of it as far as possible, that the Millises are taking a chance in trying to prevent this marriage. Michael does not forget and he will not even try to forgive. I'd hate to have such a thing on my conscience. And I'd hate to be dependent on the generosity of a man whose dearest plans I had wrecked."

"You think that they are trying to do that?" Terry asked.

"Don't you?"

"Couldn't say. Like Michael, we will try to get in possession of the facts and then make our decisions. I'll see you at dinner tonight. But, Kit, I do wish that you'd be good enough to announce that I'm on the waiting list and the shorter time I have to wait the better I'll like it."

"Nonsense!" Katharine said, coloring. "But you would certainly be doing a service to the Millises."

"In what way?"

"Didn't you know? Michael will not compete. Never."

"Too proud to fight?"

Katharine hesitated. "He says that he is a most inappropriate match for me; that the one excuse he has for marrying me is that I am determined he should."

"Well, what are you going to do about this new situation?" Terry asked. He was looking at her with a clear, straight glance which recalled his distinguished uncle. "Are you too proud to fight?"

"O, I'll fight, Terry," she said hotly. "I'll fight. But I may lose. Or it may be a Pyrrhic victory."

When Katharine left Terry, she made her way to her apartment with reluctant steps. She felt sick and weak and battered. She hated to face Joan. Then she plucked up courage. "Baby!" she said to herself. "Big baby!" and marched in.

"Katy didn't," Katharine said airily.

Margaret Winston Presents Tasteful Program at Casino

Margaret Grover Winston, resident soprano, appeared in recital at the Casino club last evening before a distinguished audience of friends and well wishers. The assisting artist was Triancia, whose specialty is the gypsy dances of Russia. Theophil Voeks played piano accompaniments.

Miss Winston had arranged a tasteful program which included German lieder, two French works [one of them an operatic excerpt], and a generous sized group of songs in English. The offerings were as varied in mood as in nationality, ranging from Brahms' quiet introspection to the color and movement of "Carmen."

Catholic Women.

The Illinois Club for Catholic Women will hear Mrs. Walter J. Cummings discuss her trip to the coronation at the monthly meeting at 8 o'clock this evening at the Knickerbocker hotel. Dr. Guy Cushing will talk on "Speaking of Your Operation."

Evanston Township High Will Graduate 671 Today

The 54th annual commencement of the Evanston Township High school will be held this afternoon at the Beardsley gymnasium in Evanston. Dr. Ernest F. Tittle, pastor of the Evanston Methodist Episcopal church, will address the 671 seniors, and diplomas will be presented by Francis L. Bacon, principal.

Exhibitors, Guests Arrive for Annual Event.

Mr. Cameron-Smith attended Oberlin college, and, after being engaged in business in New York, has been transferred back to Chicago. No date has been set for the wedding.

From Cincinnati, O., comes the announcement of the engagement of Elizabeth Kinney Koehler, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Kinney Koehler, to Prescott Bigelow Jr. of Boston and Buenos Aires, the son of Prescott Bigelow and the late Mrs. Bigelow of Boston.

The news is of interest here because until Mr. Bigelow was transferred to South America he was engaged in business in Chicago and made his home with a group of bachelors that include Philip Dalton Jr., William C. Parke, Charles Newhall, and others in the Philip S. Reeds' State parkway home.

The wedding is to take place in mid-October in Buenos Aires. Miss Kinney is a member of one of Cincinnati's pioneer families.

Mrs. Katharine Story Burr to Wed W. D. Trueblood Jr.

The romance of an Evanston man and a former Evanstonian is revealed today with the announcement that Mrs. Katharine Story Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Byron Story of Bozeman, Mont., will be married next Tuesday to Wilson David Trueblood Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson David Trueblood of Evanston and Washington Island, Wis.

The ceremony will be a quiet one at the home of the bride's parents in Bozeman, where she has made her home since shortly after the death of her husband, Walter Burr. Following the ceremony, which will be performed at 11 o'clock, there will be a wedding breakfast for members of the family. Mr. Trueblood and his bride will motor to Estes Park on their honeymoon, and will be at home at 1509 Hinman avenue, Evanston, after July 6.

Miss Muriel Winston Will Be Bride Today.

Only relatives and a few close friends will attend the wedding at 5 o'clock this afternoon of Miss Muriel Winston to Glenn A. Kaminer. The ceremony will take place in the apartment of the bride's mother, Mrs. Bertram M. Winston, at 229 Lake Shore drive. The Rev. Duncan H. Browne, rector of St. James' church, will read the ceremony.

The bride will be given in marriage by her uncle, William R. Odell, and her young cousins, Audrey and William Rice Odell, III., grandchildren of Mr. Odell, will be her only attendants.

Churchill Carmalt of Washington, D. C., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, will be best man. Mrs. Carmalt and Mrs. H. G. Kaminer of Gadsden, S. C., mother of the bridegroom, are here for the service. Mr. Kaminer and his bride have not decided where they will live, but their future home will not be in Chicago.

Mrs. George A. Richardson is entertaining at luncheon and a farewell shower today for Miss Beth Coleman, who sails June 26 to spend the summer abroad. Miss Coleman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman, moved yesterday into their new Lake Forest home. The house has been built in the orchard to the south of their former home on Green Bay road.

Knollwood Will Hold Barbecue Dance Tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Bowey have invited 70 guests to the first barbecue dinner-dance of the season tonight at the Knollwood club. Others entertaining are Mr. and Mrs. David J. Malloy, the Alfred K. Eddys, the Samuel T. Browns, and Gus Fischer, among whose guests will be the Thomas E. Wilsons, the George Rosseters, the Charles MacDowells, the Louis Blessings, the Stanley Knights and their daughter, Miss Peggy Knight, and Col. and Mrs. George Buckingham.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Cary, the Carroll H. Sudlers, the Bert L. Atwaters and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Zane will be among those dining and dancing at the Drake tonight at the opening of the newly decorated Silver Forest room.

Charles Kittle Jr. will arrive today from Andover to join his mother, Mrs. Charles Kittle, at the Drake hotel. Later in the summer Mrs. Kittle will take her son to Jasper Park in the Canadian Rockies.

A. MacKay Stoddards Are Parents of Son.

Mr. and Mrs. A. MacKay Stoddard became the parents of a boy Monday at St. Luke's hospital. The infant, who is their second child, has been named Robert MacArthur for Mrs. Stoddard's grandfather, the late noted Dr. Robert D. MacArthur, who came to Chicago from Canada shortly before the great fire. The baby's maternal grandmother is Mrs. McKay Wolff of La Salle, Ill., and Eustis, Fla. The Stoddards' daughter is Betsy, 3½ years old.

The Alliance Francaise is giving a reception at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick and Henry C. Morris, each of whom will be decorated by René Weiller, consul general of France, with the Legion of Honor. Mrs. McCormick is president of the Conseil d'Administration of the Alliance, and Mr. Morris is a former president.

The Ellsworth Laflins, who have been living in New Haven, Conn., for the last two years, have come to spend the summer with his mother, Mrs. Louis E. Laflin, in Lake Forest. Mrs. Laflin is especially pleased to have her grandson with her, the Ellsworth Laflins' little boy.

The Chicago chapter of the Connecticut College Alumnæ association has elected Miss Jane Howell of Highland Park as president. Other officers include Miss Grace Morrison of Chicago, secretary; Miss Elizabeth Flanders of Evanston, treasurer, and Miss Betty Archer, Evanston, publicity chairman.

A triple deck sandwich with tasty morsels of something or other between its layers, and a hot or cold drink, according to the advice of the weather man, make the best beginning to the end of a night's fun. This is especially true if the origin of the three decker is in the kitchenette of some one in the party.

Canned chicken, packaged bacon and cheese, and a supply of fresh tomatoes are items to keep at hand if there's the slightest chance that the evening's windup will take place at your house. And here are a few club sandwich patterns for a starter:

OPEN CLUB SANDWICHES — Toast and butter one slice of bread for each sandwich. On half the slices lay lettuce leaves and sliced chicken. On the remaining slices lay lettuce leaves, strips of crisp bacon, and thin tomato slices. Cut each open sandwich diagonally twice to form four small triangles. For each serving arrange two of the chicken triangles with two of the bacon and tomato triangles, pinwheel fashion, the points centered. Garnish with mayonnaise in lettuce cups. Lobster, sardines, ham, or veal may be substituted for the chicken.

HARLEQUIN CLUB SANDWICH— For each sandwich, butter two thin slices of whole wheat raisin bread and one of white bread, the latter on both sides. Spread one raisin slice with any soft cheese mixed to a paste with mayonnaise, and the other with chopped cucumber seasoned with French dressing and a few drops of onion juice. Put together, white slice in the middle, to make a three deck sandwich. Cut diagonally twice. Garnish with stuffed olives or a slice of pickle.

ROQUEFORT AND CHICKEN JUNIOR CLUB SANDWICH—Butter toasted bread while hot. For each sandwich spread one piece of buttered toast with Roquefort cheese and a little mayonnaise. Cover the other with thin slices of chicken. Place the two slices together with a crisp leaf of lettuce. Cut diagonally once or twice.

FRUITED HAM CLUB SANDWICH -For each serving, toast two slices of dark bread and one of light. Butter the dark bread on one side and the light on both. On one dark slice spread a mixture of finely chopped or ground cooked ham and drained crushed pineapple, with the addition of a little prepared mustard. On the other dark slice spread cream cheese. Cover the cheese with a crisp lettuce leaf and put the sandwich together with the white slice in the middle. Cut diagonally and garnish with ripe olives.

PARTY CLUB SANDWICH—1 each sandwich use three slices of white bread, toasted or untoasted. Remove crusts. Spread one slice thinly with butter. Cover with chopped chicken, celery, and olives combined with mayonnaise. Spread a second slice sparingly with Roquefort to which a few drops of Worcestershire sauce have been added, and cover with thin slices of tomato. Butter the third slice on both sides. Put sandwich together with this one in the middle. Cut sandwich in four strips. Garnish with whole olives or celery hearts.

News of Radio

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Jeannette MacDonald, film star, acquired both a husband [Gene Raymond] and her first major radio contract yesterday. Miss MacDonald was signed as the headliner of the Open House show which last year featured Nelson Eddy and prior to that Grace Moore. If the Open House series this fall is aired at 7 p. m. Sundays on CBS, as it was last, Miss MacDonald will have as potent a competitor Baritone Eddy, with whom she has been starred in pictures. Eddy will become a regular vocal headliner in August of the NBC Variety show featuring W. C. Fields, Edgar Bergen, Don Ameche, and Dorothy Lamour.

Glenn Snyder, manager of WLS and president of the Chicago Broadcasters association, is in charge of making arrangements for entertaining radio personages who will attend the National Association of Broadcasters convention in the Hotel Sherman for three days starting next Monday. More than 800 radio leaders are expected for the sessions, the Louis-Braddock bout on Tuesday evening being an added attraction.

Freeman Gosden and Charlie Correll [Amos and Andy] are due here from Hollywood Sunday. They plan to broadcast here for a week but expect to be off the air at 10 p. m. Tuesday since that is the hour at which the fight is scheduled to start.

News notes: Harry Gilman, former W-G-N program director, now of New York, is here visiting his daughter, Lucy, 12, who this week is rounding out five years of broadcasting with Today's Children. . . . Willard Klinger of Huntington, W. Va., is a new W-G-N announcer. . . . Roderick Cupp is a new production director at WLS. . . . Jane Froman, who takes over Jack Benny's spot July 4, will be at the Palace for a week starting Friday.

The second edition of Billy Rose's Casa Manana revue from Fort Worth will be heard for the first time exclusively over W-G-N-Mutual at 9 p. m. Monday, June 28, featuring Paul Whiteman, Everett Marshall, Harriet Hoctor, the Varsity Eight, Larry Lee's orchestra and other notables.

Little Orphan Annie will leave the air for a summer's vacation on Friday, July 9. . . . Shaindel Kalish, formerly in radio work here and more recently of Hollywood, is visiting here, but expects to go to New York for stage work. . . . Edgar A. Guest, who headlines "It Can Be Done" from NBC studios here Tuesday evenings, is preaching an occasional Sunday sermon at a little church near his summer home at Point aux Barques, Mich. . . . Rita Johnson, formerly of NBC's "Court of Human Relations," is reported slated for the leading feminine rôle in "Saratoga," left unfinished at the death of Jean Harlow. . . . Jean Sablon, French troubadour, is slated for regular appearances on the NBC Magic Key series starting July 4. . . . John Scott Trotter, former Hal Kemp pianist and arranger, soon is to head the band on Bing Crosby's show, it's reported.

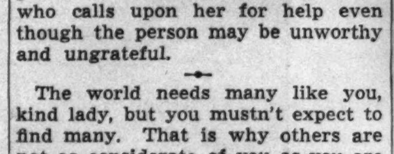
Perhaps you know some one of the type I am going to describe. She is kind and good and affectionate. Not a quick thinker, her mind plods a bit, but she dominates every situation calmly. These are probably the first persons you think of when you are in a desperate fix and cannot decide what to do. You may forget them very quickly though, when you are on your feet again and no longer need the kind of domination you sought in your despair.



This letter reads, "Please tell me why it is that I always get the cold shoulder from people when I cannot understand their ways and doings. And why is it that I am very good when people are in need or distress?"

This writing is slow and heavy. The pressure is not merely heavy it is thick. Such persons cannot help dominating to an extreme extent. Since the writing is so slowly written it is almost drawn we can safely gather the writer does not get an idea quickly. Her more nervous and faster thinking friends are going to become impatient. As she is implacable they don't try to change her, they just get out of her way.

The letters are even, rounded and wide. They reveal good nature and a placid kindliness toward all. The forward slant shows a naturally affectionate nature.

When any friend or acquaintance is "in need or distress" this writer is a calm, wide, generous harbor of peace. She can't let anybody down who calls upon her for help even though the person may be unworthy and ungrateful.

The world needs many like you, kind lady, but you mustn't expect to find many. That is why others are not as considerate of you as you are of them.

While mentioning slow writers, I should like to tell the "Doubting Thomases" that the sample of Bill Robinson's handwriting used was really and truly written by Bill. He wrote slowly and I watched him as he wrote.

MAYOR ASKS U. S. FOR 50 MILLIONS TO BUILD SUBWAY

Pushes Transit Plan in Letter to Ickes.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Mayor Kelly in a letter to Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes yesterday appealed for 50 million dollars of federal money for construction of a downtown subway system, one of the major projects in his plan for rehabilitation of Chicago's local transportation facilities.

The request, which accompanied a formal application for federal money, declared that actual construction on the project could be started next winter and spring, and would provide substantial amounts of direct and indirect employment. Mayor Kelly requested the money in the form of a loan and grant.

Proposes to Pledge Assets.

The financial ability of the city to proceed with the work, he advised Ickes, depends on the use of cash and securities now on deposit in the city traction fund. The city proposes to use the fund by pledging the securities to secure the government loan.

The traction fund has a face value of $67,083,000, of which $2,600,000 is in cash. The balance consists largely of tax anticipation warrants, many for the years from 1928 to 1933, which are considered of slow or doubtful value. Approximately 20 million dollars of the paper is of recent issue and readily marketable, however, it is stated.

Mayor Asks Early Action.

Mayor Kelly's request, which was authorized by the city council last week, asked early action on the application so that it can be placed on the approved list in time to come under the terms of legislation now pending before congress.

He advised Ickes that before work on the subway can be started the merger negotiations now in progress between the Chicago Surface lines and the Chicago Rapid Transit company [elevated lines] must be completed and a franchise ordinance for unified operation embracing the subway project submitted to a public referendum.

City Can Go Ahead.

The mayor added that if the consolidation negotiations do not result soon in an agreement the city can proceed independently with construction of a municipal subway. A decision could be made later how the subway would be used by the transit lines, city engineers explained.

Mayor Kelly said engineering work for the subway project is already well advanced and could be completed before November.

Representatives of the elevated and surface lines will meet again today to continue their conferences to determine if consolidation of the two systems can be worked out. The joint conferences were requested by Mayor Kelly. The first meeting was held Monday.

N. Y. TO BERMUDA SERVICE OPENED BY BRITISH PLANE

Port Washington, N. Y., June 16.—[Special.]—Opening regular commercial air service between New York and Bermuda, the Cavalier, flying boat of Imperial Airways, arrived here this afternoon, 5 hours and 35 minutes after the departure from Bermuda.

The plane, carrying fourteen passengers and a crew of four, did not come directly to the Manhasset bay base of the Pan-American Airways. An hour's detour was made to give passengers a view of New York City.

The New York-Bermuda service will be operated jointly by the Imperial and Pan-American companies. The Bermuda Clipper of Pan-American will leave here Friday morning with twenty-eight passengers and return Sunday afternoon. Thereafter it will make the trip from Port Washington each Thursday, returning on Sundays, and the Cavalier will leave Bermuda each Wednesday and leave Port Washington on Saturdays.

THERE'LL BE NO LONG COUNT IN BIG TITLE FIGHT

Commission Fixes Rules for Bout.

There will be no long count in the James Braddock-Joe Louis heavyweight championship fight at Comiskey park Tuesday night and the bout will not be won or lost on a foul.

The Illinois athletic commission, meeting with representatives of Braddock, the champion, and Louis, the challenger, took steps yesterday to prevent a recurrence of the situation in the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Soldiers' field in 1927, which caused more controversy than any other incident in the history of pugilism.

Memories of the long count haunted the commission when it reached the knockdown rule. It was interpretation of this rule in the Dempsey-Tunney fight that gave the late Dave Barry, the referee, the name of "Long Count Dave."

Tunney's Long Count.

Dempsey dropped Tunney with a series of rights to the chin in the seventh round. The champion fell along the ropes a few feet out from Dempsey's corner. Barry ordered Dempsey to "Go to your corner!" Dempsey, whether by design or in the excitement of the moment, interpreted the command literally and stepped around behind Tunney, standing almost over the fallen champion.

Barry stopped counting over Tunney and, taking Dempsey by the arm, ushered him to a neutral corner. He returned then and began the count anew instead of picking up the timekeeper's count. The timekeeper by this time had reached the count of "five." Tunney, badly dazed, recovered rapidly and took the count from the referee. He arose at Barry's count of nine, which amounted to 14 seconds actual time, began retreating and weathered the round, then went on to win a 10 round decision.

It was debatable whether Tunney would have been able to get up at the timekeeper's count of nine.

No New Start.

The rule under which Tuesday's bout will be fought is as follows:

"When a 'knock down' occurs, the timekeeper shall immediately arise and announce the seconds audibly as they elapse. The referee shall first see that the opponent retires to the farthest neutral corner of the ring, and then turning to the timekeeper, announce the seconds to the boxer on the floor. Should the boxer on his feet fail to stay in the said corner, the referee and timekeeper may cease counting until he has so retired."

This rule was adopted after the Dempsey-Tunney fight. The commission informed Manager Joe Gould who represented Braddock, and co-Managers Julian Black and John Roxborough, Louis' representatives at the conference, that after the timekeeper and referee have ceased counting, they will resume where they left off.

"Positively no Foul."

Waiving of the foul rule was the most important decision. Each boxer will be obliged to defend himself at all times. If either is fouled, he will be given ample time to rest and recover before continuing. If he refuses to resume the bout, he will be declared the loser on a technical knockout.

In announcing this decision, Triner said: "We positively will not recognize a foul."

The commission also waived its rule governing bouts stopped because of injury to either of the participants. This rule specifies that if a fighter is unable to continue or the referee stops the bout to save him from further injury his opponent shall be awarded a decision. For the championship fight this was abandoned for the old rule, which gives the opponent credit for a technical knockout.

The commission instructed the managers to have Louis and Braddock at Comiskey park at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. In the event of threatening weather the bout will be started any time between that hour and 10 o'clock regardless of radio arrangements.

Referees Are Called.

The fighters will weigh in at 12 o'clock Tuesday noon in the Auditorium theater. Admission will be by card. Selection of the theater was made necessary to accommodate the large number of newspaper correspondents and photographers.

The commission held a special meeting last night at which five referees and eight judges, possible officials for the bout, were instructed on the rules. The five referees will be at the ringside and one of them will be chosen just before Braddock and Louis enter the ring. The referees are Dave Miller, Phil Collins, Frank McAdams, Joe McNamara, and Tommy Thomas.

Braddock Proves His Courage; Louis Works Out on Fan Mail

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Beach, Mich., June 16.—Thousands of words have been written about Champion Jim Braddock, who defends his title Tuesday night against Joe Louis after a layoff of two years. For these essays, published in scores of newspapers, physical condition, age, and durability of his legs have been topics.

No reporter or radio commentator so far has questioned Jim's courage. And greater tribute cannot be paid this black haired, quiet Irishman than this reportorial neglect. Because of tacit acceptance of Braddock's innate sincerity no tinge of suspicion has shadowed the picture of diligent preparation during his weeks at this Michigan camp.

Braddock may be whipped Tuesday night. If he is beaten—and the majority report still favors accession of Louis to the heavyweight throne—he will abdicate only because he met a superior opponent.

He Has Confidence.

The champion is quietly confident he will win and, because he does not parade his confidence in loquacious argument, the feeling persists that possibly he may win.

Braddock and his handlers are tolerant. They are hospitable, but they do not demand dividends on friendliness. You may believe Louis will be the next heavyweight champion. That is no call for debate.

Fight fans, as well as newsmen assigned to training camps, certainly should have learned long since the worthlessness of unblushing self-praise as a basis for prediction when

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kenosha, Wis., June 16.—A drop in weight has prompted Joe Louis to cancel plans for an extra-long sparring session tomorrow. The colored fighter already is down to 196 pounds—and that's appreciably below the figure at which he expects to enter the ring next Tuesday at Comiskey park to challenge James Braddock for the heavyweight championship.

There had been talk of letting Louis go the full 15 rounds against five sparring partners tomorrow. Plans now call for six rounds against two, George Nicholson and Tiger Hairstone being the probable opponents.

Trainer Fears Staleness.

Trainer Jack Blackburn is now concerned primarily with keeping Louis from going stale. He ordered Joe to cancel his road work today and restrict himself to a hike over the roads around his isolated country house.

"He's just right now," Blackburn said. "All we have to do is keep him that way. A little holiday will do him good."

While Blackburn talked, Joe sat at a table in the center of the huge living room, dabbling with his mail. On his face there was a sphinxlike expression and on his head was a checked cap.

It's Quite a Place.

He was surrounded by the splendors which had been lavished upon the place by some very rich person of debatable taste. Upon the walls were paintings of midnight suns suspended like sheets of flame over Scandinavian fjords; a wide staircase led to a balcony with a scrolled iron railing; the ceiling was remote and shadowy. But Joe wasn't overawed. He just sat there with his checked cap on his head and his sphinxlike expression on his face, dabbling with his mail.

While training, Joe's only contact with the outside world is his fan mail. He doesn't read the newspapers while preparing for Braddock because sometimes they make him mad and thereby upset the equilibrium of his program. When he was getting ready for one of his previous engagements, he read something in the papers that irritated him so much that he devoted his next few workouts to showing up the reporters rather than to following Trainer Blackburn's advice.

No Golf for Joe.

Golf is another thing that's barred from the schedule this time. When Joe was training for the Schmeling bout he became a regular golf addict and spent more time at it than was good for his legs. He went at it with great verve, flailing away for 36 holes on some occasions when nine would have fitted in better with his training routine. So Blackburn won't let Joe get anywhere near a golf course this time.

FIVE AMERICAN DERBY HOPEFULS START; ALL FAIL

Supposed Test Turns Into Sweep for Outsiders.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Maybe it was the rain. Anyway something happened.

Five candidates for the 28th running of the American Derby on Saturday went to the post in the Niles Center purse at a mile at Washington Park yesterday afternoon.

They ran while a hard rain was coming down over a changing track. And not one of them was in the money. Dopesters trying to figure the outcome of the Derby went home in a frenzy.

Grey Count Wins.

Grey Count, a son of Reigh Count, owned by E. E. Fogelson of Texas, was the winner. Cross S. from the Valdina Farm stable of Texas was second. Robert L., the Bedford Stock farm's representative from Texas, was third. So Texas carried the day by a unanimous verdict.

The five Derby candidates which failed were Mrs. Emil Denemark's Prairie Dog, which finished fourth; Sunset Trail II., from Hollywood; Yellow Tulip from Detroit; Murph, the property of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Chicago, and Teddy Green, owned by H. H. Cross of Chicago.

Outside of the rain and the slightly changed track conditions not one had an excuse to offer.

Those Texas owners who forgot to nominate the three leaders for the American Derby were doing quite a bit of teeth gnashing last night. At the same time the owners of the American Derby candidates that failed were not worrying to any great extent.

Mrs. Mars Is Calm.

Mrs. Mars will be well represented in the Derby by Case Ace and Mars Shields, even though Murph did fail in the Niles Center. George Walsh, trainer for Raoul Walsh, says Sunset Trail II. never will let any one know what sort of a race he is going to run. "He may beat champions in the Derby," the brother of the movie director remarked.

Yellow Tulip needed the race according to R. E. Potts, his trainer, and according to Trainer E. L. Snyder Terry Green is strictly an in and outer.

Grey Count jumped into the lead soon after the race started. He never was out of it, although Cross S. and Robert L. challenged repeatedly and at one stage of the race Murph came up with a challenge which for a time threatened to carry him to the front. Grey Count drew steadily away from them in the final strides. He ran the mile in 1:38 1-5.

Betters Like the Fillies.

Following the running of the Niles Center purse a field of eleven was in prospect for the Derby. It included nine colts and two fillies and strangely enough the two fillies, Dawn Play and Mars Shield, were coming in for more attention than any of the colts.

The Derby lineup at this time was as follows:

| | Wt. | Jocky. |
|---|---|---|
| Case Ace | 121 | A. Robertson |
| Mars Shield | 116 | C. Kurtsinger |
| Eagle Pass | 118 | B. James |
| Dawn Play | 116 | L. Balaski |
| Over the Top | 118 | J. Westrope |
| Dellor | 118 | C. Corbett |
| Yellow Tulip | 118 | L. Haas |
| Grey Gold | 118 | C. Landolt |
| Burning Star | 118 | E. Steffen |
| Sunset Trail II. | 118 | E. Gray |
| Teddy Green | 118 | B. James |

A drizzle had fallen throughout the afternoon. The track was off. Still running conditions are not expected to have much bearing on the outcome of a race which will engage the eleven named above.

What's a Little Mud.

Mars Shield and Dawn Play, the two star fillies, both have established their mud running ability. So has Case Ace, Eagle Pass, Over the Top, Dellor, Yellow Tulip, Grey Gold, Burning Star and, in fact, all the others.

The advance guard of Derby visitors arrived at Washington Park yesterday. That swelled the attendance to a new high for a week day and more money than at any previous week day gatherinp at the track was tossed into the betting windows.

PRESIDENT WILL TOSS 1ST BALL IN ALL-STAR GAME

Washington, D. C., June 16.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will toss out the first ball in the fifth annual all-star game on July 7, Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, announced today. It will be the President's first appearance in the five years of All-Star contests. The first game was held under the auspices of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE at Comiskey park, Chicago, in 1933.

"The President told me he was looking forward to attending the game," Griffith said. "He's already getting his arm limbered up."

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

APPROXIMATELY three years ago this department advanced Joe Louis $15 to defray his traveling expenses from Detroit to Chicago to train with the Golden Gloves squad for the international match with Poland. A month later he made his professional debut at a small south side arena for a purse of $50. Since that time Louis has made $750,607.76, which probably is a record, considering his brief experience, for money earning in pugilism.

His biggest stake was $240,833.99 for stopping Max Baer at Yankee stadium in 1935. The Louis-Baer bout drew $948,352, the heaviest receipts since the retirement of Jack Dempsey. The pumpkin cheeked colored boy pulled down $140,959 from the Schmeling match and $60,435 against Primo Carnera, his first important contest. His other big stakes were $53,752 from the Levinsky bout and $52,897 against Ettore.

Practically all of the $750,607 was made in 1935 and 1936. Louis drew only $4,000 in purses for his early fights in 1934. He has had only two bouts this year, with Bob Pastor and Natie Brown, from which the combined earnings were $47,000.

Girls at one of America's leading colleges now find a course in "How to Win a Husband." What do they mean "win." They talk about a husband as if he were something you got out of a slot machine.

Cubs Stopped by Rain, Hold Lead Despite Giant Victory

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Rain and the curling up of the Pittsburgh Pirates in their contest with the Giants yesterday weren't enough to oust the Cubs from first place. The Giants, however, went into a won and lost tie with the Cubs when they dissipated a 4 to 1 Pirate lead and whipped the Pirates, 5 to 4.

The Cubs have won one fewer games but they also have lost one fewer. This is a big advantage in a close race for that extra game the Giants have lost is gone forever. The Cubs have won 31 and lost 19 for a percentage of .620; the second place Giants have won 32 and lost 20 for a percentage of .615.

Bill Lee, who was to have won yesterday, will pitch against the Bees today. Manager McKechnie of the Bees was not sure he would go with his new acquisition from the Giants, Frank Gabler. He may elect Danny MacFayden.

This afternoon's affair will wind up the second visit of the Bees. The Cubs admire the Bees and like to have them around. Dandy fellows, all. The fact that the Cubs have whipped them six out of eight games has nothing to do with the affection the Cubs have for the Bees.

After the Bees will come the Phillies for three days. The Phillies weren't so pleasant the last time they were here. They lost their fourth straight in the first game of the year at Wrigley field. Then they reared up and beat the Cubs, 6 to 1, and came back the next day to give them the worst tanning of the season, 11 to 1.

It is the opinion of many observers that the 11 to 1 socking was not as grievous as it might have been, however. The humiliation was such that the pleasant Mr. Grimm became very angry and ordered morning practice with the comment that he hoped morning practice would "en-

NEWSOM WALKS TEN, BUT BEARS DOWN IN PINCH

Piet Strikes Out to End Two Rallies.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 16.—Louis [Buck] Newsom, the one man showboat, spread it on thick today while making his debut as a Red Sox in Boston. The big fellow, who usually talks a better game than he can pitch, reversed the order by pitching and saying nothing and his victims, the White Sox, suffered accordingly. He let them down with five hits and they succumbed to their second consecutive defeat at the hands of Boston, 3 to 2.

Buck Newsom.

The Chicagoans probably beat themselves, or at least gave the loquacious Newsom needed courage, by turning their back on opportunity in the very first inning. They had the bases filled with none out and didn't score. By escaping from this mess, Newsom drew a big hand from the attending 5,000 and he then proceeded to show the escape wasn't luck. He bowled over the White Sox with such ease that they didn't even collect a hit until the sixth inning. But from then on they had him staggering, although they were not able to hit him.

No Help to Themselves.

The big fellow was so lacking in control that he walked ten, which with the five hits and one error, gave the Chicagoans a total of 16 arrivals at first base. Fourteen of these never were heard from. Newsom's wildness, along with a scratch hit, filled the bases in the sixth. Tony Piet struck out. Three men reached base in the seventh, one scoring. In the eighth the bases were loaded again, one scoring as the result of a pass, and were still loaded when Mike Kreevich rolled into the third out. And in the ninth there were two on with one out, then with two out, but the tying run never reached home. Piet fanned again.

What happened to John Henderson Whitehead in the fourth inning was enough to stop his winning streak at four and charge him with his season's first defeat. Although none too good from the start, Whitehead conducted himself successfully for three innings only to encounter a long string of mishaps in the fourth. Three Red Sox delivered hits. Two of them walked and one was hit by a pitched ball. Out of this, Boston harvested three runs. In the remaining four innings, the Red Sox were guilty of only one hit, this being a double by Jim Foxx while John Rigney was pitching the eighth.

Sox Pass Up Big Chance.

For a few minutes in the first inning, the White Sox suspected Santa Claus instead of the famed Newsom was pitching. The big popoff, recently obtained from Washington, walked Radcliff, Kreevich, and Walker and a full house with none out should have been a tempting dish for Dykes' workmen. They spurned the offer. Bonura faded by popping to Foxx. Appling and Hayes didn't even do that well. Both fanned on bad pitches. Mr. Newsom's strut to the dugout was a masterpiece.

Whitehead didn't have any trouble in the first inning, but only because Piet, although spun around by a

Business Women Golfers Go Into Quarter-Finals.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Helen Hicks of New York and Mildred [Babe] Didrikson of Texas, the guest artists of the eighth annual women's western open golf tournament now in progress at the Beverly Country club, are still panicking the customers as competition enters its quarter-final sequence this morning. The two business women golfers who find the western open the only established event which invites them to compete, worked their second round turns yesterday in real trouper's style.

Miss Hicks traveled only 12 holes for a 7 and 6 victory over young Virginia Lindblad of Lincolnshire, being two strokes under par for the distance. Miss Didrikson encountered more serious competition in the person of Mrs. Charles Dennehy of Onwentsia, 1936 runner-up. Three up at the turn by virtue of a par 39, Babe was forced to halves in the next five holes before she won the fifteenth and the match with a par five.

Mrs. Mann Has Trouble.

Mrs. Russell Mann of Milwaukee, who had scored a 35, one under men's par, in eliminating the 1936 champion, Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, in a first round match on Tuesday, was given a busy time of it yesterday before she eliminated Eva Shorb of Massillon, O., 1 up. Four consecutive birdies on the back nine were necessary for the former western closed titleholder to accomplish the feat.

Today Mrs. Mann will face Betty Botterill, Utah champion from Salt Lake City, who had the longest duel of the round, going 21 holes before putting out Goldie Bateson of Milwaukee. The match ended when the Wisconsin girl poured her tee shot to the third extra hole into a trap and came out short.

Helen Faces Milwaukee Star.

In the first quarter-final match today, Miss Hicks draws as her opponent Paula Parker of Milwaukee, who announced herself in the tournament with a first round decision over Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati, the medalist. Yesterday Miss Parker ad-advanced with a 4 to 2 victory over Hilda Livengood of Danville, former state titleholder.

Miss Didrikson will meet Dorothy Foster, the Springfield musician, who gained the quarter-finals with a 3 and 2 triumph over Mrs. Mont R. Reid of Cincinnati. One of the best matches of the tournament will be the last of the day. It matches Beatrice Barrett, Minneapolis star, with Mrs. Lillian Zech, Tam o' Shanter veteran. Miss Barrett, who twice has been a national semi-finalist, was given a bit of an argument before subduing Mary Louise Gardner of Indian Hill, 2 up. Mrs. Zech experienced less trouble in winning from Mrs. Robert Bullard of Springfield, 5 and 4.

Helen Hicks, New York, defeated Virginia Lindblad, Lincolnshire, 7 and 6.
Mrs. Russell Mann, Milwaukee, defeated Eva Shorb, Massillon, O., 1 up.
Betty Botterill, Salt Lake City, Utah, defeated Goldie Bateson, Milwaukee, 1 up, 21 holes.
Mildred Didrikson, Texas, defeated Mrs. Charles Dennehy, Onwentsia, 4 and 3.
Dorothy Foster, Springfield, Ill., defeated Mrs. Monte R. Reid, Cincinnati, O., 3 and 2.
Mrs. Lillian Zech, Tam O' Shanter, defeated Mrs. Robert Bullard, Springfield, 5 and 4.

Miss Parker vs. Miss Hicks.
Mrs. Mann vs. Miss Botterill.
Miss Didrikson vs. Miss Foster.
Miss Barrett vs. Mrs. Zech.

Results in the championship consolation follow:

Mrs. Burt Weil, Cincinnati, defeated Miss Eloise Briese, Kenosha, 2 and 1.
Virginia Ingram, Sunset Ridge, defeated Mrs. Vilas Norton, Glen View, 2 and 1.
Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, defeated Mrs. Isabelle Meany, Cog Hill, 9 and 7.
Rena Nelson, Exmoor, defeated Louise Johnson, Mohawk, 4 and 2.
Mrs. A. R. Copeland, Beverly, defeated Shirley Ann Johnson, Sunset Ridge, by default.
Marie Reimer, Milwaukee, defeated Mrs. Tim Lowry, Sunset Valley by default.
Virginia Guilfoil, Syracuse, N. Y., defeated Dorothy Ellis, Indianapolis, by default.
Dorothy Gustafson, South Bend, defeated Ruth Brown, Chicago Golf, 5 and 3.

First flight results:

Mrs. W. L. Graham Jr., Glen View, defeated Mrs. Marjorie Letts, Chicago Golf, 4 and 2.
Mrs. Emma Scalley, Pensacola, Fla., defeated Mildred Hackl, Midlothian, 1 up.
Mrs. Alvin Long, Lincolnshire, defeated Martha Putnam, Oregon, Ill., 9 and 8.

Second flight results:

Helen De Vries, Beverly, defeated Mrs. J. L. Banash, Olympia Fields, 2 and 1.
Mrs. Evelyn Moore, Longwood, defeated Mrs. H. W. Tupper, Olympia Fields, by default.
Mrs. Cornell Clifford, Edgewood Valley, defeated Mrs. G. C. Davis, Oak Park, 4 and 3.

RANK BUDGE NO. 1 FOR WIMBLEDON TENNIS TOURNEY

WIMBLEDON, England, June 16.—(AP)—An indication of the impression Don Budge has made on English tennis observers since arriving here with the United States Davis cup squad was given today when America's top ranking player was seeded at the head of the men's singles draw for the all-England tournament which begins on Monday.

In the world's first ten Budge is placed behind Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany. The Wimbledon seeding committee reversed that standing, making the German ace No. 2 on the list, followed by his countryman and Davis cup team mate, Heinrich Henkel; Henry W. [Bunny] Austin, of England; Bryan M. Grant, of Atlanta; Roderich Menzel, the Czechoslovakian, Vivian McGrath of Australia, and Frankie Parker of Milwaukee.

Americans also headed the draw in women's singles, in which Defending Champion Helen Jacobs topped the list.

Fall Jr. Wins Sunset Ridge Golf Stampede

Joe Fall Jr. of the home club shot a 36 hole score of 77—76—153 to win the Sunset Ridge stampede yesterday. Two hundred members and guests competed in the outing.

N. D. Belnap, also of the home club, captured low net honors with 185—48—137. Other leading low net shooters who received prizes were G. A. Brazier, 185—48—137, and J. B. Long, 182—44—138.

Kimball Salisbury won low gross honors for the morning round with a 77. Robert Brazier also shot a 77 to win low gross in the afternoon. A. L. Goerlick and W. H. Engleman shared low net for the morning with 71's. H. J. Johansen and Roy Husbands tied for low net in the afternoon with 71 each. The winning low net foursome consisted of J. B. Long, A. J. Kasner, C. H. Sethness, and H. E. Taylor. Their score was 592.

Cornell Beats Princeton; Meets Army in Polo Final

New York, June 16.—(AP)—Cornell university, the indoor titleholder, earned the right to meet the Army in the finals of the fifteenth intercollegiate polo championship today with a 9 to 7 victory over Princeton. The final match will be played Saturday.

Royal Carriage Can't Make Corner; King, Queen Jolted

ASCOT, England, June 16.—(AP)—King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth were jolted while riding in the royal carriage down the Ascot course just before the first race today. One of the wheels struck the fence as the coach was turning off the track. The carriage was backed twice and on the third attempt went by safely. Fair Play, owned by R. Middlemas, won the Royal Hunt cup. H. G. Blagrave's Couvert was second and J. P. Hornung's Pegasus third in the eleven furlong and 155 yards race. Fair Play was at 18 to 1 in the betting.

Rain Causes Halt in State Amateur Golf

Peoria, Ill., June 16.—[Special.]—A field of 101 amateurs began play today at the Mount Hawley Country club in the 7th annual Illinois state golf tournament, but after most of them traversed half the water soaked course, the 36 hole qualifying round was postponed until tomorrow and the distance reduced to 27 holes.

Match play will begin Friday over the 18 hole route. The final round of 36 holes will be played Sunday.

When the first pair teed off this morning a heavy rain already had drenched the course and before the last of the field had left the first tee play became impossible. Only two contestants had finished 18 holes.

They were Jimmy Goldsmith of Chicago and Ollie Towles of Peoria. The former posted 39—42—81 and Towles had 45—42—87. They will have a chance to do better tomorrow as today's scores were ruled out.

Tommy Sheehan Jr. of Notre Dame, the Indiana state college champion, posted the best nine hole score. He had 38, only two over par.

Bill Kostelecky, captain of the Northwestern university team, got as far as nine holes and marked up a 44, eight over par.

Rain Delays Ross-Woods Nontitle Bout Until Tonight

Indianapolis, Ind., June 16.—(AP)—Rain caused postponement of the scheduled ten round nontitle fight here tonight between Barney Ross, world's welterweight champion, and Chuck Woods of Detroit. The entire card of four ten round bouts will be held tomorrow night.

Rain Disrupts Tennis; Fourth Round on Today

Rain forced the postponement of fourth round singles and first round doubles matches in the 27th annual national clay court tennis tournament at the River Forest Tennis club yesterday.

Fourth round matches today in the upper half of the bracket bring together Johnny McDiarmid, the Princeton university professor who is seeded second, and Frank Guernsey, Orlando, Fla.; Walter Senior of San Francisco, ranked fifth, against William Talbert, Cincinnati; Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, No. 3, will oppose Vernon Marcum of Lakeland, Fla., No. 13, and Martin Buxby, Miami, Fla., who is No. 7, will clash with a local player, Thane Halstead, 14th on the list.

In the lower half of the bracket, Bobby Riggs is slated to oppose William Murphy, No. 2 man on the University of Chicago team; Barnard Welsh, Rockville, Md., No. 6, will meet Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore.; Art Hendrix, Lakeland, Fla., seeded fourth, pairs off with Eugene McCauliff of Chicago, and Wilbur Coen, No. 8, of Kansas City, completes the bracket of 16 in meeting Frank Kovacs of Berkeley, Cal., seeded No. 10.

SOPWITH'S TWO CUP CHALLENGERS TAKE WORKOUTS

Newport, R. I., June 16.—[Special.]—T. O. M. Sopwith, English yachtsman, was aboard the Endeavor II. in a practice run today. His other yacht, Endeavor, with Fred Segrint in command, also sailed out of the harbor. Sopwith said the two yachts will start racing next week to determine the challenger for the America's cup.

C. Y. O. BOXERS MEET DUBUQUE SQUAD TONIGHT

Eight of the leading amateur boxers in the Catholic Youth organization will leave this morning for Dubuque, Ia., where they will meet a team representing the Dubuque C. Y. O. tonight.

This will be the first intercity match for the Dubuque squad. Only two of the eight boxers making the trip, Frank Kainrath, bantamweight, and Hiner Thomas, middleweight, are C. Y. O. title holders. The other Chicago C. Y. O. boxers are Walter Cavalieri, Jack Goodman, Tony Motisi, Edward Muldoon, Joseph Bittner, and Al Joyce.

GIANTS SCORE 3 IN EIGHTH TO BEAT PIRATES

Land on Cy Blanton for 5 to 4 Victory.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 16.—(AP)—The New York Giants climbed back into a virtual tie for first place in the National league today by coming from behind with a three run rally to defeat the Pirates, 5 to 4.

Although getting only eight hits to the Pirates' 15, the Giants finally reached Cy Blanton in the eighth inning. Mel Ott's single drove in two of the runs and a base hit by Gus Mancuso produced the other in the winning rally. The victory left the Giants only five percentage points back of the leading Chicago Cubs, who were idle today.

CARDINALS, 7; PHILLIES, 6.

St. Louis, Mo., June 16.—(AP)—Jesse Haines, who will be 44 years old next month, relieved the harassed Lon Warneke and pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7 to 6 victory today over Philadelphia.

Haines went into the game in the fourth inning and, after Catcher Brusie Ogrodowski dropped the ball on a double steal, held the Phillies away from the plate until the ninth. They got only four of their 12 hits off his deliveries.

Gomez Checks Indians; Yanks Triumph, 4-1

New York, June 16.—(AP)—George Selkirk's three run double in the fourth inning enabled the Yankees to cash in on Lefty Gomez's airtight pitching today to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 1, for the second time in a row and strengthen their grip on first place in the American league.

Scoring his seventh victory of the year, Gomez yielded only six hits and fanned nine. He struck out the first five men to face him.

Joe DiMaggio, after hitting safely in 16 consecutive games, was stopped today, falling victim to Denny Galehouse, Cleveland pitcher, four times.

SENATORS, 2; TIGERS, 1.

Washington, D. C., June 16.—(AP)—Jake Wade, young Detroit hurler, threw away a twelve inning pitching duel with Wes Ferrell of Washington today with a wild pitch while the bases were loaded. The score was 2 to 1.

Up until the twelfth Wade had the edge over the veteran Ferrell. Then singles by Rick Ferrell, Lewis, and Kuhel filled the bags and Wade threw a low, fast ball that struck home plate and bounced over the catcher's head as Ferrell rushed in with the winning run.

It's Bunker Hill Day; Sox to Fire at Boston Twice

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 16.—There will be two battles of the Hoses tomorrow, it being Bunker Hill day. Monty Stratton and Bill Dietrich will work for the Chicagoans. The Boston starters will be Rube Walberg and Jack Wilson.

Babe Herman, unconditionally released by the Tigers yesterday, phoned Manager Dykes of the Sox last night and asked if there was an opening for an outfielder. Dykes regretted that he had to point out that there were no vacancies.

Umpire George Moriarty is working under difficulties. He used a foot to stop a batted ball at Cleveland the other day and suspects a small bone might have been chipped. Two other American league umpires are out with injuries, so Moriarty must stick to his chores.

Newsom pitched about 30 balls before getting through the first inning but Whitehead pitched only four in the home half. Mills lined the second pitch to Piet. Cramer swung at the first ball and grounded to Appling. Chapman grounded to Piet on the next pitch.

MILLS PLAY COLLEGIANS.

The Chicago Mills will play the Giant Collegians of Piney Wood, Miss., in a double-header at the Mills stadium Sunday afternoon.

drive off Mills' bat, clung to the ball. In the second Cronin led off with a single over short, but the next two men flopped. Then Higgins grounded to short for what would have been an easy out, but Cronin saved Appling the trouble of making the throw. The manager ran into the ball and was automatically out, Higgins being credited with a hit. The third also opened with a hit—Desautels singling to right—but Sewell came to the rescue by picking him off first base.

Boston Breaks Through.

The scoreless struggle ended when Cramer led off with a single in the fourth. He was nipped going to second, but Chapman followed with a single. Whitehead plunked Cronin right above the right knee with a pitched ball and walked Foxx to fill the bases. Whitehead climbed part way out of the jam by fanning McNair, but promptly took a turn for the worse. Higgins walked, forcing in Chapman. The first pitch to Desautels was a cripple right through the heart of the plate and the catcher thumped it into left for a double, scoring Cronin and Foxx. Newsom let down his constituents by striking out.

After his generosity in the first inning, Newsom didn't let another White Sox start a tour of the base lines until the fifth, when Piet walked with none out. Sewell and Whitehead flied out and Piet was forced on Radcliff's tap to Cronin. Then, after he had fanned Kreevich to start the sixth, Newsom suddenly discovered he had another full house on his hands. Walker drew a pass and Bonura flied to Chapman. Appling sent a fairly swift bounder toward right and it eluded Foxx, but McNair charged over on the grass, attempted to make the capture, and failed. Walker went to third on the scratch hit. A pass to Hayes came next, but with three on, Piet fanned.

Johnny Has Trouble.

Whitehead experienced palpitation of the pitching arm in the home sixth and walked three men before completing his day's work. Foxx led off with a pass, but Sewell's throw got him going into second on an intended hit and run maneuver. Piet threw out McNair and Higgins and Desautels then walked. Newsom then bounced to Piet for the third out.

The first event in the seventh, when the White Sox scored, was a pass to Sewell. Rosenthal, out of service since May 11, reappeared as pinch-hitter for Whitehead and drove a long fly to left but Mills grabbed it. Radcliff lined a clean single to right. Kreevich forced Radcliff and narrowly escaped being doubled at first. Then Walker punched a single into center, scoring Sewell. Bonura did what should have been done to keep the rally moving, but was foiled by Cronin. The boy manager went to his right in deep short, dug up a hard drive, and whipped it to McNair to force Walker at second.

What! No Break?

Newsom was almost on his way toward the exit in the eighth. After Appling had been thrown out, Hayes singled to center. Piet pummelled a drive to left center, but Mills leaped up in front of the scoreboard to make the catch. Sewell bounced to Higgins, who was so careful about taking aim that he threw wild to Foxx. Haas batted for Brown and walked on four pitched balls. Four more pitches gave Radcliff a pass, forcing in Hayes. Then Kreevich grounded to Foxx, who tossed to Newsom for the putout.

The Chicagoans were on Newsom's trail again in the ninth. Walker opened with a single through second. Bonura swung with all his might, but succeeded only in flying to Chapman. Appling received Newsom's tenth pass. Hayes cut loose with a real drive, but it traveled straight into Chapman's hands. And then Piet fanned for the final out.

able the players to shake some of the lead out of their bloomers." Whereupon the Cubs won eight straight ball games, the start of the string which has seen them win 15 of their last 18 competitions.

The Cubs have only eleven games remaining in their current home stand, yesterday's postponement having been put over for a double-header on Aug. 8.

Yesterday's game was not called off until there was a full assembly of hirelings and a scattering of customers at Wrigley field. After the shower started, however, it was apparent that no game could be played and everybody was sent home shortly after 2 o'clock.

Protect yours with Vitalis and the "60-Second Workout"

However good for your muscles and morale, five sets of tennis, hard-fought in the summer sun, give your hair a pretty tough mauling, baking it and robbing it of oil.

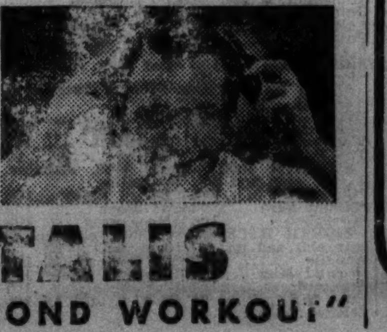
And then, drenching it in the shower or the pool, you complete the process yourself—and your hair at the end of tennis and a shower is limp and lifeless.

But that's where Vitalis and the "60-Second Workout" step in to aid and help you. Apply Vitalis to the scalp with a brisk massage. Feel the fine tingle as circulation increases. Your sun-parched scalp "comes to life"—your hair takes on a rich, lustrous appearance without a trace of that very objectionable "patent-leather" look. 50 seconds to rub—10 seconds to comb and brush—that's the "60-Second Workout."

So, go out and play your tennis in the broiling sun, get in your 36 holes of golf. Cool off in pool or swim in the ocean but protect the good looks of your hair with Vitalis and the "60-Second Workout."

1. 50 SECONDS TO RUB—Circulation quickens—the flow of necessary oil is increased—hair has a chance!

2. 10 SECONDS TO COMB AND BRUSH—Your hair has a lustre—but no objectionable "patent-leather" look.



Use VITALIS AND THE "60-SECOND WORKOUT"

FISH MUST HAVE 'FEEL OF STREAM' TO CONTACT LURE

CurrentAdjustmentNeeded to Hit Mark.

BY BOB BECKER.

Do brook trout have to learn how to judge the current of a stream in order to hit a fly accurately? This question has been brought up in Michigan recently as a result of the experiences of fishermen on the Pine river. The Pine is near Baldwin, a town in the heart of some excellent trout fishing waters.

Several weeks ago the state planted 3,000 legal length trout from the Paris hatchery in three places along the eight mile state-owned portion of the Pine river to bolster the supply of this intensively fished section of the stream. Many of the planted trout were caught soon after the planting.

Not Adjusted to Stream.

Fishermen reported that while the hatchery trout would rise to the fly, some would consistently miss it. Frequently the trout would break water six or twelve inches from the lure. It is believed that the planted trout had not yet adjusted themselves to current conditions in the stream and therefore were failing to hit the mark. This is one [probably the only one!] angle of fishing that fishermen haven't debated a great deal. At least we have heard few trout fishermen discuss the relative sharpshooting ability of the various species of trout. Offhand it might seem reasonable to expect trout from a hatchery, where the water is quiet, to need a little time to gauge the speed of a tiny insect going through or along the surface of a stream.

We have seen both small and large mouthed black bass tear at a floating surface lure so fast that they missed their mark. This was partly due to the fact that we were keeping the lure on the move. But it is possible that the fish also may have been a little too hasty in their endeavor to sock the lure.

Cites Two Experiences.

We recall one evening on the High Falls reservoir near Crivitz, Wis. It was shortly after the opening of the bass season in Wisconsin. We were fishing the stumps and dead heads, and the fish were hitting the flies beautifully. One small mouth weighing around 2 pounds gave us quite a show when he suddenly rose out of the water, did a looping dive, and grabbed the floating bug on the way down.

On another evening when we were fishing with a fly rod we saw a chunky 3 pound large mouth zoom into the air near our fly, do a beautiful "power" dive, and get the fly when his nose hit the surface. Here were two perfect examples of fish missing their mark.

MAJOR BEARD NEW STEWARD AT ARLINGTON

With the exception of the appointment of Maj. Louis Beard as steward and Robert P. McAuliffe as clerk of scales, the official family for the Arlington Park Jocky club meeting opening June 28 will be the same as last year, it was announced yesterday by President Otto W. Lehman.

Maj. Beard, director of the Whitney racing interests, succeeds George Brown Jr. as steward. Well known in the Chicago section for many years, he will share the upper stand duties with Christopher J. Fitzgerald Sr., the state steward.

In keeping with Arlington Park tradition, one honorary steward, a prominent midwestern sportsman selected by club officials, will serve without remuneration. In the past the custom has been to ask appointees to grace the stand for a racing week, five serving during the thirty day meeting.

Charles J. McLennan returns to Arlington as racing secretary and handicapper. He is much in demand throughout America, particularly during the midsummer season, but he remains at Arlington Park, where his father, the late Joseph McLennan, served before him. Following are the officials:

Stewards—C. J. Fitzgerald Sr. [representing Illinois racing commission], Maj. Louis A. Beard, and one honorary steward selected by the Arlington Park Jocky club. Racing secretary and handicapper—Charles J. McLennan. Placing judges—C. J. Fitzgerald Jr., S. Brown, and E. A. Hileman. Paddock judges—William Doyle and E. A. Hileman. Patrol judges—William Doyle, George Swain, and William Davis. Clerk of scales—C. J. Fitzgerald Jr. Assistant clerk of scales—Robert P. McAuliffe. Starter—Roy Dickerson. Timer—William Cunningham. Totalizator director—Mortimer Shaw. Track veterinarian—Dr. C. McKillup. Track superintendent—Clarence Brinkman.

CROSS KEYS, racing kind and rushed into a contending position in the first eighth, was under stout restraint on the turn, came around the leaders gradually as she responded to urging when straight in the stretch, and won drawing out. MIGHTY SWEET had speed from the start, was under light reserve for about three-eighths, and stood a drive gamely though failing to hold the winner. CLEMATIS had to be steadied when in fairly close quarters racing to the turn, was slow to respond when clear, but came with determination through the final quarter.

Time, :23 2-5, :47 2-5, 1:12 4-5, 1:26. Two dollar mutuels paid: Repaid, $9.00 straight, $5.80 place, $4.40 show; American Prince, $19.40 place, $7.80 show; Ottoman, $5.00 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 3:16½. Off at once.

REPAID, away slowly, worked his way up gradually during the first three-eighths, took command with a rush on the stretch turn and, weakening after three-quarters, won under pressure. AMERICAN PRINCE, outrun for five-eighths, came with fine belated speed thereafter and swerved sharply to the inside near the finish. OTTOMAN, cleverly rated, held on well to the last sixteenth, where she weakened.

FOURTH RACE—Three-fourths mile. Purse $900. Net value to winner, $675; second, $125; third, $75; fourth, $25.

ALICE G., going in her best form and raced wide when forcing the pace, wore down LUCKY DUCKY without need of strong urging, but was lightly shaken up in the last fifty yards. COSETTE, well up from the start, swerved out on the stretch turn and, holding on well, wore down LUCKY DUCKY, though inclined to bear to the inside in the final eighth. LUCKY DUCKY, quick to begin, forced back SUNCRAX and VIRGINIA J. approaching the turn.

No show mutuels sold. Winner trained by D. A. Headley. Went to post at 4:14½. At post ½ minute. Start good from gate.

SPARTA, reserved off the pace under steady restraint, began to move up when racing wide on the stretch turn, continued in resolute fashion after straightening out in the final quarter, and won drawing out. BOOTMAKER, under restraint for three-quarters and raced wide throughout, stood a drive gamely, but could not hold the winner. LADY MONTROSE, permitted to move up steadily while under stout restraint the first three-quarters, gave way slowly when placed to pressure.

SIXTH RACE—One mile. Allowance. Three year olds. Purse $900. Net value to winner, $675; second, $125; third, $75; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 3-5, :47 4-5, 1:12 4-5, 1:38 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Grey Count, $9.60 straight, $4.60 place, $3.20 show; Cross S., $7.00 place, $5.00 show; Robert L., $13.20 show. Winner trained by A. Pelleteri. Went to post at 4:42. At post ⅓ minute.

GREY COUNT, taken under restraint after being rushed to the front in the opening quarter, slowly came away from PRAIRIE DOG when placed to energetic riding after three-quarters and, opening up a good lead in the final eighth, was safe from CROSS S. He went out one mile and one-quarter in 2:07 2-5. CROSS S., slow to begin, improved his position gradually to the stretch turn, where he went wide and, coming again strongly when straight, was going fastest of all at the end. ROBERT L., a factor from the start, was jostled about on the stretch turn, but quickly worked his way clear and closed resolutely.

LADY FEDERAL, suited by track conditions and having speed from the start, shook off YENRAC after a half mile, increased her advantage in the stretch, and won with something left. METAURUS, close up from the start and under snug restraint for five-eighths, held on well under vigorous riding thereafter. WHICHAWAY came with determination in the final quarter and dead heated TORNADIC in the final stride.

Time, :25 1-5, :50 3-5, 1:17, 1:43 2-5, 1:57 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Ruckie, $31.40 straight, $12.00 place, $6.80 show; Playaway, $8.20 place, $5.00 show; Peggy's Peggy, $3.60 show. Winner trained by R. B. Bridwell. Went to post at 5:50½. Off at once. Start good. Won easily; place driving.

RUCKIE, sharply improved and well up from the start, went around the leaders in racing to the front, easily shook off PLAYAWAY, and had something left. Latter, under stout restraint for three-quarters, held on well under pressure thereafter, but could not withstand the winner. PEGGY'S PEGGY, receiving a hustling ride, began to weaken after about seven-eighths but held others safe.

BILLY JONES, AN 8 YEAR OLD, BREAKS LEG; DESTROYED

Career Ended in 3d Race at Washington Park.

Billy Jones, a consistent horse in his day and about as fast as they came at a mile or less, ended his racing career during the running of the third race at Washington Park yesterday afternoon.

The favorite at 4 to 5 in the betting, Billy flattered his army of backers when he took an early lead and reached the lower bend well out in front. Then one of those 8 year old legs that carried him so swiftly gave way.

On rushed the field to the finish line, with Repaid the winner, American Prince second, and Ottoman third.

Poor old Billy was floundering on the rain soaked turf, suffering great agony. A veterinarian came along and, with a pistol, ended his life. Billy was owned by Herbert G. Woolf's Woolford farm stable of Kansas City. Mr. Woolf had traveled here from Kansas City just to get another look at his horse in action.

Billy Jones was a son of Sweep On-Aurora and was bred in Kentucky by J. J. Troxler.

Hal Price Headley's Sparta, a fine mare last season, returned to her best form yesterday when she won the day's feature race at a mile and seventy yards by a length. Mrs. Emil Denemark's Chance Ray was second and Lady Montrose from the stable of Jake Lowenstein finished third. Sparta was running last when the field of five wheeled into the stretch, came wide on the last turn, then showed sparkling speed in the run for home.

All race trains on next Tuesday will stop at 35th street on the return trip to Chicago for those who plan to attend the world's heavyweight championship fight at Comiskey park between James J. Braddock and Joe Louis.

Gov. Elmer Benson of Minnesota has reserved a box for eight and has made plans to attend the 28th running of the American Derby Saturday.

IT'S BLACK MAGIC! DICTATOR STEALS 17 BALL PLAYERS

Satchel Page Takes Bid to Richer Pastures.

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—It may be of interest today to Brig. Gen. Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Mollna that he has been accused of stealing colored baseball players from the United States.

Gen. Rafael Trujillo.

A blunt accusation has been directed against the president-dictator of the Dominican republic by the National Negro league, and especially by the team known as the Pittsburgh Crawfords.

The National Negro league has six teams, including the New York Black Yankees. The "czar" of the league is Ferdinand Q. Morton.

Morton also is a civil service commissioner in New York.

Thus far, he declares, the Dominican Republic has lured seventeen star players away from the league, and this is an outrage as well as a cheap trick.

Satchel Page a Victim.

Satchel Page, the best pitcher in the league, who was drawing $500 a month from the Pittsburgh Crawfords, has been stolen away. So has Third Baseman Scales and Catcher Palm of the Black Yankees, and so has Griffin, the second best pitcher in the league who played for the Washington Elites.

Czar Morton has communicated with Senator Wagner about it, informing the senator that the peace of nations is at issue. The state department has agreed to hear the complaints of the league officials.

In his letter to the senator Morton accused a large sugar company of sending secret agents to the United States, implanting the virus of disaffection on top of the vaccine of monetary reward to snare the cream of the shortstops, pitchers, and heavy hitters.

Some Clever Boys.

"Furthermore," said Morton, "they operate so secretly that we do not know when our star players are being lured away until they are gone, and on top of everything else, the ones that go already have drawn advances in their salaries, so our clubs are left holding the bag."

Dictator Trujillo, it is understood, is a great fellow for a baseball game. A Central American league has been organized, and reports are that the Dominicans, having the best players, are wiping everybody else right off the map. The dictator-president will stop at nothing to attain diamond supremacy for his republic, it is said, and when a visiting team comes to Ciudad Trujillo [Guess who the capital's named after] he even puts them up in the palace.

So far, according to Commissioner Morton, the hands-across-the-Caribbean have not succeeded in snatching the league's most famous home run hitter, Josh Gibson of the Homestead Grays. Josh is the Babe Ruth of the Negro league.

Al McCoy Wins Ten Round Decision Over Natie Brown

Boston, Mass., June 16.—(AP)—Al McCoy, 182 pounds, of Boston, won a 10 round decision over Natie Brown, 199, Washington, D. C., tonight, at Fenway park. Brown's body attack, which included several low punches, was impressive, but officials penalized him severely for his poor marksmanship.

Fast Field Is Lined Up for N.C.A.A. Meet

Berkeley, Cal., June 16.—(AP)—Some of the keenest individual track competition of the season is forecast for the National Collegiate A. A. meet here Friday and Saturday.

Two or more stars are spotted in every event, many comparing performances for the first time this year. The meet, founded by Amos Alonzo Stagg while he was athletic director at Chicago, brings together nearly 300 athletes and promises to be one of the most bitterly contested events on record.

Woodruff a Favorite.

A couple of fleet footed colored stars, Eulace Peacock of Temple and Ben Johnson of Columbia, loom as the men to beat in the 100 yard dash. They'll have to travel fast because the field also includes these other 9.6 seconds men—Sam Stoller, Michigan; Adrian Talley, Southern California; Bob Packard, Georgia; Ben Willis, Kentucky; Bob Grieve, Illinois; Bob Collier, Indiana; and Bill Clifford of Notre Dame.

Every running event has practically the same even type of competition in store. John Woodruff of Pittsburgh is the early favorite to win both the quarter mile and half mile tests.

Hurdles Field Is Fast.

He ran a 47 second quarter and a 1:52.1 half to win both in the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet. But Loren Benke of Washington State reeled off a 46.9 quarter mile race recently, and Half Milers Charles Beetham of Ohio State, Ross Bush of Southern California, Vic Palmason of Washington, and Mel Trutt, Indiana, are only fractionally over 1:52.

Forrest Towns of Georgia has equalled his 120 yard high hurdles world record of 14.1 seconds several times but Bob Osgood of Michigan clipped off a 14 second race in the Big Ten meet a few weeks ago. Fritz Pollard, North Dakota Negro, figures to make it a blanket finish.

Escobar Arrives Today for Bout with Robertson

Sixto Escobar, who won the bantamweight title by beating Lou Salica in fifteen rounds at Madison Square Garden Nov. 15, 1935, will arrive today to finish training for a ten round nontitle bout with Pat Robertson at Marigold Gardens Monday. Eddie and Johnny Helstrom, fighting twins from the north side, have been signed to appear in two supporting contests, the former against Les Morris, Milwaukee welterweight, and Johnny against Steve Souris, Gary junior welterweight.

Efforts are being made to reopen the recent case which caused the suspension by the Illinois boxing commission of Varias Milling for one year following the Los Angeles featherweight's inability to substantiate charges that he had been "ordered to throw a contest to Billy Marquart" here last month. . . . The next show at Western stadium will be held June 29.

STEPHENSON ENDS 19 YEAR BASEBALL PLAYING CAREER

Birmingham, Ala., June 16.—(AP)—Riggs [Ole Hoss] Stephenson, manager of Birmingham's Barons and once the scourge of major league pitchers, tonight laid down his bat and became a bench manager, announcing Murry Howell would replace him in left field tomorrow night against Atlanta.

Stephenson's announcement that he would become inactive was considered tantamount to permanent retirement for Stephenson after 19 years of baseball.

Stephenson spent 14 years in the major leagues, amassing a lifetime batting average of .330. He went to Cleveland in 1921 and later joined the Chicago Cubs in the National league.

Stephenson came to Birmingham last season and spurred a mediocre club into an inspired drive that landed it in the Dixie series after winning the Southern association playoff.

Valiant's Word for Braddock, a Man's Man

boastfulness needs to be backed by action.

Max Baer whipped Joe Louis every day for three weeks as he paced the bare floor in front of the fireplace of his log cabin hidden among the pine ridges of the Adirondacks. At times Baer became so insistently vehement, as he argued his own merits, that he seemed to be attempting to convince himself he could whip the Brown Bomber, whom no one then had licked.

Then There's Levinsky.

Perhaps Max was arguing with himself. But he held no such debate later in the Yankee stadium ring when, with bowed head and kneeling, he listened to the referee's count of ten. Fifteen minutes afterward, deserted in his dressing room except for his paid associates, and scourged by the unspoken disdain of Jack Dempsey, who had answered Baer's plea to second him, Max glibly excused appearance of cowardice.

"I've got all the money I need. I don't have to fight," Baer shouted. "Why should I have taken any more punishment?"

Chicago will not forget King Levinsky, who bragged of the might of his right hand until he stumbled tremblingly through the ropes to face Louis. Then Levinsky, the warrior, with feeble defense and no attack, backed away. The fiasco ended with Levinsky crouching, terror stricken on the ropes, meekly awaiting permission to escape.

Max Schmeling, it was said afterward in excuse for a result few had predicted, was the first to fight Louis. Where others quailed, Schmeling fought. And his valor, supported by a lethal chopping right hand blow, dispelled the Louis legend.

Louis May Remember.

Louis never will erase from memory the nightmare of punishment he received from Schmeling before he fell exhausted in the twelfth round. That knockout may haunt the Bomber Tuesday night.

It is true that Braddock also has been beaten. He has lost 20 fights. But Braddock has definitly proved his courage. There is no parallel for his struggle from pugilism's discard to the championship.

They matched him three years ago against Corn Griffin, almost in charity. Braddock knocked out Griffin. They said he couldn't whip Art Lasky, but he did. Ten to one was wagered he'd lose to Baer. And today Braddock is the champion.

Braddock doesn't vision a brilliant, quick victory over Louis. He is training for 15 rounds. Jim isn't concerned over being knocked down, if he can scramble to his feet. And he'll keep getting up to fight just as long as he is able.

Arrest 45 Men in Seventeen Raids on Loop Bookies

In seventeen raids on alleged handbooks yesterday by police of the gambling detail forty-five men were arrested, racing charts were confiscated and loud speakers torn out.

Those arrested were charged with gambling and with possessing gambling devices. They were released on bond and will be arraigned in the South State street police court today.

The raids were at 122 South Clark street [two raids]; 229 South Wabash avenue [two raids]; 216 North Wells street; 27 South Wabash avenue [two raids]; 212 North Hamlin avenue; 159 North Wabash avenue; 180 West Randolph street; 5945 West Chicago avenue; 39 West Adams street; 5907 Wentworth avenue; 4253 West North avenue; and 1201 South Michigan avenue, and 117 North Clark street [two raids].

It's Open Season on Bass—Also Bass Stories

Mishawaka, Ind., June 16.—[Special.]—George Kilbey, 11 years old, opened the fishing season this morning by dropping his hook into the St. Joseph river. Several minutes later he felt a tug at the line. After a ten minute fight and with the aid of his father he pulled in two bass, each 16 inches long and weighing 2¾ pounds.

CANCEL PLANS FOR ROAD RACE ON SHORE DRIVES

After a conference with Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district, John McKinlay, chairman of the Chicago Charter Jubilee committee, yesterday announced the cancelation of plans for the proposed 300 mile lake front automobile race scheduled for July 17. Mr. McKinlay's statement follows:

"Because of the danger involved for the spectators we are canceling the automobile race scheduled for July 17. We recognize that this probably would be the outstanding sporting event of the year and would attract to Chicago hundreds of thousands of visitors, but this does not justify our endangering the life of a single Chicago citizen or visitor. We would be doing just that."

The proposed course for the race was over Columbus and Lief Eriksen drives in Grant and Burnham parks.

BUFFALO NIAGARA DELAYS OFFERING OF TWO ISSUES

Lull Develops in Market After Large Deals.

A lull in offering of new securities will occur today, following marketing yesterday of approximately 120 millions of bonds, the largest volume in recent weeks.

Offering of $7,000,000 of serial debentures and $17,029,000 of bonds of the Buffalo Niagara Electric corporation, which was to have been made today, has been postponed because the New York public service commission has not yet acted on the debentures, although approving the bonds. Offering of new City of Buenos Aires, Argentina, securities has been postponed to June 21, while the Southwestern Light and Power issue has been delayed to July 6.

Fixes Dividend Rate.

The dividend rate on the new preferred stock to be sold by Standard Brands, Inc., was fixed at $4.50 a year by an amendment filed yesterday with the Securities and Exchange commission.

Registration statements were filed yesterday for $622,500 or $1 par common stock of Dixie Home Stores, Greenville, S. C., grocery chain, to be offered for the account of present stockholders, and $32,000 of 25 per cent common stock of Santa Rita Oil company, Long Beach, Cal., to provide funds for equipment and drilling.

Will Seek Bank Loans.

The Detroit City Gas company notified the SEC of plans to negotiate $5,000,000 in bank loans to provide for debt, line extensions, and service expenses and asked exemption of the transaction from the holding company act.

Consolidated Edison company of New York filed an amendment with the SEC postponing effectiveness of a proposed issue of $5 preferred stock to be issued under a plan, rejected by the state public service commission, for acquisition of preferred stock of an affiliate, New York Steam corporation. Consolidated Edison announced it is working on a new plan.

$17,850,000 Texas Oil Trust Suit Ordered Tried

Austin, Tex., June 16.—[Special.]—The Texas anti-trust laws were upheld today by State Supreme court, and the $17,850,000 penalty and forfeiture suit brought by the present Gov. James V. Allred when attorney general, against seventeen oil companies and the American Petroleum institute, was ordered tried in Travis county District court. The suit charged anti-trust violations in complying with the code governing filling station operations and retail marketing practices.

American Colortype.

Investors' Guide: Our family holds both preferred and common stock of American Colortype. On reorganization, we took common stock in lieu of overdue dividends on the preferred. I would appreciate any information about this company.—F. N. C.

Answer: Engaged in high grade art and commercial color printing, the American Colortype company sustained losses during the depression and effected a recapitalization in December, 1936, to remove five years' preferred dividend arrears.

One share of new 5 per cent $100 par preferred stock and two shares of $10 par common stock were issued for each share of 7 per cent preferred stock and unpaid dividends. Dividends on the new preferred are cumulative and payable only to the extent earned in each year. In addition, the company has issued $1,500,000 of fifteen year 5 per cent sinking fund debentures to retire $816,000 of 6 per cent debentures, $239,800 of subsidiary 6 per cent preferred stock and provide additional working capital.

Products of the company are used for covers, color advertising pages, magazines, mail order and other catalogs, greeting cards and calendars. Straight color and lithographic work is the largest single source of revenue. Calendars and metal signs contribute the bulk of remaining revenue.

A three year improvement in business has extended into 1937, sales being $2,833,000 in the first quarter of the year, compared with $2,212,000 in the corresponding 1936 period. Increased volume has produced operating economies. The record of recent years:

| | Gross revenue. | Net income. | Inc. per com. shr. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1936 .... | $ 7,781,000 | $ 198,000 | $1.03 |
| 1935 .... | 6,504,000 | 68,000 | .11 |
| 1934 .... | 5,543,000 | *77,000 | *.91 |
| 1933 .... | 4,458,000 | *358,000 | *2.89 |
| 1932 .... | 4,901,000 | *1,014,000 | *7.51 |
| 1931 .... | 7,330,000 | *409,000 | *3.08 |
| 1930 .... | 10,245,000 | 309,000 | 1.52 |

*Loss.

Current assets were $3,390,000 and current liabilities were $1,491,000 on Dec. 31, 1936.

Since the recapitalization there are 7,443 shares of new preferred and 156,886 shares of common stock outstanding.

No dividends have been paid on the common since 1931, nor have any dividends been paid on the new preferred yet.

The common is quite speculative. The preferred also should be considered speculative pending establishment of dividends on a regular basis.

CHASE TO PROFIT TWO MILLIONS ON FOX FILM DEAL

55 Million Loss Expected at One Time.

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—The Chase National Bank and the Amerex Holding corporation, former security affiliate of the bank, will receive a net profit of about $2,000,000 from their General Theaters Equipment and Fox Film financing, former Supreme Court Justice Jeremiah T. Mahoney reported today to Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer.

At the time of the senate stock market investigation it was estimated that the transactions would result in a $55,000,000 loss.

Advocates Wiggin Offer.

This change in outlook was given by Mahoney as a reason why the $2,500,000 settlement offer of Albert H. Wiggin, former president of the Chase, and two other defendants in a $100,000,000 stockholders' suit against present and former officers of the bank should be accepted. The suit, started in 1934, alleged a $50,000,000 loss to the bank arising out of the General Theaters Equipment, Fox Film deals.

In a statement issued after filing the report, Mahoney said:

"The entire General Theaters Equipment-Fox Film project should be viewed as a whole. The component parts of the financing should not be segregated and considered independently. When thus considered, there is an over-all profit today to the Chase bank of approximately $2,000,000."

Special Officer of Court.

Judge Mahoney has been appointed a referee to determine whether or not the settlement offers were adequate. If his recommendation is approved by Justice Hammer the $2,500,000 will be divided equally between the Chase bank and the Amerex Holding corporation, successor to the Chase Securities corporation. Of the compromise $2,000,000 is to be contributed by Wiggin and $250,000 each by the estates of Lewis Cass Ledyard Jr. and Charles Hayden.

It is claimed in the suit that Wiggin and other defendants had been guilty of negligence and breaches of trust in the management of the bank and its affiliate. Judge Mahoney's report absolved the defendants of any negligence in the loan of $12,000,000 to the republic of Cuba.

Picture Producers Lease Space in New Building

Universal Pictures corporation, Columbia Pictures corporation, and the United Artists corporation have taken long term leases on space in a two story motion picture film exchange building to be erected at the southeast corner of Wabash avenue and 13th street by the 1301 Wabash Avenue Building corporation. A. M. Brown, secretary, announced that the 171 by 55 foot site was purchased by the corporation from the estate of Mrs. William Vaughan Moody, through the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank. Olsen & Urban are the architects.

LEADING FARM STATES RECEIVE PLENTY OF RAIN

Warmth, Sunshine Reported Needed.

General rains fell over the leading agricultural states during the week ending June 15, according to the department of agriculture's weekly weather report made public yesterday. With the exception of Nebraska, Montana, and parts of Kansas all states have received above average moisture during the April 1-June 15 period.

Conditions of drouth that had persisted in some areas have been relieved almost generally, said the report, and the areas now in need of moisture are almost negligible. However, warmth and sunshine are needed over large areas, as crop growth has been somewhat retarded because of a lack of this. Heavy rains hampered farm work and harvest in many areas.

Dry Weather Needed.

Dry weather is needed for the harvest of winter wheat in the extreme south, according to the report. In Oklahoma binders are being used generally. Considerable lodging occurred in parts of Missouri, eastern Kansas, and sections of the Ohio valley. While rust was reported, no mention was made of damage in the detailed summary.

The spring wheat crop is in excellent condition in Minnesota and eastern North Dakota. It is fair to good in central North Dakota and improving in South Dakota. Much wheat is in poor condition in western North Dakota.

Mention was made of black stem rust in North Dakota, but the weather bureau report failed to give the locality.

Corn Planting Nearly Completed.

Corn planting is practically completed, except in limited areas where there has been delay because of wet soil. Corn is three feet high in parts of Missouri, said the report. Cultivation of the crop is well along almost generally, but in some of the wettest areas there is considerable weediness. In general the corn crop was said to have improved and is now mostly good to excellent.

The oats harvest has started in the extreme southwest, with the crop heading north to the central sections, and is in the boot—when the head is about to come up from the stock—in parts of the extreme north. The condition of the crop is good, as a rule.

Potatoes, gardens, and truck crops have improved almost generally, and over large areas are good to excellent. Fruits and berry prospects continue good to excellent.

Figures on Rainfall.

Rainfall in inches during the last two weeks and the total precipitation from April 1 to June 15, compared with normal, as reported by the weather bureau, follow:

HUPP TO START PRODUCING NEW CARS ON AUG. 1

Production of 1938 model cars will be started Aug. 1 by the Hupp Motor Car company following a shutdown of more than a year, it was announced yesterday by Thomas Bradley, president. He said the company can cover all expenses on an annual output of 15,000 cars.

At the same time announcement was made of increased sales by two automotive makers during the first ten days of June. Studebaker corporation reported sales of 2,921 units during the period, against 2,190 in the same 1936 period, bringing sales this year to 49,420 cars and trucks, against 42,201 in 1936. Buick sales amounted to 7,807 units, compared with 6,508 in the same period of May and 4,768 in the first ten days of June, 1936.

Profit Taking Erases Early Wheat Gains

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

Closing prices of principal July delivered on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

| | Yesterday. | Tuesday. | Yr. ago. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat | $1.10⅛ | 1.11⅝ | $ .88⅛ |
| Corn | 1.12 | 1.14⅜ | .62⅝ |
| Oats | .39⅝ | .40⅛ | .26¼ |
| Rye | .84⅛ | .84⅝ | .57½ |
| Soy beans | 1.34 | 1.35 | ...... |

Continued drouth reports from the Canadian northwest and an advance of 4 cents or more a bushel in Liverpool resulted in an advance of about a cent a bushel in wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade in the early trading yesterday, but heavy profit taking sales, attracted by the upturn of 7 cents from the low point of Monday, caused a reaction and closing trades showed a net loss of a cent or more as compared with the finish of the previous day.

The reaction in American wheat markets had considerable influence on Winnipeg, which reacted to close only fractionally higher after the July delivery had advanced 1⅝ cents to $1.23⅜ a bushel, or 9⅜ cents above the low point on Monday.

Drouth Reports Confirmed.

Confirmation of trade reports of a serious drouth situation in parts of the Canadian northwest was received late yesterday. The Searle Grain company of Winnipeg, based on reports from 1,163 stations, estimated the condition of spring wheat in the three prairie provinces at 68 per cent of the long time average against 89 per cent last year. Saskatchewan, which has more than 50 per cent of the total acreage in Canada, was estimated to have a condition of 57 per cent against 85 per cent in 1936, while the drouth talk in parts of Alberta was reflected in a condition of 79 per cent. A year ago it was 93 per cent.

Heavy rains fell in parts of Oklahoma and Kansas, which are expected to further delay the harvest of the new winter wheat crop. Nebraska also had considerable precipitation, which tended to intensify fears of possible black rust damage.

July Corn Off, December Up.

Liquidation by holders of July corn, both outright and in the way of replacing with purchases of September, caused a decline of 2¼ cents a bushel in the nearby delivery. The December contract, which represents the new crop, gained a small fraction of a cent a bushel on buying induced by reports indicating that further rains would have an adverse effect on the prospective yield.

Oats and rye declined a fraction of a cent a bushel in sympathy with other grains. July rye in Winnipeg advanced 4⅞ cents a bushel early to $1.21, and showed a 14½ cents advance from the low point Monday.

PRICE OF COAL IN CHICAGO MAY RISE 20C A TON

Coal prices in the Chicago area are expected to be boosted about 20 cents a ton shortly as a result of three factors increasing costs of operators, it was reported yesterday by coal men.

These three factors are the 10 per cent wage increase granted to miners Tuesday, taxes imposed under the social security laws, and a tax of 1 cent a ton imposed under terms of the Guffey act for a "little NRA" in the coal industry. The 20 cent figure is considered slightly low in some quarters, where an increase of 25 cents a ton is thought more probable.

The estimates cover cost of coal at the mines throughout Illinois, but are expected to apply to retail prices.

INCOME TAX RECEIPTS FOR FIFTEEN DAYS TOTAL $469,841,709

Washington, D. C., June 16.—(AP)—The treasury reported late today it reaped $378,831,649 from second quarter income tax collections yesterday, bringing receipts for the first 15 days of June to $469,841,709. June 15 was the deadline for second quarter payments.

The 15 day total, computed on the basis of preliminary reports from revenue collectors, indicated to some observers that income tax revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30 will top President Roosevelt's revised budget forecast of $2,105,000,000 by from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Collections for the first half of June were 69 per cent above those for the same period last year. This was the same rate of gain recorded by first quarter collections in March.

Thus far this fiscal year collections have totaled $1,070,000,000—only $35,000,000 short of the estimate for the entire period.

FRANC IMPROVES AS BLUM WINS FRENCH SUPPORT

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—The victory of the cabinet of Premier Leon Blum in securing from the French chamber of deputies additional powers to meet the financial crisis brought prompt improvement to the franc in the foreign exchange market today. Spot francs were firm at 4.45½ cents but there was a sharp reduction in the discount on three months franc futures from 23 points below the spot rate on Tuesday to 17½ points today.

While the franc improved in terms of the dollar other important foreign exchanges were easier. The pound sterling fell 3-16 cent to $4.93⅞.

In London gold continued to be drawn from hoarding and shipped here. A total of $8,040,000 gold was engaged abroad for shipment to the United States, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Of this amount $5,491,000 was secured in England and $2,549,000 in Canada. Shipments of $720,000 gold from England arrived here today the reserve bank reported. The price of the metal in the London market was fixed at the equivalent of $34.69 an ounce, compared with Tuesday's price of $34.70.

WALLACE LAYS FAILURE OF CROP PLAN TO FARMERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 16.—[Special.]—Apathy of farmers toward the ever normal granary farm program was blamed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today for the decision of congressional leaders to sidetrack the program at this session of congress.

"There is considerable feeling on Capitol Hill that the program is that of farm leaders and that it does not represent the rank and file of farmers," Wallace said. "Apparently the rank and file of farmers are not interested in the program. At least, that is a common belief among members of congress.

Wallace said he still has hopes that the farm program would be acted upon at this session. He added that he was not so sure of the ever normal granary phase of the program as he was of crop insurance and farm tenancy, as these matters have already been thoroughly gone into by senate and house committees.

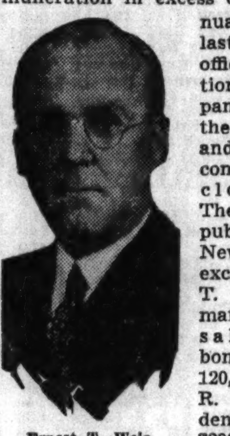
Two $200,000 Salaries Paid by Nat'l Steel

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—Remuneration in excess of $200,000 annually was paid last year to two officers of the National Steel company, reports to the Securities and Exchange commission disclosed today. They were made public by the New York Stock exchange. Ernest T. Weir, chairman, received salaries and bonuses of $200,120, while George R. Fink, president, was paid $200,100.



Ernest T. Weir.

Another large salary was that of $120,000 paid to John A. Brown, director, president and chairman of the executive committee of Socony-Vacuum company. Edwyn R. Brown, director and vice president, earned $81,000 for the year and Frederick S. Fales, director and vice president, got $72,800.

Head of Borden Gets $95,000.

Borden company paid Arthur W. Milburn, president, $95,000 in 1936, while George M. Waugh Jr., as vice president, received $49,700, and Theodore G. Montague, vice president, received $48,000.

The report of Sharp & Dohme, Inc., disclosed that W. L. Dempsey had been hired as assistant to the president beginning Jan. 1, 1937, at $25,000 per year. He was also given an option to buy 5,000 shares of common at $10 a share until Dec. 31, 1946. The option stipulates, however, that Dempsey must still be in the employ of the company at the time of exercising the option.

BIG UTILITIES REPORT RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Earnings Improve in Most Cases.

Commonwealth and Southern corporation yesterday reported for the 12 months ended May 31 net income of $15,420,379, equal to 19 cents a share, in 33,673,328 shares of common stock, compared with $10,355,416, or 4 cents a share in the 12 months ended May 31, 1936.

Simon Guggenheimer, American Smelting and Refining chief.

Provision was made for federal surtax on undistributed profits for 1936, the company announced, but no provision was made for such tax in 1937. For the five months ended May 31 net income was $7,131,515, against $5,060,947 in the first five months of 1936. May net income was $1,193,463, compared with $901,114 in May, 1936.

Detroit Edison Gain Slight.

Detroit Edison company and subsidiaries reported net income of $10,759,621 before undistributed profits surtax, equal to $8.46 a common share. This compares with $10,684,180, or $8.40 a share in the preceding 12 months.

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey announced its net income for the 12 months ended May 31, 1937, was $25,215,852, equal after preferred dividends, to $2.79 a share on 5,503,193 common shares. In the 12 months ended May 31, 1936, net income was $23,175,551, or $2.48 a common share.

The City of Detroit department of railways reported net income of $361,395 for the 11 months ended May 31, compared with $567,878 in the 11 months ended May 31, 1937. May net income was $12,273, against $86,128 in May, 1936.

Sees Upturn This Year.

Simon Guggenheim, chairman of the executive committee of the American Smelting and Refining company, said in New York before sailing for Europe that earnings of his concern in the first six months of this year will be better than in the corresponding 1936 period, when net income was $7,898,000, or $3.01 a common share.

The business outlook for the remainder of the year depends on the labor situation, Guggenheim asserted.

Wilson-Jones company, Chicago manufacturer of loose leaf products, reported net income for the nine months ended May 31 of $512,915, or $1.88 a share on the 272,000 shares of capital stock outstanding after a two-for-one split May 12. This com-

Stocks Sag in Light Trading; Strike News Rules Market

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—With discouraging labor news continuing to depress the market leaders, prices on the stock exchange closed irregularly lower today after several feeble attempts to rally had failed. Leading issues sagged fractions to more than a point. Steels, rails, metals, and motors were among the hardest hit. Volume declined to 698,630 shares.

Despite the fact that the list displayed no definite trend, sentiment of a majority of traders in Wall street was said to indicate satisfaction with the way the market weathered overnight news and today's developments in the labor situation.

Steel Shares Decline.

Street opinion was believed to be favorably impressed with the behavior of steel shares in the face of continuing violence at steel mills. After working a trifle higher early in the day, U. S. Steel common proved vulnerable to pressure and at the close was 1⅜ points lower. Losses in other steels, including Bethlehem, Youngstown, Republic, and Inland Steel, ran from a fraction to one point.

Reflecting fears of fresh labor troubles and the effect on future profits, automobile shares ran into difficulties. General Motors was pushed 1¾ points lower in generous supply to close barely a fraction above its recent low. Chrysler closed at the 100 mark after touching 103.

Auburn Breaks 6 Points.

Auburn automobile stock, which in past years was noteworthy for sensational advances and declines, at one time showed a decline of 7 points but recovered a point, closing at 14½ for a net loss of 6 points. The stock was in relatively active supply yesterday.

Rails did little, although there were soft spots here and there in the division. Utilities were a bit higher on the average at intervals, but the list's general weakness finally pulled them downward. Several favorites stayed on the up side, however.

Nonferrous metals, particularly coppers, weakened despite the better tone in London. Oils were steady.

Douglas Aircraft worked fractionally lower in the aviations. Westinghouse bore the brunt of the attack in the electric equipments, losing more than 3 points in a thin market. Mail orders were not much changed.

French Stocks Decline.

PARIS, June 16. — [Special.]—Leading French industrial stocks fell 5 to 10 per cent on the Paris bourse today following the statement by Vincent Auriol, minister of finance, that he intends to reëstablish certain registration taxes, impose a progressive tax on company dividends exceeding 6 per cent, and compel industrial insurance companies to invest reserves in public funds. Rentes were strong.

AUBURN BREAK A MYSTERY

The sharp break in Auburn Automobile stock on the New York Stock exchange from 20⅛ to 14⅛, accompanied by a correspondingly sharp break in Cord corporation stock on the Chicago board from 2⅜ to 2, had traders and investors guessing yesterday. No word was forthcoming from company officials to provide a clew. L. B. Manning and R. S. Pruitt, two of the chief executive officers in the extensive Cord organization maintaining offices in Chicago, were out of town.

Cord corporation is the top holding company controlling a number of concerns with large interests in the various fields of transportation. In addition to controlling Auburn through extensive minority stock holdings, Cord controls New York Shipbuilding, Aviation corporation, American Airlines, Checker Cab and Manufacturing, Lycoming Motors, Columbia Axle, Chicago Yellow Cab, and Parmelee.

The company is said to have no labor trouble, while its business prospects are held to be favorable.

RAILROADS RENEW PLEA FOR HIGHER FREIGHT RATES

Washington, D. C., June 16.—(AP)—Class 1 railroads asked the interstate commerce commission today for an increase in the general freight rate structure because operating expenses are increasing "by leaps and bounds." The request was made when the commission opened final hearings on the petition of the carriers for a rate to replace surcharges which were terminated last December.

Appearing at today's hearing were R. V. Fletcher, general counsel of the Association of American Railroads, and E. A. Smith, railroad attorney representing all carriers and specifically the western district.

Fletcher told the commission the immediate future may determine whether the roads are to continue or yield to competitors. He said increases are necessary if deferred maintenance and the public demand for transportation service are to be met.

DEPOSITORS IN CLOSED BANK FAIL TO CLAIM AVAILABLE FUNDS

He is in the strange predicament of having about $60,000 of cash ready to give to depositors of the defunct bank and finding few interested in coming to get it. Depositors can have it by calling at 3616 Ogden avenue, headquarters of the receivership.

Liquidation of assets had produced enough to provide another 5 per cent return to depositors, so a "dividend" of that amount was declared last week, but very little of the $46,000 thus made available has been taken.

In addition, about $15,000 of the four previous dividends has not been called for. Further than that, many depositors have not even taken the trouble to file claims.

DELAY HEARING ON MILWAUKEE RAILROAD PLAN

I.C.C. Action Follows Plea of Scandrett.

Washington, D. C., June 16.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission today delayed its hearing on a reorganization plan for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad to Sept. 20. The action followed a request by Henry A. Scandrett, president of the line, that a six month postponement be considered, "because the railroad outlook is now more uncertain than it was in 1935."

H. A. Scandrett.

The plan was presented originally in 1935. Scandrett said reorganization of the carrier on the basis of that or any other plan is not now feasible.

Withhold Objections.

Kenneth Burgess, representing institutional bondholders, said he would not object to a delay, but warned his group would contest any proposal that would affect the priority of mortgage liens in favor of stockholders. Scandrett's plea was supported by H. S. Davis, who represented a group of stockholders, and W. W. Colpitts, director and consulting engineer of New York City.

Some of the uncertainty, it was indicated, rests in legislation proposed in congress which may add heavily to railroad operating charges. Scandrett said he had been told by directors to ask a postponement of the reorganization proceedings for at least six months in the hope that present uncertainties might be sufficiently cleared to enable presentation of a modification of the 1935 plan or the formulation of a new one. Action taken by the board was on the recommendation of a committee of three members, Fairman Dick, Howland Davis, and W. W. Colpitts.

This committee, Scandrett said, believes that the present plan would cause such great sacrifices on the part of all classes of security holders that there would be small likelihood of gaining their consent to it.

Estimates 14 Per cent Gain in Profit.

Scandrett estimated the road's net income for the first half of 1937 would be 14 per cent greater than it was in the first half of 1936. For the entire year 1937 he estimated operating revenues at $109,142,000. He said that estimates made by the trustees indicate that upon consummation of a reorganization plan gross revenues of is the terminal for 22 trunk line railroads operating 44 per cent of the entire railroad mileage in the country.

Normally 1,500 passenger trains enter or leave Chicago and 2,400 freight trains move in or through the Chicago terminal district every day—in other words, one passenger train every minute and one freight train every thirty-six seconds. The railroads serving Chicago own approximately one-half of the railway equipment in service and handle over one-half of the total rail freight and passenger traffic of the nation.

To anyone marketing goods or services on a national scale, a Chicago banking connection is valuable. This bank is equipped to give every service of a metropolitan institution and to render these services in a manner adapted to your individual needs. You are invited to consider its enlarging resources and long experience.

New York Bonds.

New York, June 16.—[Special.]—A somewhat better tone in United States government obligations featured an otherwise dull market today for bonds on the New York Stock exchange. While most of the higher grade corporate loans held steady considerable selling pressure persisted throughout a broad list of secondary issues, particularly in the railroad group. Late weakness in pivotal stocks was also reflected by lower prices among most of the more active convertible loans.

The trading pace slackened considerably with transactions in all bonds amounting to $7,747,000, compared with $9,682,000 on the preceding day.

For no apparent reason the market for treasury long term bonds closed with net gains of 1-32 to 6-32ds point on a turnover of less than $1,000,000.

Foreign dollar bonds were firm to slightly better in quiet dealings. German obligations continued to work irregularly higher, while bonds of Buenos Aires responded to a good demand with gains of major fractions to more than a point.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved irregularly lower in another dull trading session yesterday when 30,000 shares changed hands. Thirty-six issues declined and 31 were unchanged, while 19 advanced.

The only new high of the year was recovered by Lion Oil, which closed at 30, up 1¼. Cord turned over in heavy volume, 5,600 shares changing hands. The stock sold down ⅜ to $2 a share.

Among other volume leaders, Chicago corporation advanced ⅛ to 4⅛. Central and South West Utilities common and Merchants and Manufacturers A were unchanged. General Household Utilities declined ⅜ to 3¾.

Listing of 138,182 additional shares of $5 par common stock of the Bundstrand Machine Tool company was approved yesterday by the governing committee of the Chicago Stock exchange. The shares will be admitted to training on official notice of issuance and registration under the securities act of 1934.

Announcement also was made of the sale of a membership at $2,000 unchanged from the previous sale.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were firmer yesterday. Gains of $1 a share were recorded in City National, Continental-Illinois, First National, and Chicago Title. Others were unchanged, with the exception of Northern Trust, which was $10 lower as it sold ex dividend.

U. S. TO APPEAL GENERAL MOTORS TAX DECISION

Washington, D. C., June 16.—[Special.]—The internal revenue bureau today announced its intention to carry to the Circuit Court of Appeals its efforts to collect $15,342,369 from the General Motors corporation for an alleged deficiency on the corporation's 1926 tax bill.

The case was decided by the board of tax appeals in favor of the corporation by a vote of 10 to 6. The internal revenue bureau in deciding not to acquiesce with the board notified the department of justice today to carry the case to the appeals court.

Originally the government contended that the corporation had deficiencies for the years 1924-'27. Settlements were reached by stipulation for all years but 1926 which case was argued before the tax board by mutual agreement.

AMERICAN STORES SALES.

The American Stores company yesterday reported sales for the four weeks ended May 29 of $8,894,869, a gain of 5.7 per cent over the like weeks of 1936 when sales were $8,411,377. Sales for the five months ended May 29 totaled $47,986,133 against sales of $47,751,388 in the corresponding months last year.

Commodities

Further irregularity developed in world commodity markets yesterday as sharp recovery in metal prices was offset by equally sharp declines in coffee and hides. Prices of most other commodities fluctuated in narrow ranges and gains were well mixed with losses at the end of trading.

Export copper climbed as high as 13.65 cents a pound in New York. Copper futures in New York rose 18 to 30 points [a point equals 0.01 cent], zinc futures advanced 20 points, lead was up 4 points, and nominal tin prices were quoted 40 to 46 points higher.

Coffee futures closed sharply lower in New York as a result of heavy trade selling and stop orders which accelerated the decline.

Cotton closed unchanged to 10 points higher in leading markets.

New York hide futures fell 24 to 30 points in heavy trading, and hides for delivery in June closed at 14.60 cents a pound. Rubber was unchanged to 4 points higher, with rubber for immediate delivery quoted at 19.22 cents a pound. Wool tops for immediate delivery in New York sold at $1.14½.

Sales of No. 1 heavy melting steel scrap were reported in Chicago as low as $16 a ton, off $1 from the last sale. In Pittsburgh No. 1 metal was generally quoted at $18 to $18.50 a ton, a drop of 50 cents.

On the Chicago Mercantile exchange, egg futures closed mixed. November butter declined ¼ cent a pound to 30¾ cents a pound.

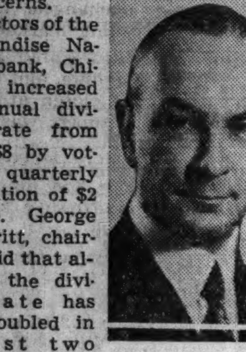
DIVIDEND RATE OF MERCHANDISE BANK INCREASED

Several Concerns Vote Extras or Lift Payments.

Extra, interim and increased dividend payments were authorized yesterday by directors of a number of concerns.



George B. Everitt.

Directors of the Merchandise National bank, Chicago, increased the annual dividend rate from $6 to $8 by voting a quarterly distribution of $2 a share. George B. Everitt, chairman, said that although the dividend rate has been doubled in the last two years the bank is paying out a smaller percentage of its earnings than other New York and Chicago banks as shown by published data. Deposits, he said, have reached a new high figure of $17,000,000.

New York Bank Votes Extra.

Another banking institution, the Fifth Avenue bank, New York, announced a special dividend of $10 a share. In addition the bank will pay the regular quarterly dividend of $6 a share.

Directors of the Aero Supply Manufacturing company voted a dividend of $1.12½ on the class A stock. The payment will reduce arrears to $2.25 a share. The company paid 75 cents on April 1.

Pullman, Inc., voted its regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share. Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation directors voted a distribution of $1.75 a share to apply on preferred stock arrears. A similar amount was paid April 10.

Mining Firm Takes Action.

An extra dividend of $1 a share was declared by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company of Canada. A semi-annual dividend of 50 cents was also approved.

Arundel corporation voted a regular dividend of 25 cents and an extra of the same amount. A dividend of 35 cents was ordered by United Specialties company, compared with 15 cents paid March 31.

New Illinois Oil Well Produces 100 Barrels Day

Flora, Ill., June 16.—(AP)—Oil officials said today the Brach well near Cisne, which came in Sunday, was producing about 100 barrels a day. The well is an offset to the nearby Bradley well.

'MARY' IS ALL LIT UP; 'SHE' IS 95 YEARS OLD OHIO BLAST FURNACE

Youngstown, O., June 16.—(AP)—With most of the modern blast furnaces in the Mahoning valley still banked because of the steel strike, the 95 year old "Mary" furnace at the Lowellville plant of the Sharon Steel corporation, oldest stack in the district, went back into blast today after being cold for six years.

"Mary," the only hand-filled furnace in this section, was lighted by 12 year old Gretchen Roemer, daughter of Henry A. Roemer, president of the company, in a ceremony this morning. The furnace employs 250 men, and will produce 400 tons of pig iron a day.

ELECTRIC POWER HAS BETTER THAN SEASONAL GAIN

Chicago Increase Is 4.7 Per Cent.

Production of electricity in the United States during the week ended June 12 totaled 2,214,166,000 kilowatt hours, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday.

This represented an increase of 3.9 per cent over the preceding week, when output totaled 2,131,092,000 kilowatt hours, and was 13.8 per cent better than for the corresponding week of 1936, when output was 1,945,018,000 kilowatt hours. The increase was more than seasonal.

Gains by Regions.

Percentage increases over last year by major geographic regions were: Rocky mountains, 27.9; southern states, 13.8; middle Atlantic, 13.4; central industrial, 12.9; New England, 9.2; Pacific coast, 9.1, and west central, 4.4.

The electric output of the four companies serving the Chicago district for the week ended June 12 totaled 122,615,000 kilowatt hours, a gain of 4.7 per cent over the preceding week, and a gain of 12.8 per cent over the corresponding week of 1936.

Chicago District Comparison.

Electric output in kilowatt hours and percentage comparisons with last year for the last four weeks in the Chicago district follows:

| Week ended | 1937. | 1936. | Pct. inc. |
|---|---|---|---|
| June 12 | 122,615,000 | 108,682,000 | 12.8 |
| June 5 | 116,878,000 | 107,697,000 | 8.6 |
| May 29 | 123,601,000 | 104,256,000 | 18.6 |
| May 22 | 125,178,000 | 108,197,000 | 15.8 |

Electric output of the public utility operating companies in the Standard Gas and Electric company system for the week ended June 12 totaled 105,830,123 kilowatt hours, an increase of 11.9 per cent over the corresponding week last year.

STEEL OUTPUT DROPS 1 POINT TO 77 PER CENT

Possible Shortage in Tin Plate Is Seen.

Production of steel ingots this week was estimated at 77 per cent of capacity by the magazine Iron Age yesterday, against an estimate of 78 per cent a week ago. Reduced output in the Johnstown, Pa., and the Youngstown areas, where strikes have closed several plants, and in the southern steel mills, was partially offset by increased output by Republic and Carnegie-Illinois plants in Chicago, the magazine said.

In reference to the threat of extension of the steel strikes to mines and lake ore carriers the magazine said:

"The threat of a strike on the boats, thus tying up shipments of ore to companies with which the C. I. O. is in dispute, is an empty one at the moment because these companies are unable to handle all the ore consigned to them and are shifting cargoes and boats to other steel producers.

Mine Closing Called Futile.

"The closing down of 'captive' mines is a futile gesture," Iron Age said, "because the steel plants have ample stocks of coal for some weeks. The principal effect on the market of the coal shutdown is pressure for quicker shipments of pig iron by some foundry consumers."

One of the most serious results of the steel strikes, as affecting consumers, is the interruption of tin plate production, which totals about 30,000 tons a month, or approximately 17 per cent of the monthly average in 1936. There is an ample supply for canning early crops, but if the strikes last several weeks longer there will probably be a shortage of cans for late season crops, the trade journal indicated.

Enough for Year.

During the period of full and uninterrupted production, several weeks ago, before the labor difficulties, it was apparent that the 1937 output of tin plate would be no more than enough to take care of this year's requirements.

New steel business at Pittsburgh and other points unaffected by the strikes has been slightly larger during the last week.

Steel scrap prices declined fifty cents at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, but there was no change at Chicago. Iron Age's composite scrap price reached a new low for the year of $17.08, off 34 cents from last week.

TVA TAKES STEP TO CENTRALIZE ADMINISTRATION

Knoxville, Tenn., June 16.—(AP)—The Tennessee valley authority moved toward centralization of its administrative set-up today by appointing J. B. Blandford Jr., general manager in charge of administration. Blandford has been acting general manager since May 22, 1936, but by today's resolution, which becomes effective tomorrow, he was made the administrative head of all departments of the authority.

In the past, Chairman A. E. Morgan was considered the director in charge of engineering; David E. Lilienthal, director of power activities and legal questions, and H. A. Morgan, director of agricultural work. Henceforth, the board of directors normally will be a policy making body.

Blandford came to the TVA in 1933 as assistant to Chairman Morgan. He resigned as public safety director of Cincinnati to accept the position.

The directors also enlarged the duties of James Lawrence Fly, general counsel, by naming him secretary of the corporation. In the future, Fly will attend all meetings of the board of directors or send a designated representative.

Downstate Phone Concern Told to Build 4 New Lines

The Illinois commmerce commission yesterday ordered the Illinois Commercial Telephone company to erect new trunk lines immediately for service between West Frankfort, Benton, Zeigler, and Christopher in Franklin county. The company also was ordered to assemble a consolidated telephone directory for the four cities and make substantial repairs to the system to eliminate interference on present lines.

Phillips Petroleum to Boost All Pay Under $175 a Month

Bartlesville, Okla., June 16.—(AP)—Frank Phillips, president of Phillips Petroleum company, announced today all employés of the company and its subsidiaries receiving less than $175 month would receive a "small wage increase" effective July 1, 1937. Amount of the increase and the number of men affected were not announced.

Stone & Webster to Build Massachusetts 'Tech' Unit

Boston, Mass., June 16.—[Special.]—The Massachusetts Institute of Technology today awarded a $1,100,000 contract to the Stone & Webster Engineering corporation covering engineering services and management in the construction of a new building at Cambridge, Mass., to house the institute's architectural school.

Railroad to Air Condition 12 Story Headquarters

Omaha, Neb., June 16.—[Special.]—A contract has been awarded for complete air conditioning of the 12 story Union Pacific railroad headquarters building here, at an estimated cost of more than $250,000, it was learned today. This will be the largest project of its type west of the Mississippi river.

The Steel Man's Lingo.

"Turn the water off at the jumbo and open up the bleeder."

Sounds rather unintelligible, doesn't it? Not so. In correct English this means:

"The man in charge of the blast furnace wishes you to shut off the cooling system at the spout through which the molten slag runs, and to open e valve to relieve the pressure within the furnace."

Steel workers have a colorful lingo, assigning special meaning to common words. Many devices and products are named after animals. Pig iron is so called because at one time the iron was cast in individual blocks by running the molten metal from the blast furnace into trenches from which extended, like a litter of suckling pigs, dozens of smaller trenches. The name still is in use for blast furnace iron. A sow is a main trench from the furnace. Motherless pigs are blocks of iron cast into individual molds.

Bears or horses are infusible masses of cinders which form on the blast furnace harth. The bug or fly is the small ball of steel which forms on the nozzle of a ladle, interfering with the pouring of a stream of steel.

Goose eggs or snow flakes are small silvery spots visible when bars of alloy steel are broken. They indicate internal strains and tears. A cat's eye is a bubble of gas in molten crucible steel.

A pulpit in steel terminology is an elevated platform on which the control apparatus of rolling mills is situated. When a steel man says "bosh" he is referring to the widest part of a blast furnace stock.

Even the word "necking" has a special meaning. It is used to describe the manner in which a bar of steel stretches and thins out like a piece of pulled taffy when it is pulled apart in a strength testing machine.

HEARING DELAYED ON MILWAUKEE RAILROAD PLAN

Outlook Is Uncertain, Scandrett Says.

the road will be progressively greater in forthcoming years.

He submitted an exhibit which forecast operating revenues as follows: For 1938, $119,000,000; 1939, $126,000,000; 1940, $134,000,000, and 1941, $141,000,000. Taking into consideration a new capital structure, he said the trustees estimated these revenues would produce the following amounts of net income after fixed charges: 1938, $5,037,275; 1939, $7,870,275; 1940, $9,704,569, and 1941, $11,650,848.

Committee Assails Plan.

Bitter criticism of the road's reorganization plan is contained in a letter sent to the I. C. C. by the committee.

"It is clear beyond doubt that in the light of its earnings experience the character of the management and other relevant facts, no adequate coverage for fixed charges as required by statute is provided for," the committee said.

"It is financial suicide to create a capital structure which requires fixed charges in an amount greater than the average earnings during the last five years. What assurance is there that there will not be a recurrence of another five year period such as that of the 1932-'36 experience by this road and, if such be the case, that the road will not succumb a third time to financial embarrassment?"

Business Bits

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of F. H. Baird of Cincinnati, general passenger agent of the Big Four division of the New York Central system, to the post of assistant passenger trafic manager. His headquarters will be in Chicago. A. W. Foellger, general passenger agent of the Michigan Central at Detroit, was transferred to a similar post at Chicago. R. B. Holmes, assistant general passenger agent at Detroit, was also transferred to Chicago, to a similar position. T. E. Nerland, general passenger agent in Seattle, becomes district passenger agent at Chicago.

C. A. Kepner of Chicago yesterday was reëlected president of the sixth division of the Railway Mail association.

ABITIBI POWER REORGANIZATION PLAN SUBMITTED

Toronto, Ont., June 16.—[Special.]—A plan for the reorganization of the Abitibi Power and Paper company was submitted today to the court by R. S. McPherson, liquidator. The plan proposes to pay off the present 5 per cent bonds and interest accruals with new bonds and warants exchangeable for bonds. Preferred stockholders would receive new common for their stock and arrears, and common stockholders would receive new common.

The exchange basis is as follows: For each $1,000 of present 5 per cent bonds held holders would get $600 of new first mortgage 5 per cent bonds and $700 new second mortgage income 5 per cent bonds convertible into common stock and warants. The second mortgage bonds would be convertible into new common stock at the rate of 40 shares for the first third of each $1,000 of principal amount, 35 shares for the second third, and 30 shares for the last third.

Preferred shareholders would receive five shares of new common for each share of 7 per cent preferred and four and one-half shares of new common for each share of 6 per cent preferred. Common shareholders would receive one share of new common for each five of the old held and would receive purchase warants.

LAKE COUNTY PAID FUNDS HELD IN CLOSED BANK

Lake county yesterday received a final payment of $106,336 on funds owing to it from the Waukegan State bank which closed in 1931. The payment was made by former County Treasurer Jay B. Morse and his bonding company. Morse was treasurer at the time the bank failed with $365,748.73 of county funds on deposit.

Of the total amount, $303,818 were preferred claims which were recovered in full from the bank. The bank has paid only 10 per cent on its general claims of which the county had $61,930.31. Morse and his bonding company made up the difference, amounting to $55,737, thus repaying the county in full.

Any further liquidating dividends by the bank will go to Morse and his bonding firm, who have discharged their liability to the county in full.

Ford to Stop Operations for Summer Inventory

Detroit, Mich., June 16.—(AP)—Harry H. Bennett, personnel director of the Ford Motor company, said that the company would suspend production during the summer inventory period, but would maintain its employment level at approximately 40 per cent of normal. The company's inventory plans were "the same as always," he said, and had no bearing on the automobile labor situation. The shutdown will extend over "a week or ten days," Bennett said. The 1936 summer stock taking required ten days.

CONFIRM REPORT SO. AFRICAN CORN SENT TO CHICAGO

While the department of commerce, in a report issued Tuesday at Washington, said it was unable to confirm statements that South African corn has been received at Chicago, the official records of Lyman C. West, statistician of the Chicago Board of Trade, show that in the last month 688,000 bushels of corn have been received from that part of the world. The grain was shipped here via Canadian ports. In addition there have been 4,862,000 bushels of Argentine corn received at Chicago since lake navigation opened, and additional receipts are expected almost daily until the new crop is available for use.

Department of commerce figures show that the United State imported a total of 55,541,000 bushels of corn between July 1, 1936, and April 30, 1937, against 30,312,000 bushels during the like period in 1935-'36. Imports of wheat during the ten months' period aggregated 32,206,000 bushels, against 29,836,000 bushels during the preceding season.

PEPPER FUTURES TRADING STARTED IN NEW YORK CITY

Trading in pepper futures was inaugurated yesterday on the New York Produce exchange, the first such market in this country. Previously, principal trading has centered in London.

The market was active and prices moved upward. The first sale, after considerable ceremony and several speeches, was a contract for delivery in September at 5.78 cents a pound. Price changes are in units of 1-100 cent per pound. The contract closed at 5.98@6.00 cents, with November futures finishing at 6.07 cents, March at 6.28 cents, and July at 6.45 cents.

Contracts are for 33,600 pounds. Each 1-100 cent change in price represents $3.36 per contract, which is the minimum amount traded.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Caught in Farm Error.

June 16, 1937.

(Picture on Back Page.)

IN planting soy beans at the Wheaton farm workers were caught in a common farm error. One of the men at the farm said that last Saturday the workers had finished preparing the soil for planting the beans on Monday. Saturday night it rained, making it necessary to work the soil again before planting. After this experience it is his belief that the invariable rule among farmers should be to arrange their work so that seeding will follow immediately after soil preparation.

Because of the rain planting was not started until Tuesday and was not completed until today. Twelve acres of soy beans of the Wilson variety have been planted. The manager expects to cut the beans with a mower and cure them for roughage to help offset the hay shortage resulting from drouths and severe winter killing of legume hay crops on the farm.

Use Grain Drill for Planting.

The beans were planted with a grain drill at the rate of five pecks or 75 pounds per acre. The Wilson soy bean is of the vine type and has been popular among Illinois farmers as a hay bean where grown alone or in a mixture with other varieties. It has been grown successfully on the Tribune farms when mixed with Virginia, another variety of the vine type, and Manchu, Ebony and Illini, all upright beans. The Wilson variety was brought to this country from Newchang, Manchuria, in 1906.

Workers began cultivating corn at the Wheaton farm yesterday. In working the field the first time, the ground between the rows is being thoroughly stirred to destroy the young weeds. The ground is rolled immediately after it is cultivated.

All of the corn is up. The seventy acres being grown this season will be cultivated as soon as possible.

Begin Mowing Blue Grass.

Mowers were started in the pastures at the Wheaton farm yesterday, cutting blue grass in the bloom stage for hay. The haymakers are finding the blue grass difficult to handle. Because of the short straws and scant foliage, the plants do not hang together well in raking and loading. One of the workmen said:

"It looks like the best way to do this job is to pick the stuff up and carry it to the barn in baskets."

The yield of hay is light except in spots where there are quack and orchard grasses. There the yield is heavier, but the quality of the hay may not be as good as that produced by blue grass alone. Blue grass is said to make a fair quality of hay when cut in the early bloom stage. It has little feeding value when cut after the seeds have formed.

Two ewe lambs from THE TRIBUNE'S Wheaton flock have been turned over to the Chicago Zoölogical Gardens at Brookfield to be used as pets on the children's playgrounds during the summer. Among the first visitors greeting them at the zoo were Robert Anderson, Marion Agonath, and Jean Pusch.

PRICES OF HOGS DROP TO LOWEST LEVEL IN MONTH

Industrial Unrest Cuts Demand for Meat.

Further declines yesterday carried the hog market to the lowest levels in about a month and 75 to 85 cents under the high mark of last month as the trade continued to feel the effects of industrial unrest. Despite a drop in available supplies of hogs at all packing centers, fresh pork met narrow outlet at weaker rates in Chicago, and declines ranging up to $1 per hundred pounds occurred in eastern distributing points.

The new break further curbed buying and prices at the stock yards ruled steady to 10 cents lower, most closing sales indicating losses of 5 to 10 cents in the face of lighter supplies. Both the top and the average prices were off 5 cents, at $11.35 and $10.85, respectively, the latter being the lowest since May 14.

Lard Demand Disappointing.

Demands on lard stocks during the first half of June were disappointing, and this had a bearish effect on "lard hogs."

Cattle buyers regarded the scant supply of longfed steers and yearlings as relatively the cheapest animals available in this category yesterday and bought them at prices strong to 25 cents higher than on Tuesday. A consignment of Nebraska steers fed 17 months averaged 1,442 pounds and topped the list at $15.60, the highest sale in about six weeks. The next highest prices yesterday was $14.50, and the bulk of steers brought $11 to $13.50.

Beef Cows Firm.

Plain quality steers were little changed. Best beef cows were firm, but others sold weak to 25 cents lower. Hefers sold stronger. Canners and cutters were weak. Calves were steady to lower. Fat bulls were firm and bolognas steady.

Lambs were steady to 25 cents lower, with the top at $12.25. Yearlings wethers sold down from $10 and old ewes at $4.50 and under.

BORDEN SELLS 3 MORE UNITS OF PRODUCE DIVISION

New York, June 16.—(AP)—In line with the curtailment of its unprofitable produce division—butter, eggs, and poultry—A. W. Milburn, president of the Borden company, announced today properties at Norfolk and Omaha, Neb., Sioux City, Ia., and Springfield, Mo., had been sold.

Terming the properties disposed of as "highly speculative," the president stated they had averaged an annual loss of more than $660,000 over the past six years. Involved in the sale was liquidation of several city sales branches and certain inventories which will benefit the company by a substantial amount of working capital heretofore employed in their operation.

ARMOUR MAY SELL ONE PLANT IN ARGENTINA

R. H. Cabell, president of Armour & Co., said yesterday that there is a possibility that the company may dispose of one of its Argentine plants. His statement was made in connection with dispatches from Buenos Aires which said the national government will finance the purchase or construction of a packing plant for a coöperative association of Argentine livestock producers.

"While we have been approached, we have neither made nor received a firm offer," Cabell said. "We can conceive, however, of a situation arising in which we would be willing to sell one of our plants in Argentina."

The company operates two large and one small plant in Argentina.

Live Stock Group Opens Two Day Meeting Here

The National Live Stock and Meat board will open a two day meeting at the Congress hotel today. Reports on the research and educational activities of the organization will be presented. Membership is made up of representatives of all groups in the live stock industry. Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of the board, will preside at the meetings.

TESTIFY CURB DESIRES BONDS OF HIGH GRADE

Washington, D. C., June 16.—[Special.]—Bonds with high investment rating and low yield, outstanding in large amounts, are of the type which the New York Curb exchange wishes to list for trading, witnesses appearing on behalf of the exchange said today at a hearing before the Securities and Exchange commission.

The Curb exchange is seeking trading privileges in twenty-two bond and debenture issues now dealt in only over the counter.

The hearing seeks to develop for the commission the technique and practices of bond trading on the exchanges and unlisted markets. Over the counter dealers contend any move by the SEC which would disrupt their business and discourage competition among them would be against public interest.

ATTENTION UNIVERSITY MEN

For ten such men who are sincerely looking for a worthwhile opportunity to make money during summer vacation in an elect. unit business with an organization that operates internationally, having a 3A rating with Dunn & Bradstreet. I sincerely believe you will profit by seeing the writer of this ad and also meeting such men as A. Crocker who last week made $301.46; C. MacNeal, $155.00; M. Molnar, $100.00; F. Dean, $147.44 on percentage.

This ad is not to attract professional ad answerers and job hunters, but is meant for men who are sincerely looking for a future opportunity as well as present earnings.

Ask for Mr. J. E. Langley at SHERMAN HOTEL, Thursday, 11 a. m. sharp.

PACKARD NEEDS 20 MORE EXPERIENCED SALESMEN.

In order to take care of the continued tremendous public acceptance of the 1937 Packards we placed several experienced and inexperienced salesmen last week with Packard dealers throughout Chicago and suburbs. We need 20 more experience automobile salesmen. The right men can start immediately. We can make prompt delivery on almost any model.

If you consider yourself alert and "on your toes"—if you have a good record of performance—if you want to make more money—we want to talk to you.

Liberal drawing account and flat rate of commission $40 and up, depending on model—no deductions for trade-ins. Demonstrator furnished.

AT ONCE

We will employ several neat appearing men, 25 to 45, of average ability, who desire a permanent connection with a national organization manufacturing electrical unit. Must be willing to work 8 hours a day and start at our terms. This means about $40 per week on percentage at start. Employment mgr., Rm. 618, 203 N. Wabash.

COMMONWEALTH EDISON COMPANY.

There are several openings in our Appliance Sales Department for neat appearing, ambitious young men, willing to start at the bottom and earn promotion by honest and persistent effort. Experience unnecessary. Thorough training and co-operation given. Compensation: Drawing accounts and liberal commission and bonus to men who qualify. Apply Room 1807, 72 West Adams-street, 8 a. m. to 12 noon, and 2 to 4 p. m.

DEPENDABLE MEN

We want several energetic men who would like to become dealers in new industry, because our product requires specialization. We find it better to establish applicants in business [illegible]

YOU CAN BUY A FINE CAR AT A REAL BARGAIN PRICE FROM STUDEBAKER SALES CO. OF CHICAGO AND PAY NO FINANCE CHARGE AND NO INTEREST!

OVER AN 8 MONTH PERIOD.

IMPORTANT!

In order to get out from under the biggest stock of used cars in their history Studebaker Sales Co. of Chicago is making this sensational offer. For a limited time only—you can purchase any car in their great selection on time payments and absolutely pay no finance charge or interest. Think of it! All the red tape and the extra expense of financing is disposed of—and you obtain the car of your dreams at the lowest price possible.

REMEMBER!

This is only because the sales of 1937 Studebakers have swamped us with the greatest array of "trade-ins" in our history. We admit we can't handle all these cars. We haven't got the room. And so because Studebaker maintains its own finance department we are able to make the astounding offer of selling cars on time without requiring you to pay a finance charge or interest.

LOOK!

IN ADDITION ALL CARS HAVE BEEN SENSATIONALLY REDUCED IN PRICE FOR IMMEDIATE CLEARANCE. THESE ARE NOT FICTITIOUS REDUCTIONS, BUT ACTUAL LEGITIMATE REDUCED PRICES OF FROM 30% TO 70% PER CAR.

$800 cars now low as $595
$500 cars now low as $295

Four Girls Seized with Bandit Gang After Policeman Is Kidnaped—Roosevelt Asked to End Strike Violence

FOUR GIRLS SEIZED WITH GANG OF BANDITS

JAILED

Mrs. Marie Taylor, who got 90 days in jail for leaving scene of accident, the stiffest sentence imposed on a woman in the Safety court.

Mrs. Velma Harriss Sachs, whose penalty for drunken driving was fixed at ten days in jail.

Their Wedding Day Draws Near

Miss Ethel du Pont and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the President, will be married at Christ church, near Greenville, Del., on June 30, with the ceremony attracting nation-wide interest. This series of pictures shows them playing golf at Owl's Nest, the estate of Miss du Pont's parents, near Wilmington. The wedding will be attended by representatives of many of the nation's prominent families.

PRESIDENT ASKED TO HALT VIOLENCE IN STEEL STRIKE

Fighting occurs almost daily in the C. I. O. union siege of the big Bethlehem Steel company plant in Johnstown, Pa. This is a battle between pickets and loyal workers near one of factory gates.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

General Motors was also plagued by new strikes. These sit down unionists made merry at Fisher Body plant at Buffalo. The company said walkout was settled, but 700 remained in plant.

Identifies Chicagoan as Attacker

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Miss Douglas was with her mother, Mrs. Mildred Mitchell, and her attorney, W. J. Brown, when she collapsed after testifying. Ross flew west from Chicago to deny her charge.
